Morgantown Citizens Listening to Speaker Cannon's Scathing Denunciation of Democracy

HIGH JUMP IN PRICE OF PIPE

BILLETS TO FOLLOW

Mills Running to Fullest Capacity and a General Advance in Steel Is Predicted.

RAIL QUOTATIONS MAY STAND

New basing cards will be issued by the National Tube Company today, advancing the price of all sizes and qualities of pipe from $2 a ton upward. The advance will go into effect at once.

This action is the result of a meeting of the directorate held in the company offices in the Frick building yesterday afternoon, when official reports showed the output to be far behind orders. The National Tube Company has little if any competition on steel pipe, which is 90 per cent of its output, few of its mills running on iron pipe. There is no pool on pipe and the National Tube Company controls the market.

About six weeks ago pipe was reduced $4 a ton. This was followed shortly by a reduction of billets to $19 25 a ton, and in consideration of these reductions, led by the National Tube Company, the railroads have been anticipating a reduction of steel rails from $28 a ton to possibly $24 or $26 a ton, when the steel rail pool is fixed for 1905 some time next month.

With this advance of pipe it is the belief of steel men generally that billets will move up in sympathy, and also because there has been a further demand recently. The raise in pipe is also looked upon as securing the retention of the present price of steel rails.

Officers of the National Tube Company reported yesterday that all its mills were running at their fullest capacity, and that orders were on file to continue the mills in full operation for months to come. The revival of activity so long predicted for the steel market is now believed to be at hand, and a general advance in all products is predicted at an early date.

INJURED TURFMAN IS NERVY.

Badly Hurt in Runaway Michael Dwyer Kept Engagement Instead of Going to Hospital.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—A carriage in which Michael Dwyer, the turfman, was driving along Liberty avenue, this afternoon, was smashed to pieces and the horse killed by a car. Mr. Dwyer received injuries from which he may die. Cut, bruised and stunned, Mr. Dwyer was carried to a nearby hotel. While an ambulance was being summoned he recalled an engagement he had at the Jamaica race track, where he was bound for when the accident occurred. A policeman tried to argue with Mr. Dwyer, but he paid no attention to him. He insisted upon being taken to the track to keep his engagement. His wish was granted.

STARTLED THE COURT BY REQUESTING PRAYER

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Millard F. Blake, who is suing the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to recover $282,000 as compensation for use of his patent on the dumping car process, created a sensation at the opening of the trial this morning. When called to the witness stand he said in reverent tones: "In the presence of God and man, let us pray." Judge Bell refused the request for prayer, and the trial proceeded.

FATHER OF AUTOIST ARENTS GIVES HOSPITAL $1,000

MINEOLA, L. I., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—George Arents, Sr., father of the young millionaire autoist, who was severely injured in the Vanderbilt cup race Saturday, October 8, has presented to the Nassau hospital a check for $1,000 as the nucleus of a fund to establish a ward for private patients at the institution where his son was taken immediately after the accident which caused his injury.

SOLDIER DISCHARGED FOR MARRYING A NEGRESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The surgeon general of the army has concurred in the recommendation of Gen. Grant that John J. Smith, a member of the United States army hospital corps, stationed at Fort Mott, N. J., who is said to have married a negress, be discharged from the army, "for the good of the service."

Harvard Attendance Falls Off.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 18.—The attendance at Harvard university is 205 less than last year.

ARMY OF CZAR IS ADVANCING

Russian Emperor Receives from Kuropatkin Word of Forward Movement.

REPORT FROMOYAMA

BATTLE CERTAIN AT MUKDEN

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 19.—(2:50 a. m.)—It is learned on good authority that the emperor has received word from Gen Kuropatkin that the Russians are moving forward.

A dispatch from Mukden tonight said there is a report there also that the Russians are advancing. The dispatch further says that there is no official confirmation of the report from Tokyo that a Russian attack on the Japanese right on October 17 had been repulsed. If this report should prove true it may involve serious consequences for the Russians, who crossed the Shakhe while the river was fordable. News from Mukden is that the water has since risen man high in consequence of heavy rains, and therefore it will be well nigh impossible for the Russian army to recross the river owing to the absence of bridges. It will be equally difficult for the same reason to bring up supplies and ammunition to enable Gen. Kuropatkin to follow up the advance.

TOKYO, Oct. 18.—Marshal Oyama reports that the Russians fiercely assaulted Gen. Oku and attacked Gens. Nodzu and Kuroki on Monday night, but were everywhere repulsed with heavy losses.

MUKDEN, Oct. 18.—The firing ceased after dark tonight. The Russians are retaining the ground gained at the Shakhe river. Several Maxims have been captured.

It is reported that the Japanese made a furious attempt to take a wooded hill near Da pass last night. The firing began at 11 o'clock and continued with rifle and cannon throughout the night. This action probably was a part of an attempt by the Japanese, who were already in possession of small hills in the plain, to rush the center along the foothills at the Shakhe river.

The Chinese have deserted all the villages and the troops are using the woodwork of their houses for fuel. The country south is desolated. The Japanese still seem to be exerting themselves to force the Russian out of Mukden. A battle is assured in the positions surrounding the town.

It becomes more and more evident that the resources of the country cannot support a large army. This season's crops are spoiled. Gen. Kuropatkin remains with the troops, having abandoned his headquarters at Mukden.

The fighting of October 17 was confined to the Russian center at Shakhe river, and was mostly artillery fire, the Japanese using big guns and high explosive shells. The losses during the nine days of the battle were never less than 2,000 a day. The hospitals are hardly able to handle the wounded.

TSCHUME MUST STAY CLOSED.

Superior Court Denies the Application for an Order of Supersedeas in His Case.

Among the decisions handed down by the superior court in Philadelphia yesterday was one denying the petition for an order of supersedeas in the case of Fred Tschume of Allegheny, whose wholesale liquor license was revoked by the quarter sessions court a short time ago.

Attorney Charles P. Lang presented the petition which, if granted, would have permitted Tschume to reopen his place pending a final decision by the superior court. As it is now, the order of the quarter sessions court remains in force.

CAPT. BROWN IMPROVES.

Well-Known Pittsburgh Millionaire Is Rapidly Recovering from an Operation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Capt. S. S. Brown, the well-known turfman and millionaire of Pittsburgh, is rapidly recovering in the Post-Graduate hospital from the operation of yesterday.

He is being attended by an old schoolmate, Dr. W. S. Foster of Pittsburgh.

ANOTHER OFFER TO SELL STOCK

United States Steel Corporation to Make Third Proposition to Employes.

MUST BE HELD FOR FIVE YEARS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Oct. 18.

It is said the United States Steel Corporation will in December make a third proposition to employes to buy stock to hold for a period of five years. When the preferred stock crossed 83 the 27,379 employes who in January, 1903, purchased 48,983 shares at $82 50 per share under the profit-sharing plan, for the first time in a year and a half saw a chance to get their money back.

For the 48,983 shares they bought the employes agreed to pay the corporation $4,041,697 in monthly installments, covering a period of five years, with 5 per cent interest on the deferred payments. In the latter part of 1903 the corporation, to quiet the growing apprehension of the employe stockholders, pledged itself to pay $82 50 for each share of stock sold under the profit-sharing plan, provided the men held the stock until 1908.

This guarantee was followed in December last by a new offer on the part of the corporation to let employes have preferred stock at $55 per share, the profit-sharing clause being practically identical with the first offer at $82 50 made in December, 1902.

The second offer was accepted by 10,248 employes, who in January and February last were allotted 32,519 shares at $55 a share. The 10,248 employes agreed to pay the corporation $1,788,545 for the 32,519 shares, worth at par $3,251,900. Today the shares bought by the workmen at $55 are worth $2,598,077, or $809,532 more than they paid for them.

SHIP REPORTED LOST WITH 2,200 IMMIGRANTS

London Standard Receives Unconfirmed News of Disaster from Vienna.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 19.—A Vienna dispatch to the London Standard this morning gives a rumor current in that city to the effect that a Cunard steamship from Fiume with 2,200 immigrants on board, has sunk off the Spanish coast. A fierce storm was raging at the time. The Standard has no confirmation of the report, but gives it for what it is worth. The Standard, it should be said, is one of the most reliable of the English newspapers. Fiume is in the Adriatic sea, and is Hungary's only port. It is almost opposite Venice.

BELMONT IS A PATRON.

Magnate Takes Active Interest, Personally and Financially, in Y. M. C. A. Work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—August Belmont, financier, turfman and politician, is among the latest of the prominent people who have decided to take an active interest, both personally and financially, in the work of the Young Men's Christian association. The announcement was made today that Mr. Belmont had at his own request been made a life member of the Long Island railroad branch of the association.

The New York street railroad magnate has in mind comprehensive plans for the development of the association among railroad men, particularly street railway men.

Prison Congress Elects Officials.

QUINCY, ILL., Oct. 18.—The National Prison Congress tonight elected Albert Garvin of Connecticut as president and Rev. J. L. Milligan of Allegheny, Pa., general secretary. Mr. Milligan is among the delegates to the International congress to be held at Budapest next year. It was decided to hold the next national meeting at Lincoln, Neb.

Prison Walls Instead of Liberty.

DAVENPORT, IA., Oct. 18.—Ex-Mayor S. F. Smith, son of Samuel Francis Smith, author of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment in the penitentiary at Anamosa today. As trustee of large estates, Smith recently acknowledged embezzlement of $120,000.

LIBERATED BY WOMAN'S CASH

Missionary in Egypt Rescued from Prison by the Wealthy Miss Barney.

GOT NEWS BY CARRIER PIGEON

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 18.—Word has just been received here that Miss Alice Elsa Barney, a member of one of the oldest and wealthiest families in Cincinnati, has succeeded in rescuing from a Mohammedan prison, the head of the Babist cult of Sun Worships, who has been imprisoned while doing missionary work in Egypt.

Miss Barney lived in this city until a few years ago, when she went to Washington and there met the "Bab," as the master is called, and became a convert to his belief. While proselyting among the Mohammedans the "Bab" was thrown into prison, and only by the aid of a carrier pigeon did his plight become known to his followers. On account of her great wealth, Miss Barney was selected to rescue the master.

Miss Barney first drew something over $100,000 in cash, and then, with the aid of Secretary Hay and Sir Mortimer Durand, the British minister at Washington, she made her way through the deserts of Egypt into Acca, where the "Bab" was imprisoned. It took her several months and a large sum of money to accomplish her desire, but she finally succeeded in liberating him on condition that he would never again set his foot in Egypt.

STILL ANOTHER NEW PLAN OF SETTLEMENT

Adjustment of Northern Securities Case by Agreement Between the Two Interests.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The report is in circulation today that a new plan for settling the Northern Securities Company contentions is under consideration and that in its present form has been found in the main acceptable. It is proposed that the Union Pacific railroad should take control of the St. Paul by a collateral trust 4 per cent bond, giving two for one as was the case of the Burlington & Quincy.

It is also proposed that the Harriman-Rockefeller interests allow the liquidation of the Northern Securities Company to be carried out according to the plan of the directors, and that the Union Pacific, through the Oregon Short Line, will be compensated for any possible loss in equitable value by material advantages "in other ways."

ROPE OF PAPER MONEY TO HANG A REFORMER

Chinese Gamblers Threaten the Life of Philadelphian Active in Hunting Them Down.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—Highbinders have threatened William Lee York, president of the Chinese Young Men's Christian association, that they will kill him unless he ceases to aid the police with information as to gambling places in Chinatown.

"We will make a rope out of paper money and bind you and tie you up," reads the latest warning.

This threat is but one of a half dozen, and aside from letters there have been other evidences, York says, that his life is in danger.

BRAVES GRAVE DANGER TO BECOME A BRIDE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Braving the danger of becoming a small-pox victim, Eva Lyons will tomorrow be married to Frederick Nehren, who is in the municipal hospital suffering with the dreaded disease. Arrangements have been made to have the ceremony performed in the hospital some time tomorrow afternoon, as the physicians say that Nehren's condition is serious and his recovery is considered doubtful.

Nan Patterson's Trial Next Month.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Nan Patterson, charged with the murder of Caeser Young, a bookmaker and turfman, will not be released on bail, as her father cannot raise the $20,000 bond required. District Attorney Jerome, however, has promised him to call the case for trial during November.

WEST BECOMES STORM CENTER

Republican National Committee Finishes Campaign Plans for East.

COUNTRY COVERED

Best Speakers Are Dispatched Into the Middle and Far Western States.

CORTELYOU OFF FOR CHICAGO

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Oct. 18.

The Republican national committee has almost finished its work of planning the campaign in the east, and, beginning today will lend its energies to carrying the doubtful states in the middle west and the far west, while the work outlined in this part of the country will be carried out by those to whom it has been intrusted.

Chairman George B. Cortelyou will probably visit the western headquarters in Chicago personally, and it is thought that he will spend a good deal of time between now and election day helping those in charge of the western headquarters to turn out a big vote in the states assured to Roosevelt and Fairbanks and in carrying for the Republican national ticket the western states conceded as doubtful.

Chairman Cortelyou, during his absence, will keep closely in touch with the New York headquarters, which he left in charge of National Treasurer Cornelius N. Bliss. The general feeling here, however, is that the campaign in the east has been so carefully planned that it would work itself out automatically if the chairman should cease to bother his head about it.

It was said at national headquarters today that the eastern states have been so thoroughly canvassed that the campaign managers know what to expect from each of them. The campaign up to the present time has been managed so thoroughly and so quietly that even though the general public has not heard the noise of the machinery, the leaders know pretty well what the harvest of votes is going to be.

The itineraries of the various speakers assigned to the east have all been arranged; the literary bureau has about completed its task and has flooded the country with campaign literature.

Little is known here about the work of the western headquarters, but it, too, has been quietly working away for the success of the Republican national ticket. Chairman Cortelyou has received detailed reports of the work of the western headquarters and has supervised it as carefully as possible.

The bulk of the task assumed by the Chicago headquarters rests principally in the arrangement of the itineraries of the speakers west of Chicago. Senator Scott of West Virginia, chief of the speakers' bureau, from his desk in New York has assigned the various speakers to the west, but after reaching the Windy City they have been accountable to the western headquarters.

The western states which Chairman Cortelyou classes as doubtful are Colorado, Montana, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming, which stand for 17 electoral votes. Reports from Nevada, Utah and Montana, it was said at headquarters today, show a decided turn in favor of Roosevelt and Fairbanks. To the residents of these states Judge Parker is nothing more nor less than a myth, while they had an opportunity of hearing Roosevelt express his own views during his western tour in 1900.

Paur Leaves New York Today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Emil Paur, the new director of the Pittsburgh orchestra, will leave for Pittsburgh tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Herr Paur said this evening that he was glad to start to Pittsburgh. He has received many letters from friends in the musical world congratulating him on his new position.

Convicted of Extortion.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. The jury in the case of Philip Weinseimer, former president of the Builders' Trades alliance, on trial for extortion, returned a verdict of guilty shortly before midnight tonight. He was at once remanded to the Tombs until October 28, when sentence will be pronounced.

ANOTHER BLOW FROM CANNON

Speaker Again Lays Bare the Fallacies of Democratic Measures.

STATE PRIDE DANGER

Folly of Allowing Sentiment to Determine the Issues of the Campaign.

UNCLE GASSAWAY UNDER FIRE

FAIRMONT, W. VA., Oct. 18.—Speaker Joseph G. Cannon was a busy man today. This morning he reviewed a big parade in Morgantown, and in the afternoon addressed a monster open-air meeting in that town. Tonight he talked to a large audience in this city. This afternoon he was in Congressman Dayton's district and tonight he talked to the constituents of Congressman Dovener.

The gathering in Morgantown was along the lines of the old-time rally. Monongalia county gives a Republican majority of at least 1,400 and this time she hopes to do even better for Roosevelt. On the state ticket there will be some chopping, but the Republicans are beginning to check the attack on Mr. Dawson. The voters are learning the truth about the tax issue and see that their best interests lie in the support of the Republican ticket. Mr. Dayton will secure about the same vote as that given the president.

When Speaker Cannon, Congressman Bede, Congressman Dayton and the other members of the Cannon party arrived in Morgantown this morning, they found the town dressed in the national colors and ready to do honor to the distinguished statesmen. Republicans from all parts of the county were in and they remained until the last speaker had told of the glories of Republican policies. Hon. George C. Sturgiss was present to welcome the visitors.

Speaker Interested in Parade.

Dr. D. B. Purinton, president of the University of West Virginia, and other prominent Morgantown Republicans, met the speaker at the train. It was decided to hold the parade in the morning. Speaker Cannon, Congressmen Bede and Dayton, Dr. Purinton, State Auditor Arnold Scherr and Dr. C. H. McClain were driven to the Peabody house, where they reviewed the parade from one of the balconies.

Mr. Cannon was greatly interested in the parade, as he likes the old-fashioned methods of campaigning. As the boys went by the speaker of the house stood with uncovered head, bowing to the marchers. He was amused when the West Virginia University Republican club students came by. Some of them were cheering and others were singing, "Hail, Hail, What the Hell," etc. This was a part of the program that Dr. Purinton had not expected and the expression on his face was interesting.

The procession was made up of khaki uniformed Rough Riders, college students wearing neat uniforms, and men and women riding in all kinds of vehicles. Some of the mounts of the Rough Riders indicated that on a number of farms today the motive power is missing. Music was furnished by four or five bands. Numerous banners were carried in the parade treating of the tax question. One read: "Honest Men Favor Paying Their Taxes." Another inscription was, "This District Is for Tax Reform and Dawson."

Uncle Gassaway Answered.

The lawn in front of the court house was used for a meeting place, a stand being built at the side of the building. The auditors had the green sward and a wide street to spread out on and both were needed to furnish standing room for the immense audience. Col. J. C. Frazer of Morgantown, presided at the rally. The speeches were made by Speaker Cannon, Congressmen Bede and Dayton. Mr. Cannon devoted himself largely to a discussion of "Uncle Gassaway" and pointed out the wrong of giving him a complimentary vote. He said:

"You have an aggregation starring West Virginia, and have had for a week. Who are they? Senator Bailey of Texas, a strong man of great intellect. Personally, I like him. I have always found him a gentleman, but he comes from the Lone Star state, inheriting the tradition that protection is robbery. After their servile labor has disappeared there ought not to be a difference between us upon that question, but Bailey comes up and continues the cry that protection is robbery. But they don't have to make speeches in Texas. Senator Bailey opens the campaign in New York, declaring that protection is robbery, but he comes here, and I have been watching the reports of his speeches, and upon that question he is as mild as a cooing dove. He cannot talk that way in West Virginia, splendid West Virginia, with her diversified industries. No, but he abuses the president, talks of militarism, Caesarism, talks about the extravagance in rebuilding the White House, a structure that belongs to you and to me. Eighteen months ago it was no longer than when John Quincy Adams was president. Now we have 80,000,000 of people, with more of wealth than any two nations on earth.

We needed some improvements in the White House. I had charge of the matter in the house, and originated at the head of the appropriations committee the appropriation for this work, and it passed the house and senate. Senator Bailey was there then, and now tears passion to tatters trying to prejudice the minds of people about the White House. But he did not open his mouth or give his vote against the expense at the proper time, and I say that this kind sight in public men is the poorest kind of sight.

And then there is Senator Daniels, my good friend Daniels, lovable man. I am told that he said to your people that the state of West Virginia has heretofore been called the mother of presidents, and may she not hope from the standpoint of state pride that the state of West Virginia may be called the grandmother of vice presidents? That is statesmanship. He could not talk of protection.

Pays Respect to Hill.

And then there was David Bennett Hill of New York, who goes about attacking Roosevelt from every standpoint, attacks our great leader. While in this state last week he did not mention tariff, but since he has gone to Indiana and is declaring against protection. Hear this man Hill, who, when the anthracite coal strike was on, and women and children were freezing with suffering throughout the land, and being then the friend of Parker, dominated the platform of the Democratic convention in New York, and offered as a remedy a resolution that he favored a policy under which the government will condemn the coal mines, and take them and operate them as a government product. Something can be said on both sides, but that action meant one election, two elections, probably three, agitation and discussion, and one winter would pass and Hill, and probably in the end a majority might do it, and a majority might not. What did Roosevelt do without any official power? You all know.

I cannot say anything one thousandth part as severe of David Bennett Hill as the New York World, his own party organ, has said. He comes out of his state and casts his shafts of slander against President Roosevelt, and has with him Uncle Henry—Henry Gassaway Davis, that lovable old man whom I have known for many, many years. I was in the house when he was in the senate. He has made his way here, and is a product of West Virginia. West Virginia has helped to make him. He does not agree that the tariff is robbery, because he is from West Virginia. He does not want coal on the free list. He wants to be vice president, and calls upon state pride.

The "State Pride" Folly.

Now, look here, citizens of West Virginia, I am talking to you as citizens of the United States, and I have a right to, for I am a citizen of the United States. Your action touching the national and congressional vote in this great state affects Illinois, my state, and every other state, just as much as our action affects your state. You and we act for 80,000,000 of people. Good old Uncle Henry—vice president. Well, the vice president, except as the president may die and he succeed to that office, comes as near being a figure nine with the tail cut off as anything I know of. He does not appoint a committee, and he has just three appointments, a private secretary, a messenger to stand at the door and a telephone page. He cannot decide a point of order, for the senate will not let him. But stop and think a minute. You cannot vote for good old Uncle Henry without voting for Parker, Hill's man; Parker, the man that blows hot and blows cold. Stop and think, Parker would be president, and all because of state pride. Look here, citizens of West Virginia, I submit that you dare not do it, and I don't believe that you will do it.

Davis' Theory Versus Practice.

What is the issue presented to you by your distinguished citizen? It is not the tariff. He leaves that alone here in West Virginia. He complains of extravagance by the present administration as compared with that of President Buchanan nearly 50 years ago. I met an old friend of Senator Davis on the train the other day. He assured me that in those good old Democratic days of Buchanan Mr. Davis practiced economy, and that his expenditures did not exceed $400 a year. But I am told that his expenditures will, in this year of our Lord, 1904, not fall far short of $400,000, or one thousand times as much as he spent in a year half a century ago. I would not criticise this enormous increase in Senator Davis' expenditures. I don't vouch for the figures and I use them only as he does those of government expenditures. He has more to spend now than he had then. He is the prosperous under the Republican policy of protection. Indeed, I know of no men or set of men who have more prospered under that policy than have Senator Davis and his friends by developing the natural resources of this magnificent state. The timber and the coal were here in the good old days of Buchanan when you were a part of old Virginia, heralded then as the mother of presidents, but this section of that great state did not develop its great resources. The Republican party furnished the policy under which these great resources have been developed, and they have doubled your wealth even since the election of William McKinley and the enactment of the Dingley law.

"Extravagance" Charges Answered.

Mr. Davis compares the expenditures under Roosevelt with those under Buchanan, but he does not lure you into his full confidence and explain that in the year 1858, which he selects as the year of the Buchanan economy, that the expenditures exceeded the income by more than 50 per cent. The revenues in 1858 amounted to $46,600,000 and the expenditures to $74,000,000, or one and one-half times as great. Had Mr. Davis practiced that kind of economy in his personal business, borrowing money at 12 per cent, as did Buchanan, to pay his ordinary expenses, did you suppose he would have accumulated the magnificent fortune which he now possesses?

Our friends, the enemy, are devoting much time and much of printer's ink in discussing the economy of Democrats and the extravagance of Roosevelt. I have here a little dodger headed "Republican Extravagance," distributed on your streets this morning. It compares the surplus now with that under McKinley, and seeks to make a showing against the present administration. Now, what are the facts as shown by the official statement of the treasury department? Here they are. For each of the four years of Grover Cleveland's last administration there was a deficit because that administration spent more money than the government collected in taxes.

Roosevelt's Splendid Record.

For the four years this excess of expenditures over receipts amounted to $156,000,000. And Mr. Cleveland borrowed $262,000,000 at 4 per cent to make up the deficit and maintain his gold reserve in the treasury. This was in an administration of peace and stagnation.

President McKinley had a foreign war, and for the first two years of his administration the expenditures exceeded the revenues by $127,000,000, while for the last two years of his administration the revenues exceeded the expenditures by $187,000,000, leaving a net surplus of revenues over expenditures for the McKinley administration amounting to $30,000,000. For the last three years under President Roosevelt the revenues have exceeded the expenditures by a total of $158,000,000, and that, notwithstanding the payment of Grover Cleveland's debts and the repeal of internal revenue laws which cut off $125,000,000 of direct taxation. That is the record of Mr. Roosevelt's administration. I leave it to you as to who has practiced business economy.

The meeting in Fairmont tonight was the largest held here during the campaign. The opera house was packed and an overflow rally, attended by 500 people, was held in Monroe street. At the theater Thomas W. Fleming presided, and speeches were made by Speaker Cannon, Congressman Bede, Congressman Dayton and Senator Ira Robinson. Dayton and Robinson also spoke at the street meeting, using the front porch of S. W. Hall's residence as a stage.

There was a great crowd at the station to greet the speaker, and he was escorted to the theater by 10 marching clubs. The demonstration was much larger than the reception tendered "Uncle Gassaway" here last week.

Tonight a number of Democrats are marching the streets cheering for Parker.

Tomorrow Speaker Cannon will address a meeting at Kingwood in the afternoon and will be in Grafton in the evening.

DAVIS CONTINUES TOUR.

Mountaineers Greet Vice Presidential Candidate With Lusty Cheers. Meets Bryan Tomorrow.

WELCH, W. VA., Oct. 18.—Henry G. Davis, Democratic candidate for vice president, wound up a busy day of campaigning with a rally here tonight. The Bluefield meeting, which lasted for two hours, was largely attended. The meeting was held in the open air and mountaineers from many miles around added their lusty cheers to the demonstration. North Fork furnished another enthusiastic audience. The tour will end tomorrow at Kenova. Mr. Davis will go to Parkersburg Thursday, there to await the coming of Mr. Bryan on Friday.

Secretary Shaw in New York.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw spoke here tonight before a large audience. He discussed the tariff issue first, saying that it must be settled by keeping the idea in view that we buy as well as sell. This, he said, was the basis of the protective principle.

JAPANESE FAIL TO RETAKE HILL

Trenches and Slopes of Lone Tree Strewn With Dead.

DISASTER TO GEN. YAMADO

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MUKDEN, Oct. 18.—Lone Tree hill, won by the Russians after a desperate struggle, was the object of a gallant but unsuccessful attempt at recapture by the Japanese on the night of October 17, recognizing that the hill was the key to the position on the southwest front. Nine regiments participated, creeping up through the night and delivering a furious assault at dawn. The Japanese were driven back with terrible slaughter.

The battlefield presents the most awful spectacle that can be conceived. Russian and Japanese dead are mingled in heaps in inextricable confusion. The ground is strewn with broken rifles that had been smashed in hand-to-hand fighting. The Russian doctors are working heroically on the slopes of the hill in the attempt to save the wounded, but the Japanese keep up a snipping fire and render the work of relief difficult and dangerous.

Report From Sakharoff.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 18.—The general staff has received the following dispatch from Gen. Sakharoff, dated today:

"The Russians repulsed a Japanese attack on their right wing during the night of October 17 and seized the village of Shalandtzy, on the bank of the Shakhe river and east of Shakhe. The enemy strongly bombarded the captured village, but did not advance to the attack on Lone Tree hill, now called Putiloff hill. The work of burying the dead proceeded all night long. Military honors were paid the Japanese dead."

Gen. Kuropatkin, under whose eye the capture of Lone Tree hill was made, rechristened it Putiloff hill in honor of the man who led the attack at the head of the second brigade of the East Siberian rifle division, and who was subsequently decorated on the field with the St. George's cross. The river running at the foot of the hill increased the difficulty of the task, but it was scaled and carried successfully against 14,000 Japanese with many guns. The Russian losses were terrible. The fighting on the crest of the hill was altogether with cold steel. The Russian officers, with swords aloft leading the scaling column, were literally lifted in the air by the Japanese bayonets, and the Japanese then bayoneted the first of the Russian soldiers who piled in the trenches.

Tokyo Hears of Disaster.

TOKYO, Oct. 18.—A report, telling of the disaster to Gen. Yamada, reached here last night, which says:

"On the evening of October 16 a mixed detachment under command of Maj.-Gen. Yamada was sent to help part of the left army attacking the enemy north of the Shakhe river. It commenced its operations at the right wing, driving off the enemy. The detachment captured two guns and two ammunition wagons. Having attained its object, the detachment, after sunset, under cover of the darkness, began retiring toward its original position. In the meantime at 7 o'clock the enemy, a division strong, made a vigorous advance and enveloped both wings of the detachment. Severe hand-to-hand fighting ensued. The detachment succeeded in driving off the enemy in front, but was unable to resist him on both flanks.

"After breaking through the Russian line, the detachment reached its original position. Our artillery lost most of its men and horses, and was compelled to leave behind nine field and five mountain guns. Our casualties were about 1,000."

Mukden Hears Report, but St. Petersburg Thinks It Refers to Defeat of Yamado.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MUKDEN, Oct. 18.—News has just been received that the Japanese left flank has been driven back with heavy loss and its retreat cut off. A Russian regiment is now being hurried to the scene in the hope of completing the rout.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 18.—It is believed the Mukden dispatch, regarding the defeat of the Japanese left flank, refers to the defeat of Gen. Yamada.

RUSSIANS STONE JAPANESE.

Desperate Attempt Made to Cut Line of Communication is Finally Repulsed.

MUKDEN, Oct. 18.—An officer, who has just returned from Gen. Mistchenko's division, reports that a sanguinary fight has taken place at Laitkhesi, 15 miles southeast of Shakhe. The Japanese made a determined effort to cut the line of communication and attacked under cover of a terrific cannonade. Out of one company of a Russian rifle brigade only 50 men were left.

Two companies, that had expended their ammunition, hurled a volley of stones and charged, and broke the attacking line, compelling the Japanese to flee.

Republican Open Their Campagn.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The local Republican campaign was formally opened here tonight with a grand rally at the opera house. Preceding this was a street parade and demonstration. The county committee also had as guests all the leading city and township politicians at dinner tonight. The speakers at the evening meeting were Adjt.-Gen. Thomas Stewart, Attorney General Howard L. Carson and Lieut.-Gov. William M. Brown.

New Municipal Hall for Millvale.

Millvale council last night decided to purchase a lot at Sedgwick street and Lincoln avenue for the purpose of erecting a handsome municipal building. The lot was recently purchased by E. T. Lippert, and will be sold to council at the cost price, $3,500.

DETECTIVES CAPTURE BURHAM'S ASSAILANT

Oscar Fields, Who Beat McKees Rocks Boy With Hatchet, Was Arrested at Altoona.

Oscar Fields, alias George Lewis, a negro, who is wanted for assaulting George Burham, aged 6, with a hatchet on a farm in Kennedy township, near McKees Rocks, September 29, was arrested in Altoona yesterday by Detectives George W. Cole and Edward McGough. Fields confessed to the charge and was brought to this city early this morning.

Fields went to Altoona shortly after making the assault and secured work as a teamster. About two weeks ago, while intoxicated, he confessed to the woman he was boarding with that he had attacked the boy. The information was sent here and Superintendent McQuaide detailed Cole and McGough to make the arrest. Fields was reluctant about talking with the detectives, but when he was brought before the woman to whom he had talked he confessed.

The negro was employed on the farm of Mrs. Webster Burham, mother of the boy. He was discharged because his work was unsatisfactory. About a week later Fields returned to the farm. Young Burham was playing about the stable and Fields accosted him. The negro inquired for Mrs. Burham. When informed the woman had gone to the city the negro seized a hatchet and struck the boy on the head and face, fracturing his skull.

Mrs. Burham returned later and found the boy in the stable. He was sent to the McKees Rocks general hospital, where he is still confined by reason of his injuries.

LUTHERANS IN SESSION.

State League Conventon Opens in the First Church With Over 300 Delegates Attending.

The 11th annual session of the Luther league of Pennsylvania convened in the First English Lutheran church, Grant street, yesterday afternoon, with upwards of 300 delegates attending. The Pittsburgh Central league is the host of the convention and tendered the delegates a reception in the parlors of the church after the session closed last night.

The Rev. Dr. D. H. Geissinger, pastor of the church, welcomed the delegates. President A. Raymond Bard of Reading responding. Miss Zoe Hirt of Erie gave the address of the afternoon on "Luther League—Upward." Using Jacob's dream as her comparison she predicted a great future for the league.

President Bard delivered the annual address, pointing out the progress achieved, and concluded by recommending that central bodies meet bi-annually, instead of annually. Treasurer P. D. F. Hillier, Columbia, reported a balance of $200 in the treasury.

Statistical Secretary D. W. Shallenberger of Montgomery, reported 329 local leagues, with a membership of 24,293, an increase of nearly 7,000 over last year.

Three addresses were made at the evening session. The Rev. Luther M. Kuhns of Omaha, general secretary of the national league, spoke on the necessity of educational effort and missionary work in the church. W. C. Stoever of Philadelphia, president of the national league, presented greetings from the parent body and E. Augustus Miller of Philadelphia gave a brief review of the past 10 years' effort of the league, declaring that it supplied a great energetic force in the church.

The convention closes with three sessions today. Many of the delegates will remain over Thursday, when they will be the guests of the local league during the day on sight-seeing expeditions, and at the exposition in the evening. Thursday night having been designated "Luther League Night," in their honor.

CHURCH IN WILL CONTEST.

Charters Presbyterian Congregation Suing for 100 Shares of Bank Stock.

Trustees of the Chartiers Presbyterian church are litigants in a will contest that is soon to come before the supreme court, in which 100 shares of stock of the old Exchange National bank, said to be worth $5,500, is involved. The case is an appeal from the orphans' court of Washington county, which denied an application for trial by jury.

In 1894 Thomas Allison, who was a member of the congregation and a bachelor, made a will bequeathing the church the stock. In August, 1902, he is said to have made another will, bequeathing the same stock to his brothers, Albert J. and Thomas Allison. He died at the age of 77 on the date of the last will. The church trustees hold that undue influence was brought to bear upon the deceased and that his mental and physical condition was sufficient to make him incapable of properly executing such document.

PROMPTLY MADE HER HIS.

Emil Pars Weds His Former Playmate After Finding Her Under Arrest.

Margaret Haitinger of Passaic, N. J., who was arrested on an elopement charge in Braddock Saturday with Desider Demetsky of Passaic, was married yesterday afternoon at St. Michael's Roman Catholic church by the Rev. Father Adelbert Kazincy, to Emil Pars, a stone and brick contractor. Pars saw the girl at the police station and fell in love with her. He and the girl were from the same town in Austria, but they had not seen each other for almost 10 years. The girl is 18 years old and pretty.

A special dispensation from Coadjutor Bishop Regis Canevin was required for the service because of the youth of the bride, and because the bans had not been read. Andrew Wargo, a merchant of Braddock, stood as guardian for the girl, and last evening there was a reception at his home in Washington avenue.

TO INVESTIGATE SIBERT.

Engineers' Society Decides to Have Committee Look Into Charges.

The Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania last night adopted a resolution to appoint a committee to investigate the charges against Maj. W. L. Sibert of the United States engineering corps, in connection with the proposed elevation of the Allegheny river bridges. A committee will be appointed to conduct the investigation.

Henry W. Pearson of Detroit read his paper, "The Place of the Great Raised Beaches in Geology." It treats of the coal measures from a new point of view. The Detroit Engineering socity has indorsed Pearson and last night the local society did likewise. The Carnegie institute at Washington has refused Mr. Pearson a hearing, and he seeks support for his views from engineering societies so that he may show reasons why he should be heard.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

The Rev. Father Bonifacius Rounds Out Quarter Century of Priesthood.

The Rev. Father Bonifacius, C. P., rector of St. Michael's Roman Catholic church, South Fifteenth street, celebrated the 25th anniversary of his priesthood yesterday morning. Father Bonifacius, assisted by Fathers Goebel and Ambrose, celebrated high mass before a congregation of 1,500.

The Rev. Father P. F. May of Braddock delivered a sermon in German, commenting on the work accomplished by the celebrant. Special music was furnished and after the ceremonies a reception was held in the parish house.

GUFFEY EXCHANGES CALLS WITH PARKER

Pittsburgher Says Situation Is Brighter Than a Week Ago and Denies He Will Bolt.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Judge Parker was busy this afternoon conferring with party leaders. Col. Guffey of Pittsburgh spent several hours with the Democratic nominee, and also had long conferences with Chairman Taggart, William F. Sheehan and Delancey Nicoll. He had another talk with Chairman Taggart at Col. Guffey's apartments at the Holland House this evening. Mr. Taggart leaves tomorrow morning for the west, and was busy all day shaping up affairs in New York.

Col. Guffey did not care to give an extended talk on the situation for publication. "You know I don't talk much on politics," he said this evening, "but I will say that it looks brighter from our point of view than it did even a week ago."

Col. Guffey characterized as a palpable "fake" a story coming reporting he was about to bolt the Democratic ticket.

Col. Guffey arrived from Pittsburgh this morning and left for home again tonight. He had intended remaining in New York all week, but is called home on account of the death this morning of his niece, Mrs. Chalfant.

E. H. Guffey, son of Col. Guffey, when seen at his home in Pittsburgh last night, said:

"There is absolutely no foundation for the story and no truth in it. Father has given more time to the Democratic campaign since the convention than ever before. Last night he went to New York, where he has been frequently of late, to counsel with the national managers. His health has not been of the best for some months, but in spite of this he has given a great portion of his time and efforts to the national committee."

W. S. Guffey, brother of Col. Guffey, said:

"The story is a lie out of the whole cloth. Col. Guffey is supporting the Democratic ticket loyally. The Guffeys are not a family of bolters. Once a ticket is named and the platform adopted we support it to a finish. Col. Guffey has always supported the Democratic ticket and will continue to do so. The story is an invention of some one who wanted to make trouble for the colonel with his Pennsylvania friends, or else to stir up a feeling of discontent at national headquarters. You can deny most unqualifiedly that Col. Guffey has bolted or intends to bolt. I am sure such an idea never crossed his mind."

FRAUENHEIM GETS LAMP.

Employes Make the Retiring City Treasurer Handsome Present—Steel Takes Charge Today.

E. J. Frauenheim, the retiring city treasurer, was presented with a beautiful bronze library electric lamp yesterday afternoon by the clerks of his office. The lamp is of Tiffany manufacture. A fluted column, 18 inches high, is surmounted by a spread-eagle with a bell in its beak, all cast in solid bronze. The edge of the bell is set with green crystals and the shade consists of green beads made of Tiffany glass, which dangle from the bell.

The presentation speech was made by Frank C. Carrington, the veteran cashier of the office. Mr. Frauenheim was much taken by surprise, but he expressed his appreciation in earnest words and passed the cigars among the boys.

John F. Steel, the new treasurer, takes charge today, yesterday being spent by Mr. Frauenheim in preparing his accounts for the transfer. At 9 o'clock this morning Mr. Frauenheim will step out and Mr. Steel will step in.

WAS BENT ON SUICIDE.

Young Woman Tried to Beat Out Her Brains and Strangle Herself.

After making two unsuccessful attempts to kill herself by strangulation in a cell in the Penn avenue police station, last evening, Kate Lowrey, a young woman of Lawrenceville, was removed to Central station and placed in a padded cell, where she could not harm herself.

She was arrested near the police station in Penn avenue on a charge of drunkenness. When asked for her name she exposed the words "Kate Lowrey," tattooed on her arm. She was weeping bitterly when the officers left her alone, but a few moments later they were attracted to the cell and found she had made a noose of her belt and placed the other end high up in the bars. She was released, and a few moments later the officers found she had tried to strangle herself by twisting a handkerchief about her neck. She was handcuffed to prevent her harming herself. She then beat her head so violently against the cell bars that it was decided to send her to Central station.

COCKRAN ON PROSPERITY.

Asserts That Better Times Would Come Under Democratic Rule—He Speaks to Cleveland Audience.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18.—A large crowd heard W. Bourke Cockran speak in Central armory tonight. The meeting was the first large gathering of the Democrats of Cleveland and Cuyahoga county. Mr. Cockran was introduced by Mayor Johnson, and was the only speaker.

He took up the question of the prosperity of the country, and said that if the present prosperity was the fullest that the country could enjoy the Republicans should be retained in office, but if it was not the fullest that is possible that they should be hurled from power and the Democratic party placed in control of the government.

He said that the term prosperity was a relative one, and he believed that the United States was not enjoying the condition of prosperity which it could enjoy under Democratic principles.

LAST SUBSCRIPTION DAY.

Supporters of the Pittsburgh Orchestra Should Rally Before 5 P. M. Today.

Those who subscribe today, before 5 o'clock, to the $20, $15 and $10 seats for the Pittsburgh orchestra can bid at the auction sale at the Nixon theater tomorrow, and buy at the line sale at Hamilton's beginning at 9 o'clock Friday.

All are invited to subscribe, and those late-comers who take a subscription coupon today have just as good a chance in selecting their seats as those whose names have previously been on record. Possession of a season ticket is the one way in which the individual hereabouts can show the right sort of loyalty to the orchestra and the guarantors who have made it possible.

WEDDING FOLLOWS FAST IN WAKE OF DEATH

Ohio Girl Summoned from Marriage Ceremony to Attend Dying Brother.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

AKRON, O., Oct. 18.—A wedding and death in the same house at almost the same hour occurred at the home of Mrs. Pluma Haynes, at 407 South Maple street today, when the daughter of Mrs. Haynes was married an hour after the death of her brother, and while his body was being prepared for burial by an undertaker in an adjoining room. Frederick D. Haynes, the son, had been suffering with consumption for a year. He knew of the engagement of his sister, Miss Effie Haynes, to his friend Bernhart Guse, and approved of the match.

This morning he was informed that he had but a short time to live and arrangements for the wedding were immediately made. Rev. Willard of the Wooster Avenue Reformed church was sent for, and a few guests were hurriedly invited. The dying man's sister was in the act of putting on her wedding gown when she was summoned to the bedside of her brother, who died soon afterwards.

ANNUAL SESSION OPENS.

Pittsburgh Synod of the United Presbyterian Church Convenes at Indiana. Other Church Meetings.

INDIANA, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Almost 200 United Presbyterian ministers and laymen arrived here today to attend the annual session of the Pittsburgh synod of that church, which held its first meeting this evening in the Second United Presbyterian church.

The meeting was taken up largely by Rev. W. D. Irons of McDonald, who delivered the preparatory sermon. Addresses will be delivered tomorrow by Rev. J. S. Grier, Rev. W. H. Temple and Rev. J. T. McCrory.

GREENVILLE, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The first synod of the west of the United Presbyterian church, comprising the presbyteries of Butler, Beaver Valley, Lake, Mercer, Allegheny and Cleveland, convened in the Presbyterian church at Jamestown this evening. Judge J. M. Galbreath of Butler, the moderator, presiding. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. A. R. Robinson of Butler.

AKRON, O., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The Rev. A. B. Coates, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, was elected president of the Ohio Baptist ministers' conference this morning. The Rev. S. J. Slocum of Columbus was elected first vice president; the Rev. C. A. Brooks of Dayton, second vice president; the Rev. C. E. Stanton of Wyoming, secretary; the Rev. J. G. Boughton of Warren, treasurer. Ten new ministers were taken into the conference. Tomorrow the real work of the convention will be taken up.

VICTIMIZED CLERGYMEN.

Boys Meet Visiting Delegates at McKeesport Station and Carry Their Grips to Unknown Fields.

Ministerial delegates to the thirty-eighth annual session of the State Association of Baptist Clergymen, which came to a close in McKeesport yesterday, were victimized by a crowd of small boys who met them at the McKeesport depot yesterday morning. The boys offered to carry the grips of the visitors to the church and succeeded in securing considerable patronage. The ministers haven't seen their grips since. Chief of Police L. E. Rotzch was notified and is investigating.

The session came to a close with the election of officers, as follows: President, the Rev. Dr. H. F. King of Uniontown; vice president, the Rev. S. J. Arthurs of Erie, and the Rev. S. F. Forgeus of Huntington, secretary.

The morning session was devoted to addresses by the Rev. J. W. Hayes on "The Problem and Rewards of a County Pastor," the Rev. John Sharp on "The Pastor Commanding the Forces" and the Rev. M. F. Fikes on "Preaching for Souls."

The opening meeting of the seventy-seventh anniversary of the State Mission Society was held during the afternoon. Exercises were conducted by President George K. Crozer. Last night the Rev. B. F. McGee preached and the Rev. J. H. Haslam spoke on the "Local Church and Missions. The sessions of the mission society will be continued this morning and this afternoon the opening meeting of the Baptist Educational society will take place.

WORKSHOP OF THE WORLD.

Baltimore & Ohio Freight Officials Surprised by the Wonderful Industries of Pittsburgh.

So weary were the Baltimore & Ohio traffic officials when they returned from their inspection to the Hotel Schenley last evening that with difficulty was the reception committee able to form a theater party. Quite a number of them insisted upon being excused and retired early.

Said C. S. Wight, manager of freight traffic, with headquarters at Baltimore:

"We became so deeply interested in the really wonderful industries of Pittsburgh that we did not realize how hard we were working. Pittsburgh is very aptly called the 'workshop of the world.' Every true American should be proud of Pittsburgh."

Promptly at 8:15 yesterday morning the special containing the party left the Oakland siding and ran over the entire B. & O. terminals within what is known as the Pittsburgh yard limits. All of the principal industries on these lines were visited, the longest stops being made at the H. J. Heinz plant, the Union stock yards, the Carnegie and Edgar Thomson steel works.

RIVAL FATALLY WOUNDS HUSBAND

POSSE HOT AFTER ASSAILANT

A posse of foreign coal miners of Cheswick scoured the hills back of the hamlet last night, searching for Lolson Sxanke, a Hungarian, who mortally wounded Steve Bartory, aged 37, a fellow countryman, by shooting him through the stomach with a 32-caliber revolver. The wounded man is in the Allegheny General hospital with no chance of recovery, and if his assailant is captured he will likely receive rough treatment at the hands of the mob.

The shooting occurred shortly after 8 o'clock, but it was not until after 11 that the unconscious man arrived at the hospital. The intimacy of Bartory's wife with Sxanke is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. According to the story learned from Dr. W. P. McCulloch of Cheswick, who attended the victim of the shooting, Sxanke several days ago persuaded Mrs. Bartory to leave her home and her husband. The two were living at another house in the village, and it was to this place that Bartory went for the purpose of inducing his wife to return home.

Bartory, who is an intelligent foreigner, is engineer at Lappe's tannery in River avenue, Allegheny. Until recently his wife kept a boarding house, patronized by coal diggers, who are employed at the Harwick mines. For some time Sxanke has been paying attention to Mrs. Bartory and had been living at the Bartory home. As Sxanke refused to work and paid nothing for his living, he was driven out last week by Bartory, several days later the woman followed him.

After eating supper last night Bartory started out to bring his wife home. A quarrel started when he faced the woman and Sxanke. The latter was evidently afraid of Bartory, and after an angry argument drew out a gun and shot Bartory. Sxanke then fled from the house and took to the hills north of the village. Neighbors heard the shot, and on learning the result of it, started in pursuit of Sxanke. At a late hour he had not been captured. The Allegheny police are watching the freight trains coming into the city, and word of the shooting has been wired to the police at all towns up the Allegheny river.

CALL FOR HIGH SCHOOL SITES.

Those Having Available Properties Have a Chance to Submit Propositions.

The committee of the Central Board of Education appointed to select a site for a new high school held its first meeting yesterday. After considerable discussion a resolution was adopted by which the committee invites any real estate agent or property owner to submit any property they may have to offer for a high school site.

The committee stipulates that each offer must be accompanied by a sketch of the ground. Nothing more will be done until the offers are received.

The suggestion was made during the meeting that in the purchase of a new site the Friendship avenue site and ground should be traded in. There was a division in the committee on this proposition, and it developed that some of the members are in favor of holding on to that property and turning it into a playground.

Arrested Three Miles Underground.

Emil Conover, a miner, was arrested in the Ellsworth mines at Smithdale yesterday, while working underground three miles from the main shaft. He is charged by Supt. W. H. Cornell with fraud and false pretense in drawing the pay of other men while in the employ of the Sarah mine at Douglass station. He was committed to jail to await a hearing.

SPECIAL CLEARING OF USED PIANOS

A great many pianos were taken in exchange at our recent sale, many of them practically as good as new. Uprights were taken in exchange for small and large parlor grands, others exchanged their upright pianos in order to match the furnishings of new homes, so that we can say we have to offer this week the best class of used pianos that it has ever been our privilege to offer. The following are a few of the number now on hand for special clearing:

One $350 Merrill, walnut case.....$150
One $400 Kimball, rosewood case $175
One $500 Steinway, rosewood case $240
One $450 Kimball, oak case.....$275
One $350 Hardman, rosewood case $125
One $400 Kranich & Bach, mahogany case.....$165
One $350 Whitney, almost new....$235
One $450 Hallet & Davis, nearly new.....$275
One $375 Sterling, good as new....$275

for $85 up.

Organs to clear out at $10, $15, $20. Others not in such good condition $30 to $45.

We extend to all our easy payment plan.

Our new fall stock is now arriving, comprising the best and highest class pianos, and if we can't suit you in a used piano, we certainly can from our large and well selected stock of new and up-to-date pianos.

EXERCISED HIS OWN SWEET WILL

Delinquent Tax Collector Fulton Asked for Bids and Then Made Arbitrary Award.

NO FIGURES ARE GIVEN OUT

After asking for proposals from all the newspapers of Pittsburgh, Delinquent Tax Collector Andrew Fulton yesterday awarded the contract to publish the annual list of delinquent taxpayers to five papers and refused to make any of the bids public or to state whether the contract had been given to the lowest or highest bidders. In the refusal of Collector Fulton to give any information concerning the bids, the general impression about city hall is that the lowest bidders did not get the contract and that the awards were prearranged.

Last Monday Collector Fulton asked every paper in Pittsburgh to send to his office by 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a bid on the printing of the delinquent tax list, which the law requires to be published for two weeks in five daily papers during the last two weeks of October. The bids were all in at the appointed time and representatives of the papers were present in Fulton's office.

Promptly at the hour named, Fulton and his clerk retired to his private office and opened the bids, excluding the bidders. He came out in a few minutes and announced that the contract had been awarded to the Post, Dispatch, Times, Press and Freiheits Freund.

Refuses to Make Known Bids.

One of the bidders asked: "Mr. Fulton, can't you give us the bids? We would like to know where we stood in the bidding."

"Oh, that is unnecessary," said Collector Fulton. "I have absolute discretion in the matter and can let the contract to whoever I please."

"Will you tell us whether the contract was let to the lowest bidders?"

"No, I will not tell anything. I will not give out any figures."

Fulton was again asked last night if the contract had been let to the lowest bidders, and he replied: "That is something I will not answer. I will not talk about it. Good-bye," and he ended the conversation.

Controller Larkin and his assistant, H. S. Morrow, advised Collector Fulton to ask for bids. Controller Larkin said yesterday his purpose in doing this was to save the city money and to have the contract let to the lowest bidders, if possible. He was disappointed Fulton had not followed this course. The controller said Fulton was acting under the law of 1875, which gave him power to let the contract at his own discretion, to whoever he pleased and at whatever rate he pleased.

The controller said the city solicitor, at a conference on Monday, had given the opinion that the printing of the delinquent tax list was not official city printing, because the new charter defined what city official printing was and did not include the delinquent tax list. The controller said he could not demand the bids from Fulton and would be compelled to pay the bills when they came in, no matter how high they are.

Can Charge Highest Rates.

He said Fulton was acting within the law as expounded by the city solicitor and could make the bills as high as he pleased, so that he did not exceed the commercial printing rate, which is several times higher than that of some of the bids presented yesterday.

"Some years ago the printing of the delinquent tax list ranged from $10,000 to $15,000 for each paper," said Assistant Controller Morrow. "Later it was reduced by competitive bidding to a great deal less and the city was saved much money. If the collector had accepted the bids rejected today I would estimate that the bill for the printing of the delinquent tax list for this year would not have amounted to over $2,500 or $3,000. No person, except Mr. Fulton, can tell what the bill will be this year."

YOUTH AND AGE CLASH AND LAW SUIT IS THE RESULT

James Harrison Chastises His Old Business Friend's Son and the Latter Gets Angry.

James M. Harrison of 1408 Webster avenue gave William A. Dickey of 5602 Rippey street, East End, a rap on the head with his blackthorn walking stick and because Harrison has refused to replace the hat he broke, Dickey has sued him before Alderman Toole on a charge of assault and battery. Harrison, who is about 75 years old, which is about twice Dickey's age, when called before the alderman yesterday, laughingly waived a hearing and gave bail for trial at court.

Harrison is president of the Harrison Paper Company, 49 Water street, and Dickey is a member of the firm of Robert Dickey & Sons, wholesale grain dealers, 127 Water street. Harrison is one of the old, old business men of the water front, and the personal friend of many of Pittsburgh's old-substantial business men. He has been in the paper business continuously for the last 46 years, in the First ward, and claims to have conducted a paper business longer than any man east of the Delaware.

"Dickey is all right and a good enough fellow," said Harrison last evening. "His father and I were friends for many years, but like many of the sons of my old business friends, they are not so careful in their manners as their fathers were." Dickey, Harrison said, has been making a practice of going to Harrison's place of business and in a careless way spoken to and of Harrison in a manner not pleasing to the latter. On Monday, when Harrison was passing Dickey's place, the latter, so Harrison says, began annoying him again and as Harrison puts it, "Just to show him I'm as good a man as ever, I gave him a rap over the head with my stick and damaged Dickey's hat a bit."

Harrison says he is still able to cope with the young fellows, but had no intention of hurting Dickey. He says young men are none the worse for a little rap now and again as a reminder that the young men of a half-century ago are not all back numbers in this strenuous age.

BUY MACHINERY HERE.

Pittsburgh Concern Gets Contract for Pressed Steel Car Plant to be Built in Canada.

Pittsburgh material is to be used in the construction of the large plant to be erected in Montreal, Can., by the Pressed Steel Car Company. The project to erect a branch of the works in Canada, exclusively printed in The Gazette several days ago, is said to be the result of the new tariff law passed by the Canadian government.

The Canadian plant is to have a capacity of 150 cars daily, and will make its own car wheels and axles. The orders placed in Pittsburgh Monday call for early delivery, and will be used in the erection of the machinery to be installed in the plant.

It was stated by one in authority that at the new plant all steel passenger coaches are to be turned out. This will be an innovation, and if they prove as convenient, the weight kept down to nearly that of wooden coaches and the cost approximately the same, it will not be many years until all railroads confine their equipment to steel.

BIGELOW CLAIMS COMMON COUNCIL

Asserts Deal Will Go Through Lower Branch as Easily as in Select.

LIGHT FRANCHISE AS A CLUB

Director Bigelow said yesterday that matters had been so shaped in common council that the Hall light franchise ordinance and the ordinances of the Pittsburgh Railways Company would go through the lower branch tonight, with as much ease as they were railroaded through select council on Monday. He admitted there might be some opposition, but not enough to interfere with the passage of the measures. Director Bigelow and Murry A. Verner left city hall early yesterday afternoon and met a number of councilmen in Verner's office.

A member of common council made this remark yesterday: "I have enough votes with me to stop these ordinances if I want to." The inference was that this member was doubtful what position he would take tonight. Director Bigelow claims this particular member and his friends, of whom he claims there are enough to prevent a suspension of the rules, will vote for the ordinances.

There are some people who believe the Hall company is doomed to receive another gold brick from the administration, equal in size to the one they received last spring when the Verner traction ordinances were passed and the Hall ordinances sidetracked at the last minute. One report yesterday was that Mayor Ilays would veto the Hall ordinance and sign the traction ordinances.

Verner Has Upper Hand.

The administration holds the upper hand and this can be effectively used in the 10 days in which the mayor is allowed to sign or veto an ordinance. With the Hall light franchise subject to the mayor's disposal Verner and his associates would be in a good position to force a deal with the Philadelphia Company regarding the Verner traction franchises which the Philadelphia Company now holds. If the Philadelphia Company should not come to terms Verner might retaliate by having the mayor sign the Hall light bill.

If terms regarding traction franchises should be agreed upon between Verner and the Philadelphia Company, then the mayor doubtless might veto the Hall ordinance and it would take a three-fifths vote of councils to pass the bill over the mayor's veto.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company is pushing the work of laying a track in Grant boulevard, and yesterday began work in Craig street. Work was begun the day before in Shady avenue, along which the Squirrel Hill line is to be constructed. The Craig street line will connect with the boulevard.

The quo warranto proceedings, instituted by the Voters' Civic league, does not involve the actual work of construction, but the title to the charters and the validity of the franchises are attacked.

Blame for Corruption Shifted.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company will answer to the suit in court that it knows nothing of any corruption in the passage of the Verner ordinances; that the company did not take part in the passage of the measures and did not solicit any votes for them. The company by this position will shift the blame for any acts committed in the passage of the ordinances upon Verner and the administration, who were the actual lobbyists for the ordinances. The officers of the league claim they will prove their assertions about corruption. They state they had detectives employed and that evidence has been secured against a number of councilmen.

FAILED TO GET SALESPEOPLE.

Retail Clerks Refused to Be Affiliated With A. F. of L. Organization.

The contest between the Knights of Labor and the American Federation of Labor over the control of the clerks seems to have subsided. At least Philip Byrnes, general organizer of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union, and G. B. Squires, general organizer of the International Retail Clerks' association, have left the city.

Squires has been in the city for the past five months trying to induce the members of the Salespeople assembly, K. of L., to leave that organization and affiliate with the Retail Clerks, which is an A. F. of L. body. Mr. Byrnes was sent here to assist Squires.

SMALL DEATH RATE.

Only 108 Died in Pittsburgh in One Week—Contagious Diseases Reported.

There were 108 deaths in the city last week, as against 124 the previous week and 135 in the same week last year. The death rate was only 15.83. The principal causes were pneumonia 10, consumption 6, typhoid fever 2, diphtheria 6, heart disease 6 and violence 11.

During the week there were reported 58 cases of typhoid, 15 of scarlet fever and 31 of diphtheria. Seven cases of typhoid fever, 6 of scarlet fever and 5 of diphtheria were reported yesterday.

HORSE CREATES HAVOC: RAN OFF FOUR TIMES

Upsets Buggy, Injures Woman, Kicks Boy, Causes Rider's Arrest and Excites Police.

Throwing a woman out of a buggy, kicking a boy, tearing a policeman's clothes and causing the arrest of his rider, was the series of calamities brought about by a magnificent gray horse on the downtown streets last night, during his flight in four successful attempts to run away.

James Lewis of 318 Pearl street, employed by C. L. Armstrong, a Bloomfield contractor, had ridden the horse to Allegheny and was returning over the Sixth street bridge, when the animal became frightened at a locomotive and tsarted off. At Duquesne way he ran into the buggy of George W. Morton of 5725 Howe street, tearing off a wheel and throwing Mrs. Morton into the street, bruising her about the body and cutting her head.

Officer D. J. Lewis caught the horse and arrested the rider. Starting to Central station, the horse again bolted at Strawberry alley and Liberty avenue and breaking away from the officer started back for Allegheny by way of the Seventh street bridge. In his flight along Liberty avenue he kicked Claude Reynolds, a young boy, sending him high into the air. The rider finally checked him and returned to the officer, who took the outfit to the police station.

fter Lewis, the rider, had been locked up, Officer Lewis was ordered to take the animal to the city stables in Tunnel street. He had scarcely grasped the bridle before the animal again broke away, dashing down Cherry alley to Seventh avenue. Turning up Seventh avenue he ran as far as the Grant boulevard, where he was stopped by a crowd of men and again turned over to the officer. Then Policeman Martin Reynolds was assigned to help his brother officer.

At Sixth avenue and Grant street the horse again rebelled, and as he broke away this time he threw Reynolds down, tearing his uniform to shreds, as the policeman made brave efforts to retain his hold. A score of men and boys gave chase and corralled the animal at the court house, driving him before them to the Tunnel street stables.

A MILLIONAIRE'S $10 CLOTHES

WHAT PITTSBURGHERS WEAR.

A famous millionaire of New York once wore a suit of business clothes which, he boasted, cost him only $10.

He could have afforded to pay "all kinds of money" for his clothing, but he did not see the necessity for extravagance.

Several prominent, fashionably dressed men of the city were asked how much they paid for their clothing. Their answers revealed the fact that the New York millionaire in question could have done better right here in Pittsburgh in the purchase of his clothing.

The manager of the Liberty Clothing Company said that his company had been doing a tremendous business this season. The prices have been cut away down so low that a man could afford to purchase two suits for the price he ordinarily is compelled to pay for one elsewhere.

This awful slaughter in prices is explained by the fact that the continued mild weather has lessened the demand for winter goods. And the enormous stock on hand makes it absolutely necessary to reduce the number of suits, top coats, overcoats, etc., immediately.

You will certainly join the procession marching toward this popular store after you have read the following items:

A lot of Men's Raincoats, light colors; all sizes; regular price, $18. Our Sale Price, $7.98.

The Increased Demand for Oxford Overcoats.

Most men seem to want Oxford Overcoats. Oxford mixtures have been popular in the past, of course, but the demand has never been quite so broad and persistent, as it has this Autumn. Our stock of these overcoats is so extensive as to be satisfying to the most particular man.

The man who wants unusual value for his money will be delighted with the Horne special Oxford-mixed all-wool Vicuna Overcoats—silk lined and the best value ever offered at the price. $15.00.

There are other fine Oxford-mixed Overcoats at $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00, all finished in the handsomest manner.

Topcoats of covert cloths, in olive green shades, now the fad with swell custom tailors, silk lined. $15.00 to $30.00.

Of course we have raincoats in Oxford mixtures, too. An excellent variety made of thoroughly rainproof worsteds, at $18.00 to $30.00.

Women's and Children's Hose.

Our assortment of hose for women and children represents the best examples of the stocking making industries of three countries, France, Germany and United States. The most inexpensive hosiery, as a rule, is made in our own country, and in some cases they are as pretty as the finer imported products. The French, of course, excel in turning out elaborate hose in lisle and silk, with clocks and embroidery. But we have many fine specimens of the German craft—stockings that look pretty and are serviceable as well.

Women's black Maco Cotton Hose, embroidered in variegated colorings. 25c pair.

Women's black lace and plain Lisle Hose, embroidered in pretty designs and colors—others with neat patterns in black lace ankles. 50c, 75c, $1.00 a pair.

Women's English Lisle Hose, with lace ankles, embroidered in assorted colors, such as pink, sky, red and white, $2.00 and $2.25 grades for $1.00 a pair.

Women's Fleece-lined Cotton Hose, all black, others with white feet and soles. 25c, 35c, 50c a pair.

Women's silk-fleeced Hose, $1.50 a pair.

Women's black and oxford mixed cashmere hose, out sizes, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25.

Women's black Cotton Hose, with natural wool feet, 75c a pair.

Children's plain black, heavy, winterweight Cotton Hose, 15c, 25c, 35c, 50c pair.

Children's fleece-lined Cotton Hose, plain and ribbed, 25c a pair.

Children's black Cashmere Hose, 25c, 35c, 50c a pair.

Leggins—

Infants' black and white knitted Drawer Leggins, 75c and up to $1.25.

Infants' Leggins, 65c.

Women's and children's black knitted leggins, 35c, 50c, 65c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.25 a pair.

Women's Jersey Leggins, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00.

Children's Jersey Leggins, $1.00, $1.50, $1.75.

Women's and Children's Jersey Drawer Leggins, ranging in price from $1.75 to $5.00.

Children's white Jersey Leggins, $2.00 to $3.00, according to size.

Plain and Decorative Linens.

The woman who watches our linen section gets many a bargain in table, decorative and bed linens which is never mentioned in our news of the store. If we have a sufficient quantity of any one thing to advertise it, we publish the news; if we think the quantity not sufficient to warrant such procedure, we simply throw out the goods at special prices, and no one but the lucky purchaser is the wiser.

Hemstitched Damask Sets, cloth 2x2 yards, one dozen napkins to match. $5.00.

Hemstitched Damask Table Sets, cloth 2x3 yards, one dozen napkins to match. $7.50.

Hemstitched Damask Table Sets, cloth 2½x2½ yards, one dozen napkins to match. $12.50.

Matching Sets of Pretty Laces.

While we have been showing you what we can and are doing in Real Laces, we do not want you to lose sight of the fact that we are equally well prepared to serve you with inexpensive laces. The collection is made up of laces that are masterpieces of design and workmanship, such as women of artistic taste in matters of dress will enjoy seeing. In light weight laces there are edgings, flouncings and bands those of heavier weights are in galloons, appliques and in new, odd-shaped medallion effects.

In matched sets of Net Top Laces we show styles from 15c to $1.50 a yard.

In matched sets of Chantilly Laces, black and white, matched sets at 6c to $1.50 a yard.

In Point Gaze Laces and Insertions we show an exceptional line, 15c to $2.50 a yard.

In Venise Lace Bands and separate effects, 25c to $6.00 a yard.

The "Charlotte Corday" Hat.

Fashion has a penchant for looking backward. She likes to make replicas of feminine finery in vogue ages ago. Thus she brings forward a stylish and prepossessing shape in a hat that was very fashionable in France along about the time of the French revolution, when Charlotte Corday, a young lady of some five and twenty years, did something that emblazoned her name as that of a heroine.

This new style of hat is all the rage in the East, and that means it will be taken up by Pittsburg women very quickly.

We show it in all velvet, mixtures of silk and velvet, and the charming colors of black and brown. From $5.00 to $12.50.

Beaver Hats—Continentals and flats. The newest and best in all Untrimmed Hats are these long silk napped Fur Beaver Hats. They are in high favor this season. While the demand is large, we are amply prepared to meet it—which is a hint that our stock is extremely large.

We show them in a pleasing variety of colorings and leading shapes, including Continentals, Round Hats and Flats. The Flats can easily be conformed into almost any idea the mind may suggest.

Untrimmed shapes sell for $1.50, $2.00 up to $3.50 and $5.00.

They can be trimmed as fancy demands. Fashion seems to favor the idea of flowers in completing the style—velvet roses, foliage, violets, while many prefer pompons, breasts or plumes.

We have designed models in both styles of trimming, and the prices range, $5.00, $6.50, $7.50 to $10.00.

Fashionable New Autumn Silks in Variety.

Fashionable Autumn Silks are displayed here in the greatest possible variety. The new silks are superior to last year's weaves in several ways, notably the adaptability for graceful draping. In weight the variety runs all the way from the thin and gauzy silks for the evening gown to the heavy, coarse weaves for coat suits and wraps.

All the latest Paris novelties are included in our present display.

The popular Arnold goods for women and children, a line of the most practical, sanitary and comfortable undergarments and sleeping garments will be demonstrated in the second floor, East, today.

Everybody is more or less familiar with some of the Arnold goods, but we invite you to call and learn for yourself the many excellent qualities and conveniences of the various articles.

Embroidered Delaine.

Just ask grandma. Get her to tell you something about Delaine. She will immediately become reminiscent.

Well, this good old-time dress stuff has come into fashion again, and we have just received a beautiful line of Embroidered Delaine in white grounds embroidered in pink, light blue, nile, lavender, white and black. There are tear-drop effects and ring effects.

For the making of smart shirtwaists, evening dresses and for children's dresses, it will be received with the same satisfaction it gave years ago when it was so fashionable.

It is 30 inches wide and sells for $1.00 a yard.

Men's Hats Today $1.85

Choose Either Derby or Soft Hat Worth $3.50.

Another of those occasions in which we invite men to save a neat sum on the purchase of a stylish hat for Autumn and Winter. We would like to test your sense of discernment. We would like you to see this $1.85 hat alongside one of our $5.00, and we'd like to see if you could tell 'tother from which.

The Derbies are in newest shades of the fashionable brown and also black, and the latest blocks are represented, therefore we have shapes to suit any build of man. The finest silk bands are used, and the Derbies have reversible bands. Genuine Russia leather sweatbands on most of these hats, something seldom seen on a hat retailing for less than $4.00. The soft Hats are in all the new shapes and colors.

An advance of $2 a ton and upward in the price of all grades of pipe is an indication of the turn in the industrial situation. Some time ago the price of pipe was reduced in sympathy with the cut in the price of billets, and the advance at this time is clearly attributable to an energetic demand. Indirectly it points to the conclusion that those who have been holding out orders in the expectation of a cut in the price of steel rails are doomed to disappointment. The railmakers have some large orders in hand, and the upward tendency in other branches of the steel market is not calculated to weaken their position.

The Baltic squadron is again reported to be on its way to the east. If it makes no further stops and does not meet with difficulties in getting sufficient coal, it will be able to arrive about Christmas, when Vladivostok harbor will be frozen up tight. Port Arthur may be open, however, and the Japanese fleet will be ready to take charge of the ships and escort them in. There is not much likelihood that a squadron which has required nine months to get out of port will be able to arrive on the scene of action in time to have any real effect upon the result of the struggle. The Baltic squadron will be more a source of worry to neutral governments than to the Japanese.

A mile of sample steel track is to be laid on the Butler plank road. If it proves satisfactory it is proposed to lay a double track through to Butler. There is no apparent reason why it should not prove satisfactory. Steel track is not an experiment. Almost every city street is a demonstration. Provided grades are not too heavy, steel track affords the easiest traction known. On very heavy grades there is some danger of accident, but good roads imply the removal of such grades. Such statistics as are available indicate superior economy in maintenance for the steel track as compared with any form of paving. It is the wheels that do the damage to paving as to the dirt road. The steel track era will be welcomed.

After weeks of careful preparation it is expected the district attorney's office will be ready to begin prosecutions in what are known as the Allegheny graft cases. The delay has not been extraordinary in view of the difficulties in the way of securing evidence. These may be judged by the reports that detectives in the employ of Allegheny city have been detailed to impede, as far as possible, the efforts of the special counsel in securing witnesses. If these reports be true they only indicate that the graft system is more widespread on the North Side than has been generally believed, and that the investigation may take a sensational turn. The district attorney's office is not wholly powerless in meeting obstruction and intimidation.

In deciding the case of Kittanning and its tax upon the pipes of a gas company operating in the borough, Judge William D. Porter of the superior court touches phases of the matter likely to arise in the linear license tax case of this city. The superior court holds that the police power of the municipality is ample to levy a tax as a police regulation—which appears to have been done in the case under consideration—but declares that if a tax should be levied under the guise of police regulation for revenue only, it would devolve upon the municipality to show specific legislative authority for so doing. The Pittsburgh tax is apparently imposed for revenue purposes. The cases, however, are not identical, and, beside, the Pittsburgh case will go to a higher court, yet the outlook is not particularly encouraging.

Controller Larkin takes advantage of a technical defect in the ordinance providing for additional employes in the filtration bureau to announce that he will not pay the salaries. The controller, however, must be given credit for calling attention to the defect in time to have it cured, before his refusal will invoive delay. The councils can amend the ordinance, if they will, much sooner than the matter can be straightened in the courts by a writ of mandamus. It is important, too, to have prompt action for the filtration bureau needs the men to prepare for the letting of contracts as soon as the financial controversy is settled. The controller's objections to the proposed method of issuing the bonds are commendable, but to cripple the filtration bureau in its present work is to play into the hands of those who are manipulating the financial end of the project.

Judge Parker must realize by this time that the American people were in no mood to listen to the theoretical doctrines of the small cult of anti-imperialists who have been attempting to make a political issue of our dealings with the Philippines ever since we had to take those islands. Even Democratic newspapers, which have been vigorously supporting the candidate, can scarcely conceal their disgust over the latest declaration about "scuttling" in the Philippines, and some of them bluntly admit that he blundered. The New York Herald, for example, which said the day before that President Roosevelt's election seemed probable, followed yesterday with an elaborate editorial statement declaring that a Republican victory might prove a blessing in disguise "for the possible defeat of Judge Parker may teach the Democracy to appreciate the importance of resisting any future temptations to follow will o' the wisp politicians, whether their name be Bryan, or what is more usual, Dennis."

Charges of Corruption.

So many charges of corruption have been made in connection with the transaction of the municipal business that there is a strong popular demand for proof. It must be admitted the conduct of councils in many cases has given ground for suspicion that undue influence was being used to secure favors for private interests. The regularity with which compensation clauses have been excluded from franchise grants is in itself an indictment that councils have not considered the public interest. But there is need for positive proof of corruption if the situation is to be improved.

Empty charges of graft do more harm than good. The holding of public office is brought into contempt by continual repetition of the suspicion that corrupt methods prevail. The best class of citizens prefer to keep out of politics to being wrongfully accused of dishonesty. The corrupt element is thus encouraged to thrust itself forward. It is in view of this fact that the public desires either to have the corrupt practices proven, and the corruptionists punished, or to have an end of such charges. The public probably does not understand how difficult it is to prove corrupt practices and to convict the guilty even when there is moral certainty that corruption exists. But be that as it may, there is general agreement that the time is at hand for action.

Disobedience and Accidents.

Those who have been seeking reasons for the increase in railroad accidents in this country during the past few months will be interested in a bulletin issued by the interstate commerce commission explaining the causes of 27 of the most prominent disasters. Of these 21 resulted from direct disobedience of employes or neglect to obey orders. In many cases it was impossible to learn whether the failure to observe instructions was due to carelessness or whether the employe willfully risked his death. But the investigations are illuminating, especially in view of the talk about increased traffic, heavier rolling stock and depreciated tracks. One railroad president recently tried to attribute accidents to unexpected washouts on roads against which it was impossible to make provision, but the government reports only one such instance out of the 27 fatal accidents recorded.

There is only one conclusion to be drawn from the fact that more than two-thirds of the mishaps on the rail were due to human frailty. Is there a failure to exact trustworthy service from the railroad employe? Does the railroad man fail to realize the responsibility of his position for human life more than the worker in other departments which risk accident? Is the railroad man to be blamed in particular, or is carelessness a trait of the American people? That there has been gross neglect is evident, but whether the engineer and conductor is more liable to err than his co-workers in other lines in one of the questions which will press for settlement. We have reason to ask, moreover, whether the American mind is lacking in respect for law or in amenability to discipline whose first lesson is obedience.

A Bit of Bridge History.

Pittsburgh is not unique in having opposition to its bridges from certain river interests. The conflict is an old one. The development of the great west and the Louisiana purchase might have been stunted had not the foresight of Abraham Lincoln and his grasp of the subject been sufficient to convince a majority of the justices of the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Lincoln argued for the immense interests that depend upon convenient crossings of the navigable rivers and he won. His success marked an epoch in the development of the American continent. He bridged the Mississippi.

Frank H. Spearman, the well-known writer of railroad history and railroad stories, adverts to this matter in the current Saturday Evening Post, in his interesting series of papers on the "Early Days in Railroading." Mr. Spearman tells how the great rivers proved almost insurmountable physical obstacles to the railroads. Then ferries were resorted to. The steam ferry of John Lawler at Prairie du Chien partly solved the problem. Next he tried a pontoon bridge. Mr. Spearman continues:

The boat interests of the rivers were then so much more powerful than the railroads that it was often difficult to get permission to bridge a navigable stream. The first railroad bridge to cross the Mississippi was built at Rock Island, Illinois, in 1856. William C. Brown, now operating officer of the Lake Shore road and the New York Central, in a recent address before an association of Illinois manufacturers presented a curious story of the history of this first industrial highway across the most fertile valley in the world. No sooner was the bridge completed, at an enormous expense, and after the most herculean pioneer railroad effort, than St. Louis steamboat interests demanded its removal as a nuisance and an obstruction to navigation, and in a bill filed by James Ward, a citizen of St. Louis, in the United States district court for the district of Iowa, he prayed that it be so judged, and that it be "abated" and removed, and said river be restored to its original capacity for all purposes of navigation."

On the third day of April, 1860, the United States district court Judge Love presiding, decided in favor of petitioner, particularly because if this bridge should be allowed to stand competition would compel every other railroad to have one, and that would mean a bridge every 40 or 50 miles along the river. Lincoln, counsel for the bridge company, appealed. The account continues:

Lincoln, with that tremendous grasp of things as they are that marks the difference between the big man and little men, conceded that the bridge was an obstruction but held that it was not an unreasonable one. He argued that rivers and railroads were both great highways for the people, and that travelers by the one were entitled to as much consideration as travelers by the other. He even ventured the prediction that the time would come when the number of passengers crossing the river by railroad would equal and perhaps exceed those traveling up and down the river in boats! Meantime, repeated attempts were made to burn the bridge, and two employes of the chamber of commerce of St. Louis were arrested and tried for conspiracy to destroy the bridge by fire. A decision at Washington finally reversed the circuit court: the bridge stood; but even in the supreme court it won by a narrow margin. Three distinguished justices dissented from the majority and put themselves on record with an opinion that would, had it prevailed till now, make it unlawful to put a railroad bridge across the Mississippi river.

The obstacles of the law were frequently invoked to stop the progress of the railroads across rivers, and in cases where premission was grudgingly given to build draw-bridges it was provided that these must stand open at all times save when a train was crossing. The structural problems of big railroad bridges were solved when Gen. William Sooy Smith built the first steel bridge in the world for the Chicago & Alton road across the Missouri river at Glasgow, Missouri, in 1879. Today these huge steel bridges are everywhere across American inland waterways, and good bridges of 10 years ago are being taken down every day to be replaced by structures heavy enough to take care of bigger engines than were dreamed of at that time.

It is not difficult for the resident in Greater Pittsburgh to see how history repeats itself, and how the river interests maintain their assumption of rights superior to all others. When Abraham Lincoln won his famous bridge case at Washington he only ventured to predict that the traffic over the bridges might some day exceed in volume that upon the rivers. Today the traffic that passes over the bridges is so much greater than that which passes under them as to be almost beyond comparision. Had Lincoln lost that case in the supreme court, the development of this country would have been arrested. It would have been impossible to create the magnificent transportation system that has reduced the ton per mile cost of carrying to a figure that astonishes the traffic world, and is less than one-half that of any European country.

Water transportation continues to exert an influence upon the regulation of rates, but it is of secondary importance. Improvement of the navigable rivers is a work the government should never neglect, for the increasing demand for transport will presently tax every facility. But care should be taken to not injure the greater interests in fostering the less. Thousands of passengers and millions of tons of freight ought never to be subjected to additional cost or inconvenience to favor some hundreds of excursionists bent on pleasure.

Talk About Peace.

It is reported from St. Petersburg that Russia resents the suggestion that President Roosevelt may make overtures for peace negotiations. Russia assumes the president's willingness to mediate might have had its origin in a peace suggestion thrown out at Tokyo by a Japanese official and strengthened by a member of the diplomatic corps at that capital. Russia is, of course, wrong in its assumption. President Roosevelt has no more desire to serve Japan than to serve Russia. If he has privately expressed a willingness to mediate, he has simply voiced the sentiment of the civilized world, that the belligerent powers should begin to consider means to stop the frightful slaughter of human beings that has marked the campaign in Manchuria.

Ten days of continuous fighting south of Mukden have been indecisive of supremacy, but they have yielded a harvest of death and bloodshed that appals the world. Both armies have proven the quality of their bravery and patriotism in a way that will not encourage any other power to try conclusions with either of them. There can be no reasonable doubt that each is able to keep up the war for another year or two, repeating the scenes of carnage and ultimately exhausting both. But it is not in the real interest of either or of the world at large for them to do so. Both would profit by reaching a peace agreement now, rather than by continuing the inconclusive struggle.

The Gazette would welcome a movement for peace. At the same time it would not favor an attempt on the part of other powers to coerce the belligerents into a peace that would only be temporary. It does not believe President Roosevelt contemplates any such intereference in any event. He is merely willing to lend his friendly assistance, if it is needed or desired, to secure a basis for negotiation. And when his attitude is fully understood and Russia has contemplated the sacrifices made and those which will have to be made to recover Manchuria, it may be that his good offices will be sought.

A preponderance in new male population has aroused the fears of Chicago that another war is coming. Well we have a pretty good navy, thanks to wise provision.

There is a beauty in the tints of the autumn foliage that is incomparable, but the hunters who roam the woods probably fail to see it.

Candidates are announcing for the Republican nominations in the county already. Sure sign that nomination means election.

We hear nothing now about the Russians being shocked because the Japanese say cuss words when going into battle.

Steel track roads are to be tried. One sample should lead to many stretches of the best of all roads for traction.

Pennsylvania Democratic candidates for congress are not trying to break in. They are trying to sneak in.

The headquarters man who listed West Virginia as doubtful has not been there during the campaign.

Another automobile accident in Ohio. But then there are other accidents, including horse runaways.

Heavy firing is reported from the direction of West Virginia. Uncle "Joe" Cannon in action, of course.

Quite a nice advance in the stock market and, as usual, the public had not been prepared for it.

Parker's Philippine views are not wholly agreeable to the "safe and sane" Democracy.

Uncle Gassaway Davis is not raising so much dust as at the beginning of his whirlwind tour.

France is a comparatively quiet country when the chamber of deputies is not in session.

The least that can be said of the battle of the Sakhe is that it has been desperate.

Russia is winning more in its diplomatic war in Europe than it is in Manchuria.

There are so many charges of corruption that there should be some proof.

It has been a week or more since the kaiser spring a sensation. Vat iss?

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Women furnish a large portion of the news of interest these days. There are so many different ways for a woman to be unique that it takes columns to simply tell the facts without trying to explain motives. No sane man would try to understand the whyfors and wherefors that influence the dear creatures. But most unique even among women is Mrs. Louis Singer of Brooklyn. The police are searching for her, for she disappeared last Saturday night clothed only in a night robe and a disordered mind. She is jealous of her own child. According to Mr. Singer's story, he and his wife lived happily together ever since they were married last November until seven days ago, when a boy baby was born to them. After the birth of the child Mrs. Singer seemed to be worried by the thought that her husband would love the boy more than her. She often expressed that fear to him and anxiously asked whether he still loved her. While Mr. Singer was out last Saturday trying to find a Mrs. Charles Gordon, a sister of his wife, Mrs. Singer gave her baby to the nurse and shortly afterward disappeared.

Lighted Lamp This Woman's Weapon.

Mrs. Annie Martini is in Yorkville prison, accused of having thrown a lighted lamp at her best friend, Miss Nellie McCarthy, thereby causing the young woman's death. The detective who arrested Mrs. Martini says she confessed to him. "She insulted my husband, and I threw the lamp at her," the woman is alleged to have told the detective. In court she denied it and said it was an accident, but she will remain in her cell—with her baby for company—until the affair is fully investigated. Meanwhile, Mrs. Martini at least has proven that loyalty is one of woman's strongest points, and if there is anything mean to be said about her husband she proposes to say it herself.

Miss Marlowe Wins First Honors.

In the theaters this week, the chief event is the Sothern-Marlowe production of "Romeo and Juliet," which had its first production in Pittsburgh last week. And all here agree that it should be "Juliet and Romeo," for Miss Marlowe carried off pretty nearly all the honors last night. All along the Rialto people were discussing her great success today and little was said of Sothern. "Too much like Hamlet," was the best he got, but the Juliet was lauded to the top of the skyscrapers. Actors are peculiar people, anyhow. To hear the men tell of a production, the women are the bright particular stars, but if you ask a woman you will find the men did all the high art. Perhaps it's jealousy.

Littleness One Sometimes Meets.

Business in the theatrical world is just now so poor that an actor would almost be willing to rob his best friend of a season's contract. An actor would almost, an actress did. She went to call on her friend the other evening and picking up a book, asked, "Why, are you reading this again?"

"I've been offered the leading part in the dramatization, and I'm to give my decision tomorrow at noon," was the reply.

There the subject was dropped, but just before 12 o'clock the following day the actress again came to call on her friend and proudly displayed the contract the friend had expected to secure. And still they smile sweetly upon each other when they chance to meet.

Heartaches in Weinseimer Trial.

Day by day, ever since Philip Weinseimer, the walking delegate, has been on trial charged with extortion, a little woman dressed in black has been sitting in the first row of benches dedicated to spectators. Mrs. Weinseimer wants to be near her husband. She cannot aid him, but she can lend her sympathy and prove her faith in him. It has been a heartbreaking affair for her, and while the thrusts of the prosecuting lawyers are aimed wholly at the prisoner, it is the prisoner's wife who suffers most. When a point is made in his favor she looks into his eyes and smiles, but when one is made against him she looks only at the floor while the tears come into her eyes. His punishment will be her punishment. Nor can all the lawyers in the state prove to her that he is guilty.

Nips of New York News.

Though the judge did not appear, Mrs. Parker and her daughter seemed to enjoy the good things said about them at the Madison Square meeting last night.

John Ferguson, upon his arrival home from the west today, learned that his wife was burned to death several days ago.

With the coming of cold weather there are more than the usual number of fires. Today policemen carried several women and children from burning homes, but there were no fatalities.

The police say Jesse Pittman killed George Johnson in a row about a woman, but Pittman says he fired in self-defense.

Bears in Clearfield.

D. C. Shaffer, E. W. Kelly's hunting partner, was in the woods Saturday and had his rifle with him. While sitting on a log he heard a great noise up the hill above him, and, raising to his feet, saw a monster bear coming down, running as fast as he could. Shaffer got ready, and when the bear was as close as he was going to get opened fire, wounding it badly. He followed bruin about a mile and got a finishing shot in which he brought him down. It weighed over 300 pounds. There is an overstock of bear meat at the camp just at present, as this is two of the animals in two days. E. W. Kelly will send both hides to a taxidermist and have rugs made of them. This makes four bears for this crew this fall.—Dubois Courier.

THE TORCHLIGHT PARADE.

Oh, the old torchlight purrade!
What a line o' fire it made
When it countermarched by orders o' the marshal an' his aid!
An' the time us fellers kep',
Skippin' till we caught the step
While the drum boomed out an echo to the leader yellin' "Hep!"

An' I'd like to see 'em marchin' to the music onct again;
Like to see 'em come a-laughin' an' a-yellin' now an' then,
With a crowd o' boys beside 'em an' the wimmin folks about,
An' nobody tired o' walkin' till the torches were burned out,
An' the stars above a-twinklin' like as if to say 'at they'd
Found a lookin' glass 'at pleased 'em in the old torchlight purrade.

Oh, the old torchlight purrade!
How the marshal's charger neighed
An' went rearin' to the measures o' the tunes the old band played!
An' the time us fellers kep',
Tryin' hard to catch the step,
With the bass drum boomin' at us, an' the leader yellin' "Hep!"

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Transferring from one fund to another is quite common in municipal governments.

Wouldn't it be a good scheme to be able to transfer one-half, or more, of the fund for maintaining courts, prisons, poorhouses, and the like to the school fund?

And why not do it?

Of course it couldn't be done this year, nor next, but surely it can be done sometime, and if our schools, churches, and other moralizing institutions were up to, or nearly up to, their professed standards of efficiency, it wouldn't be long until the larger appropriation would be for school purposes.

Will some of our teachers who are up in figures and as full of facts as they ought to be tell us just how much it costs the city and the county to take care of the unlearned, poorly educated, vicious and neglected classes each year.

This will include fully one-half of the expenses of maintaining our civil courts, practically all of the expense of prisons, criminal courts, reform schools, police, poorhouses, and various other things necessary to control ignorance, immorality and viciousness.

Figures are better than talky-talk.

It won't take long to get these figures, and they will help the salary business mightily.

* * * * *

The national appropriations for our war and navy are four hundred million dollars, a little more than double the amount raised for schools in the whole country.

Twice as much appropriated for war as for schools, and yet we profess to be leaders of the great reform procession.

Efficiency in munitions of war is all right, but inefficiency of our schools is all wrong.

Do you hear of anybody kicking against our war appropriations?

Would you expect to hear of any complaint were a like amount raised for schools?

Whoever heard of an organized protest against school tax? Occasionally some grouchy old chap complains about having to pay a dollar or two after his children have become too old to go to school. And maybe an old bachelor or two raises a feeble howl about being taxed for schools without representation. But all the howls, protests and complaints bunched together won't amount to a whisper.

Get your figures, and get them down fine, as do politicians when they have a hot campaign on hand. Not only get them but use them, give them to the public, and make the most of them.

A great many people are under the impression that our schools cost far more than courts and prisons and police.

* * * * *

What the times demands is a system of education that will educate.

We have schooling a-plenty, but not nearly as much education as we need, and not half as much as we can stand.

The education that really educates is that which fits a boy to become an industrious, sober, upright man. Industry, honesty, sobriety are of more importance in the make-up of a useful citizen than his algebra, grammar and literature.

The man who is capable of taking on polish will very likely get it in good time. True polish is culture, and culture comes by associating with the cultured rather than by reading and study.

One of our old school preachers told us on Sunday that church attendance is falling off frightfully; also that the Sunday school is falling off wonderfully in efficiency.

And why all this? Is it due solely, or even largely, to human perversity? Or is it on account of inefficient teachers and out-of-date methods?

A system of education that was good a century ago, or half a century, or even a quarter of a century, if not entirely out-of-date now is nearly so, for the times won't let up in their demands no matter how loudly stand-still teachers may protest, nor how piteously the slow-go crowd may plead for a more leisurely pace.

Just at this moment a copy of the Los Angelos Times floats in and drops on the desk.

A fine display head on first page contains the announcement that Bob. Burdette has knocked the prize fighters out, and will for a year at least, keep the town practically free from disgusting displays of sluggers and bruisers.

This was accomplished by leasing Hazard's pavilion, the only place large enough to accommodate either a prize fight or a Burdette audience.

You may have sometimes wondered whether Bob would be as successful in the pulpit as on the platform. Here is what the Times says, and it will be good news to many:

"The year of the existence of the Temple church, and necessarily the extent of Mr. Burdette's ministry, has been one of remarkable success. When the congregation was organized it found the First Congregational just moving into their new church leaving the old one to be rented at once. In this church the organization took place with about 300 members, and it was aptly termed by one of the speakers as 'a church born full grown.' During the past year the membership has been increased by the addition of 190 new members and it is a live and enthusiastic body of Christians.

"The large auditorium has been regularly packed to the doors and hundreds have been turned from almost every service. This condition long ago led to the contemplation of a building scheme and if Temple congregation had been content with something of the ordinary kind it would by this time be in a church of its own.

"However, under the inspiration of their leader, the members determined to do something worthy of themselves and worthy the progressive city of which they are a part. The plan for the erection of a Baptist Temple, costing $1,000,000, designed to combine an up-to-date church building with a business block, and including a vast auditorium of which the city is in great need, to be rented just as they now propose to rent Hazard's pavilion, was taken up, and is now so far along that Mr. Burdette and his congregation confidently expect to announce the success of the undertaking by the time their year's lease has expired on the pavilion. In that event they would be compelled to make other arrangements during the building of the temple or release the pavilion."

* * * * *

"There is nothing that succeeds like success," is an old and rather odd-shaped saying, but contains a lot of common sense.

If you want to learn how to succeed go to those who are successful, and heed not those who stand upon the ruins of their business and talk and talk and talk.

Successful preachers and teachers are worth any amount more than those who have failed to keep pace with the progress of the times.

Why don't preachers, and elders, and pillars of the churches visit Col. Conwell's church in Phfiadelphia, and others where people are turned away from every service?

Instead of doing this preachers preach to empty benches, and scold the few who attend through habit for not filling the house.

Why don't Sunday school superintendents and teachers visit successful schools in other cities and learn how to run up-to-date schools? They may say they haven't the price. Then why don't the church and school send them? If these were as anxious for the saving of souls, and of lives, as they profess to be they wouldn't halt at the expenditure of a few dollars.

Do you imagine that live, practical business man would be satisfied to allow others to outrun him in the race?

Men will go to church, and children will go to Sunday school when they are made worth while going to.

Steamboat Service

RESPONSIBILITY OF THE OWNERS.

New York Tribune: One of the most convincing portions of the commission's report is that which touches the responsibility of the owners of the Slocum. The doctrine is enunciated that they are both legally and morally culpable for failing to comply with the law in respect to apparatus for fighting fire and an adequate number of suitable life preservers. The officers of the steamer are also blamed severely for not holding fire drills and thus familiarizing the crew with its duties in an emergency. These aspects of the case are not presented a whit too strongly. The conclusions here expressed are in harmony with those reached by the community long ago. Besides, inasmuch as the commission sees little prospect of improvement in the construction of excursion steamers, there is the greater necessity for emphasizing the obligations of good management.

+ + + +

Law Most Inadequate.

New York Times: Two facts stand out from the excellent report of the government commission as to the Slocum disaster. One is that the system provided by law for the regulation of steam vessels was most inadequately and shamefully carried out; the other is that the system itself is extremely defective. Back of these facts lies the essential element in the situation—that there is no motive power anywhere sufficient to secure proper and thorough work in the department of inspection, and none that acts on builders and managers of vessels sufficient to make them take the care that is quite possible of the lives of their passengers.

+ + + +

Inefficient If Enforced.

New York World: President Roosevelt in transmitting the report of the Slocum commission does well to emphasize the proposal of a reorganization of the "laws which are supposed to provide for the safety of passengers on steamboats."

The laws do not now provide for safety even when enforced. Disgraceful as is the fact, there is no power on earth today to compel the builder of an American excursion boat to make it either fireproof or collision-safe. Many an Atlantic liner has been in collision but saved by her bulkheads. More than one has lived for days with an obstinate fire confined to one of her compartments. But if an excursion boat is hit hard she sinks. If she catches fire she burns.

+ + + +

To Render Peril Difficult.

New York Sun: Besides punishing the officers found responsible for the Slocum disaster and the terrible loss of life therefrom, the government should take such action as will render it difficult hereafter for steamboat owners and lessees to imperil the lives of passengers. This can be done only by a thorough overhauling of the statutes under which the inspection service is conducted.

+ + + +

Every Steamboat Liable.

Philadelphia Press: The Slocum burning and slaughter is a fatality to which every excursion boat and almost every steamboat are liable. The attention which has been concentrated upon it and the indignation which it has aroused will work a reform. There must be better inspection, better life preservers, more competent crews and a pilot with better judgment that the General Slocum was afflicted with. If in addition the wooden, inflammable steamboat can be converted into merchantable kindling wood and iron steamboats, fire-proofed throughout, substituted in their place the awful horror of the Slocum burning will not have been for nothing.

+ + + +

Shocking Indifference to Safety.

Philadelphia Record: The inspectors disgusted the country recently by issuing a pretended report on this horror in which they whitewashed themselves. But they cannot get off so easily. Two have been indicted, one of whom, on a probationary appointment, has been dropped from the service. The president has ordered the dismissal of three others. Not only has the whole inspection system got to be reformed, but there must be such legislation and such enforcement of law as will compel owners and officers to recognize their responsibility and to perform their duties to the public. There has never been disclosed a more shocking indifference to the safety of the public than this report discloses on the part of the owners and officers of the Slocum, and presumptively of most other excursion steamers.

+ + + +

Ordered to Hew the Line.

Cleveland Leader: We may feel assurance that with the president's letter as an authority, a guide, and a mandate, subordinate officials in the cabinet and at heads of departments will hew to the line hereafter and that in the end passenger steamers flying the American flag will be made as safe as human provision can make them. Mr. Roosevelt again demonstrates this determination to do things when they need doing.

+ + + +

Chances For Corporate Greed.

Washington Star: Honest, efficient inspectors, working under the proposed laws, will reduce the danger to a minimum. But even with honest men in the service and with broadly drawn laws, there will be chances for corporate greed to lessen the cost of precautions and thereby increase the risk of disaster. Eternal vigilance is absolutely necessary. Perfunctory annual inspections, however embracing, will not prevent frauds from being perpetrated afterward. The inspection service must be so large that it will be possible for the government to descend suddenly and unexpectedly upon a passenger craft in mid-season and examine her from stem to stern to see whereln she may have been lowered from standard.

PRESIDENT WIRES KINDLY MESSAGE

Telegram Read at Banquet Tendered Pittsburgh Boomers by Columbus Board of Trade.

HERRICK GROWS FELICITOUS

Special Telegram From John F. Cowan, Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18.—Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio was the honor guest tonight in a brilliant banquet given by the Columbus board of trade to the Merchants and Manufacturers association of Pittsburgh. Two hundred representative business men of the two cities sat in jovial company around the board in the Chittenden hotel, uniting the commercial and social interests of Pittsburgh and the Buckeye capital. The gathering signalized an introduction of Pittsburgh enterprise to Central Ohio and was characterized by an enthusiastic reception to the visitors. President Roosevelt sent his greetings and best wishes by wire and the reading of his telegram was the signal for a wild demonstration.

F. W. Schumacher, president of the board of trade, was toastmaster. Gov. Herrick said he hoped to see more of Pittsburghers and to hear more of Pittsburgh. He said that the mutual meetings of boards of trade and similar organizations meant much for the commercial advancement of the whole country. When the governor concluded John Y. Bassell, secretary of the board of trade, offered a toast booming Gov. Herrick for candidate for president.

Acting Mayor George D. Jones followed with many kindly greetings for Pittsburgh. Manager Wardrop and other Pittsburghers were ready with brief, but apt responses.

There were quite as many back at home who were in the Columbus banquet hall in spirit and among the pile of telegrams of regret was the following characteristic message of John L. Dixon:

"Home contingent proffers greetings to business men of Columbus congratulating you, but sympathizing with the dear people of the Grand Old state in this their week of cyclones."

Mayor Hays sent his greetings and President James S. Wightman of Pittsburgh select councils wired congratulations for a glorious trip.

Other telegrams were received from the Logan Gregg Hardware Company, the Pittsburgh Dry Goods Company, H. J. Heinz, Arbuthnot-Stephenson Company, W. C. Baldwin of the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Co., John W. Garland, president of the Industrial National bank; the Pittsburgh Wholesale Liquor Dealers association, William V. Culley, president of the Pittsburgh Provision and Packing Company, Haworth & Heuhurst, Limited.

Brass bands, mill whistles and the hearty cheers of Buckeye state citizens paid a noisy tribute to the Pittsburghers at every town where the special train tarried. But it was no blatant reception, and in the band music, hoarse and shrill whistling and generous shouts of welcome, there was ever the fascinating chord of cordiality. The mists of dawn still hung over the picturesque valley of Tuscarawas when the train left Uhrichsville and ran up to the prosperous old town of New Philadelphia, where the people were on hand with carriages and automobiles to greet the visitors and show them the places of interest. A reception committee, headed by Mayor C. H. Ackey, escorted the strangers to the leading business houses, while pretty girls distributed New Philadelphia souvenirs and pinned carnations on every visitor's coat.

"There is no reason why New Philadelphia and this entire county should not enjoy closer commercial relations with Pittsburgh," said Mayor Ackey. "The fact that our industrial neighbor, Canal Dover, boasts of being the 'Pittsburgh of Tuscarawas Valley' kindles more sympathy for Pittsburgh than any of our neighboring cities, and all the people of your metropolis need to do is to stir things up a little. Then you will get the trade."

One of the merchants of the town added that the prosperity of the valley was substantial and that in the panics of 1873 and 1893 not a single firm had suffered any material loss.

There were no formalities in Canal Dover, whither the tourists went on special trolley cars. The town band played and the people were made welcome for an hour. Representatives of the Coshocton board of trade met the special train at Canal Dover and told how their townsmen were preparing to receive their guests. Flags were flying from every housetop and window and mill whistles raised a din when the long train of Pullmans drew into the town. A caravan of automobiles were in waiting, and a spin was taken around Coshocton's residence and manufacturing districts.

W. K. Crawford, T. L. Montgomery, L. E. Gallagher and C. B. McCoy extended the hospitality on behalf of the people of Coshocton. Among those at the station was John Burt, an old resident of the town, who was a brakeman on the first Panhandle train that entered Pittsburgh. Mr. Burt soon found congenial company in Frank Van Dusen, chief assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, who was a clerk in the Pennsylvania offices in the early days of the Panhandle. It was 25 years since they had last met, but both instantly recognized each other and spent a delightful afternoon in recounting their reminiscences.

A Newark reception committee met the trade boomers at the station and marched to the local Elks' club where refreshments were served from the brand that is well known in the valley of Monongahela. A ride in automobiles was taken, and at nightfall a cordial leave-taking followed. The Newark reception committee included F. W. Black, president of the board of trade; C. H. Spencer, W. H. Smith and C. W. Miller.

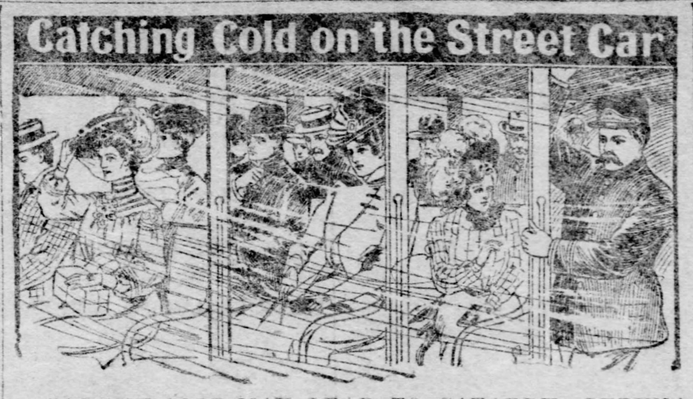
Catching Cold on the Street Car



"AS ANY COLD MAY LEAD TO CATARRH—PERUNA SHOULD BE KEPT IN EVERY HOME."—Dr. S. B. Hartman.

MANY people persist in riding on the street cars, insufficiently protected by clothing.

They start out perhaps in the heat of the day and do not feel the need of wraps.

The rapid moving of the car cools the body unduly. When they board the car perhaps they are slightly perspiring. When the body is in this condition it is easily chilled. This is especially true when a person is sitting.

Beginning a street car ride in the middle of the day and ending it in the evening almost invariably requires extra wraps, but people do not observe these precautions, hence they catch cold.

Colds are becoming very frequent in the summer on this account, and as the weather becomes cooler it happens still oftener.

During the month of October no one should think of riding on the car without extra wraps.

A cold caught in October is liable to last the whole winter. Great caution should be observed during the month of October against exposure to cold, until the body gradually becomes accustomed to the lowered temperature, when the liability to colds decreases.

But, during the first onset of cool nights, the liability of catching cold is great.

No wonder so many people acquire muscular rheumatism and kidney diseases during this month.

However, in spite of the greatest precautions, colds will be caught.

At the appearance of the first symptoms, Peruna should be taken according to directions on the bottle, and continued until every symptom disappears.

Do not put it off. Do not waste time by taking other remedies. Begin at once to take Peruna and continue taking it until you are positive that the cold has entirely disappeared. This may save you a long and perhaps fatal illness later on in the season.

Mr. George Livingston, a prominent architect and builder of Los Angeles, Cal., writes from the Census Office Building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I do not hesitate, when I see a friend or acquaintance suffering from a cold that is stubborn and threatening to become chronic, to recommend Peruna.

"It relieved me from a long and distressing catarrhal trouble and brought back the strength the disease had taken away. I recommend it as a cure and a tonic that cannot be surpassed."—George Livingston.

Mrs. B. Schober, 221 10th St., Portland, Ore., writes:

"I am pleased to testify to the wonderful curative value of Peruna in cases of colds and a rundown condition of the system. I took it for a cold which I could not get rid of, and in less than a month it had cured me. I feel like a different person.

"I now take it when I am run down and in need of a tonic, and I find it excellent in restoring lost strength. You certainly deserve success."—B. Schober.

We have in our files thousands of letters from grateful people who have been cured by Peruna.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio, and he will give you the benefit of his valuable advice gratis. All correspondence held strictly confidential.

fine colored dress Velveteens.

They have been scarce and are yet difficult to get, but we were fortunate enough to secure several cases in splendid shades of brown, navy, green and red—as well as black—that will be sold at $1.00, $1.25, $1.35 and $1.50.

The feature of this event is that the Velveteens are all of the superior qualities in such great demand for gowns.

Demand so great as has created a scarcity, owing to the inability of good manufacturers to keep up with it.

They are the qualities which have the appearance of real velvet, further enhanced by the beauty of the shades, which affects the desirability of the goods immeasurably.

We doubt the continuance of this opportunity or the probability of its recurrence.

SCENTS DANGERS IN SPECULATIVE BOOMS

Banker Vanderlip Declares That Conservative Policy Is Essential to Renewed Prosperity.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—Two years ago Frank A. Vanderlip, vice president of the National City bank of New York, in an address to eastern financiers, predicted the financial depression from which the country is now emerging. At that time the nation was enjoying flush times, and Mr. Vanderlip's prophecies were generally taken at a discount. Events proved the accuracy of his predictions.

When it was learned he was to deliver an address at the fourteenth annual convention of the Illinois Bankers' association here today there was general interest in money circles as to his deliverance. Mr. Vanderlip's address today was largely in the nature of an appeal for conservatism in banking and a warning against a speculative boom. He said in part:

We have learned some valuable lessons in finance, and the memory of the last two years reminding us of the results of the mistakes made at the height of the boom period is still keenly enough in our minds to warrant the belief that we will administer our financial affairs with a fair degree of common sense for some time to come. We have learned that there is not a new political economy, but, that, in spite of our vast resources, our growing wealth and our recuperative power, we must obey the same old sound laws of finance and commerce that have long ruled. I am convinced that possibilities of another great business expansion are at hand, but connected with those great responsibilities. Those responsibilities are largely on your shoulders. The bankers of this country will, in the wisdom of the administration of their trust, or in their lack of wisdom, have great influence on the beginning, the extent and the length of this next period of prosperity.

I cannot too strongly emphasize my belief in the importance of having our banks and financial interests prepared to play their proper part in the return of prosperity and the further development of business. We need banking laws that are wise and banking administration that is wise. Encouragement to a wild speculative boom at this time, when improvement is justified more by hopes and possibilities than by immediate actual conditions, might set the whole period of recovery back a month, six months, a year.

A great speculative boom now is not what is needed. It is indeed one of the special dangers. If bankers in the great centers are unconservative in the inducements they hold out to secure deposits, and accumulate great stocks of money which will loan at such low rates as to encourage unduly a speculative spirit, they will strike a blow at this returning prosperity which may long delay its coming.

I believe that the conditions are again favorable to a return of prosperity. I believe it is time for optimism. So long as we remember in humbleness our mistakes and hold close to a proper conservatism, the course of financial events seems likely to follow only one general direction; and that is toward improvement, toward expanding business and toward better times.

TROLLEY CARS COLLIDE.

Four Men Injured in a Smash-Up on the Tarentum Line Yesterday Morning.

Four men were hurt in a collision of street cars on the Tarentum traction line, near Tarentum, yesterday morning. Car No. 101, containing six passengers, had just passed Hamilton's switch on its eastbound trip, when it crashed into a westbound construction car.

The injured are Charles Leslie, motorman, left foot crushed and suffered internal injuries; Harry Klees, conductor, head and face cut; James Griffiths, conductor of construction car, cut and bruised; John Shultz, motorman of construction car, cut and bruised about the head and face.

The forward ends of both cars were smashed. None of the passengers was hurt. Responsibility for the accident has not been fixed.

AMERICUS CLUB IS IN NEW YORK

Fifth Avenue Cheered and Blazed as Famous Organization Marched to Station.

ADMINISTRATION'S DEEP GAME

Fifth avenue was ablaze last night with red fire and Republican enthusiasm. First the Americus club marched up the street, on its way to the Union station to take the train for New York, and later the James Francis Burke Republican club of the Nineteenth ward gave its initial parade in the downtown district.

The Americus club left the club house in Penn avenue 200 strong, and at 9:30 turned up Fifth avenue, preceded by Lannhardt's band. Friends and admirers of the club had stationed themselves along the street and burned red fire and shot off Roman candles, until the street was lurid with pyrotechnical effects. The sidewalks were lined with people, who cheered as the paraders, in their well-known uniforms, marched along.

The club left for New York on a special train. Tonight there will be a big parade and the Americus club will act as escort to the Republican vice presidential candidate, Senator Fairbanks, who is billed to make a speech.

Want a Speedy Election.

The Republicans of the Twenty-second ward will not postpone the holding of their primaries until Mayor Hays issues a proclamation for a special election to fill the vacancy in common council created by the resignation of the new city treasurer, John F. Steel. It is currently believed that the mayor thinks the election can be postponed until the regular municipal election in February, but M. G. Leslie, the Republican city chairman, holds that when Steel accepted the appointment as city treasurer he ceased to be a councilman and, therefore, according to law, the special election to fill the vacancy must be held within 30 days after the vacancy occurred.

The mayor's object in putting off the election until February is well understood. The administration has announced that it will support the Republican ticket at the election this week. If a special election were called in the Twenty-second ward, to take place within a week or two after the regular election day, it would be incumbent upon the administration to support the councilmanic candidate nominated by the Republicans. This, however, the administration does not want to do.

May Bar Out Citizens.

If it does not support the Republican and puts up a Citizens candidate, the Republicans will change the party rules so that the Citizens party cannot enter the Republican primaries next January to help nominate a candidate for controller. Not wanting to support a Republican for council and not caring to be barred from the primaries, the administration wishes to postpone the election of Steel's successor until February, hoping before that time either to have secured control of the Republican organization or to hold over the Republicans threats of bolting their nominee for city controller.

Mr. Steel did not take charge of the city treasurer's office yesterday, for the reason, as explained by the retiring treasurer, E. J. Frauenheim, that it was thought advisable to balance all books, so that Steel will find a balance sheet ready for him when he goes in.

Republican candidates for county offices next summer are plentiful. Many want to be commissioner. J. Carson Mercer will be a candidate for re-election; W. W. Mutray, ex-county commissioner, would like to fill the office again; the chief clerk of the commissioners' office, W. F. Siebert, wants to be promoted to commissioner, and Charles D. Fetterman, Mayor Falkenstein of McKeesport and Frank J. Klump are candidates for the lightning.

Other Candidates in the Field.

Former Sheriff Harvey E. Lowry wants to be county recorder, and so does Senator John W. Crawford. J. D. O'Neil, the incumbent, will return to the Republican party if he can get the Republican nomination. Capt. John A. Reed is making a canvass for the nomination for clerk of courts; A. C. Gumbert is expected to announce his candidacy for the same office and R. M. Kopp and Frederick Goettman of Allegheny intend to set up delegates. Frederick W. Edwards of Braddock and Andrew S. Miller of Bellevue are scouting for delegates for register of wills.

James F. Burke left for New York last night to engage in a speech-making tour for the national Republican committee. Matthew H. McNabb of Wheeling, representing the press bureau of the Republicans of West Virginia, was in Pittsburgh and secured the promise of the Americus, Tariff, P. C. Knox, C. L. Magee and Eleventh ward Republican clubs to parade in Wheeling on Saturday.

William C. Hill, the Turtle Creek councilman, against whom a writ of ouster was issued by the court, has 10 days in which to file an answer. The opinion was on a demurrer, and under the rules of the court Hill has the opportunity to reply.

The following Republican meetings, with the following Republican speakers, will be held this evening: Spring Garden borough, W. H. Graham, Capt. John A. Reed and H. I. Riley; Thirty-second ward, Boggs avenue and Delia street, H. H. Scott, Joseph C. Wasson and Matthew Lowrie; Thirty-first ward, Allen school, Allen avenue, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, William M. Benham and James M. Clark.

Enthusiastic Meeting Held.

A large meeting of Republicans in the Wickersham school, Twenty-fourth ward, was addressed last night by William M. Benham, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld and Charles H. Kline. Mr. Benham argued that as the Democratic party was insane on the financial question eight and four years ago, it would be unreasonable to commit its destinies of the country to it on the ground that it has now suddenly become sane. He contrasted the vacillating principles of the Democratic candidate for president with the firm, courageous behavior of President Roosevelt, who has never hesitated to give his views on public questions.

A. J. Edwards, Harry Diamond and William Metcalf spoke at a meeting of Twenty-fifth ward Republicans in the Morse school house. Mr. Edwards took up the Philippine question and answered Judge Parker's recent speech on that subject.

Harry S. Cummings of Baltimore, a negro who seconded the nomination of President Roosevelt in the national convention, last night spoke at a meeting of colored men in Arcade hall, Highland and Center avenues. He said the Democratic party in the south violated the spirit of the Fifteenth amendment, and if the Democrats got the opportunity they would disfranchise the negro in states farther north, as made evident by the effort to deprive him of his vote in Maryland. In Indiana it had been the intention to raise the cry that the Democratic party was the white man's party, but Thomas Taggart, the Democratic national chairman, vetoed the proposal. Cummings said an additional reason why the negro should vote for Roosevelt was Roosevelt's personality. With him as president every element of American nationality would have a fair chance, regardless of race, color or religion.

SENATOR REDFIELD PROCTOR RE-ELECTED FROM VERMONT

MONTPELIER, VT., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Redfield Proctor was today elected United States senator for the term beginning March 4 next. The senate is solidly Republican and Senator Proctor received every one of the 30 votes cast. In the house he had 205 votes to 31 cast for John E. Senetor of Montpelier, the Democratic candidate. Ten members were not present. The election will be completed tomorrow, when a joint assembly will be held to declare the vote.

LAYING OFF SPEAKERS AND EMPLOYES DAILY

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—All the work of the Democratic national committee from now until the election, and it will be little, will be done in New York and Indiana. The few practical politicians who have anything to do with Judge Parker's canvass realize that he cannot possibly be elected without these two states.

The campaign managers cannot figure out any combination of states that Judge Parker can possibly carry, that can elect him without the electoral votes of Indiana and New York. The national committee is very short of money and no new subscriptions are coming in. Employes are laid off daily and no new speakers or workers can be employed. The speakers still at work for the committee have nearly all been ordered to work in this state and Indiana from now until the end of the campaign.

Tom Taggart is the only man at Democratic headquarters who really believes Parker has any chance of carrying Indiana. Men who have been making speeches out there say frankly the state is Republican, and that there is not a chance for the Democrats to carry it. But Taggart smiles on and the other campaign managers are willing to let him have a chance to show what he can do in his home state.

Chairman Taggart said today he had read the canvass of the Republican campaign managers, published yesterday in The Gazette, giving 200 electoral votes to Roosevelt and Fairbanks. He wore a worried look while he talked about it, but he said that he had a canvass, too, giving Judge Parker a majority of the electoral votes, only principle forbade him to mention any figures or to name the states which would bring about the remarkable result he prophesied.

THE DEATH ROLL

Capt. William McB. Dravo.

Capt. William McB. Dravo died yesterday afternoon at his home, Thorn and Peebles streets, Sewickley, after a very brief illness. He was attacked by pneumonia a few days ago and at his advanced age was unable to resist the disease. Capt. Dravo was a well-known member of a family that has been prominent in Pittsburgh for over a century. He was born in this city on April 28, 1834, in what was then Hay street, now Fourth street, the son of Michael and Emeline Stewart Dravo and the grandson of Anthony Dravaux, a Frenchman who, settling in Pittsburgh in 1790, founded the Dravo family of this section, the name afterward taking the form it now holds. Capt. Dravo was sent to Allegheny college, Meadville, where he was graduated in the class of 1856. On July 7, 1858, he married Maria McCurdy of Meadville. From early manhood until his death he was identified with the river and coal interests of Pittsburgh, and was an important factor in developing both those lines of commercial activity. He was a devout supporter of the Methodist Episcopal church and took a prominent part in church work.

Capt. Dravo is survived by his widow and two children. The latter are William McD. Dravo, manager for the American Window Glass Company at Bellevernon, and Miss Eleanor Dravo. Capt. John F. Dravo of Beaver is a brother.

The funeral services will take place at the Dravo residence at 2:15 tomorrow afternoon and will be conducted by the Rev. J. J. Hill. The interment will be in Sewickley cemetery.

Mrs. G. L. Rutherford.

Mrs. Alice Rutherford, wife of G. L. Rutherford, died yesterday at her home, East Ninth avenue and Lock street, Tarentum. Mrs. Rutherford was of Quaker parentage, and was born in 1841 in Pittsburgh while her parents were on their way from Philadelphia to St. Louis. She married G. L. Rutherford in 1859 and the family came to Tarentum in 1889. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. Mrs. Rutherford is survived by her husband and the following children: James W., Arthur L. and Horace P. Rutherford, Mrs. J. A. Curry and Mrs. Albert Long, all of Tarentum; Mrs. Thomas Kennedy of New Kensington, Mrs. Hal Johnson of Apollo. Funeral services were conducted last evening by the Rev. C. M. Miller, pastor of the Tarentum Methodist Episcopal church.

Funeral of Benjamin F. Gibbs.

Funeral services will be held over the remains of Benjamin F. Gibbs at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. D. Bennett, 117 Bausman street, Knoxville, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made in the South Side cemetery. Mr. Gibbs was for many years a resident of Streets run, Mifflin township, and was well known in that vicinity. He died yesterday morning, aged 74. His widow and seven children survive: Thomas M. of Homestead, B. F. of Carnegie, H. Grant of Finleyville, William of Sistersville, W. Va.; Mrs. A. D. Bennett of Knoxville, Mrs. Adelia Henderson of Knoxville, and Mrs. Adaline Blackwell of Oakland. Mr. Gibbs was a member of Peters Creek United Presbyterian church.

Miss Martha Colwell.

Miss Martha Colwell, aged 52, died at her home, 32 Homestead street, North Homestead, late Monday night, after a long illness. She was born in Tarentum and was a daughter of Robert and Mrs. Sarah Colwell. The family formerly resided in Westmoreland county and Quincy, Ill. Two years ago Miss Colwell and her sisters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Margaret, moved to North Homestead. She is survived by her sisters and two brothers, Evander and W. S. Colwell, both of East End.

Mrs. Jane Harsha.

Mrs. Jane Harsha, widow of Thomas Harsha, died at Washington, Pa., yesterday, after a long illness. The following children survive: Ella, Elizabeth and Nettie Harsha, at home; Mrs. J. G. MacPherson, Philadelphia; the Rev. J. W. Hersha, Oxford, O., formerly of Pittsburgh; the Rev. R. B. Harsha, Taylorstown; Dr. J. V. Harsha and Dr. Charles L. Harsha, Canonsburg, and T. C. Harsha of near Washington.

Obituary Notes.

Melissa Connett, aged 80 years, is dead at the home of her nephew, Isaac Connett of Prosperity. She was a native of Washington county, and a life-long resident of that section.

Dr. Campbell Sheridan, for 55 years a practitioner in Johnstown, the oldest ruling elder of the Presbyterian church here, a member of the old Canal Boatmen's association and a native of Butler, died yesterday, aged 85 years.

James Aiken of Slippery Rock township, Lawrence county, son of the late Judge James P. Aiken, died Monday night at his home, after three weeks' illness from typhoid fever, aged 36 years. He leaves two brothers and four sisters.

John Murray, a prominent contractor and leading citizen, died suddenly at his home at Clearfield, Pa., yesterday. He was a native of Scotland, and leaves a widow and the following children: James McKay, New York; John, Pittsburgh; William W., Washington, Pa.; Mrs. W. F. Livingston, Clearfield; Mary F., Annie F. and E. M. Jarvey, at home.

Pittsburghers Chosen to High Offices.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—At the first day's session of the Pennsylvania grand lodge, American Order of United Workmen, the committee on returns and elections announced the election of these officers for the ensuing term: James J. Munn, Pittsburgh, grand master workman; Amos Bloom, Sunbury, grand foreman; M. E. Brigham, Philadelphia, grand overseer; Dr. P. Y. Eisenberg, Norristown, grand medical examiner; John W. Bickel, Norristown; W. T. Powell, Pittsburgh, and E. E. Hohmann, Johnstown, representatives to the supreme lodge. Supreme Master Workman William M. Narvis of Muscatine, Ia., made an address.

Ohio Company Gets Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Interstate commerce commission today gave a hearing in the case of the Media Coal Company of Ohio against the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, involving charges of alleged discrimination in the matter of sidetrack arrangement. The case was adjourned for 30 days with a view to an amicable adjustment of the sidetracking question between the parties to the complaint.

WHY
Pittsburghers
Look Well Dressed

They Do Not Buy So Many Clothes, But Take Good Care of Those They Have.

Pittsburghers have the reputation of being a well-dressed people. Although a "smoky city," the people here take care that their clothing does not look "smoky" or soiled.

This is because Pittsburghers send their clothing to Linnekin's when the clothing begins to look soiled. Linnekin's have a new process for cleaning which has become so popular that the company was obliged recently to enlarge its plant.

The new process not only cleans clothing, but seems to put new life into it. In any event, you don't seem to get tired of wearing the same suit for a considerable length of time if you have Linnekin's clean it. And if you once try it you will want this process and no other.

FAIRBANKS BUSY IN NEW ENGLAND

Tours Massachusetts and Rhode Island in Special Train, Making Brief Speeches.

GETS PRESENT FOR HIS WIFE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 18.—With a speech at Infantry hall in this city tonight, Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, the Republican candidate for the vice presidency, ended a busy day in New England, having made brief addresses at Pittsfield, Mass., Woonsocket and Pawtucket, where his special train stopped during the trip to this city. At each stop he was accorded a cordial reception.

The incident of the day which gave Senator Fairbanks the greatest pleasure occurred at Pawtucket, where he was met by a delegation from the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and accepted in the name of Mrs. Fairbanks, the national president of the organization, a large basket of flowers.

Upon his arrival in this city shortly after 4 o'clock, Senator Fairbanks was driven to Warwick, where he was the guest at dinner at the home of Senator Nelson W. Aldrich. After dinner the senator, accompanied by Senator Aldrich and Congressman A. B. Capron, drove to Infantry hall, where he made the principal speech of the evening.

PITTSFIELD, MASS., Oct. 18.—When the train bearing Senator Fairbanks reached this city at 11 o'clock today, the candidate, in accordance with a plan hurriedly arranged by telegraph, stepped to the station platform, where he was greeted by a crowd of several hundred people. Mr. Fairbanks made a brief address.

The feature of the reception was the greeting extended to Mr. Fairbanks by Capt. Jonathan North, 92 years old.

West Virginia Court Decision.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The supreme court of appeals today handed down opinions in the following cases heard at the Wheeling and Charleston term of court: Edwards vs. Moundsville Land Company, Marshall county, reversed and remanded; J. B. Williams et al. vs. county court of Mingo county, on application of writ of prohibition; writ refused; Cook vs. Cook, Harrison county, decree affirmed; Straight vs. Ice, Marion county, decree affirmed; Simmons vs. Simmons, Roane county, affirmed.

Dalzell Speaks at Greensburg.

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The Republican campaign in Westmoreland county was opened tonight with a monster mass meeting. Thousands of people poured into the county seat, and only one-tenth of them were able to gain admittance to the theater where the speeches were made. The meeting was presided over by Congressman George I. F. Huff, and the speakers were John Dalzell of Pittsburgh, Adjt.-Gen. Thomas J. Stewart of Philadelphia, and Robert K. Aiken of New Castle.

PARKER GAINING, DECLARES BRYAN

Says Silver Democrats Are Coming Back to Support Party Nominee.

PREDICTS SUCCESS IN INDIANA

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 18.—In a statement today William Jennings Bryan predicts Democratic victory. In handing over the statement he also said he hoped to do some good in Illinois later on and that he would try to get into Missouri after Fairbanks gets through there.

He would name no figures but wanted his statement to stand as an estimate three weeks before election. His statement reads:

"In so far as one can form an opinion from a hurried trip, gathering impressions from the action of the crowds and from the reports of reception committees, I should say that the chances of Democratic success are not so bright, but improving. From what I have heard there was considerable soreness just after the St. Louis convention among what are called silver Democrats, but I am satisfied that the soreness has constantly decreased and that there will practically be no silver disaffection when election day arrives.

"But the weeks that have elapsed since the convention have enabled these disappointed Democrats to take a more rational view of the situation, they see that they cannot hasten any reform in which they are interested by aiding in the election of Roosevelt. They see that every criticism that can be made of Judge Parker can be made of President Roosevelt and they also see that upon the issues most important at present Judge Parker represents what the party was fighting for four years ago and in addition to this they recognize that Mr. Roosevelt has brought in new issues which the Democratic party must oppose.

"From talking with Democrats along the line I am sure they are rapidly coming to an enthusiastic support of the ticket and if I can contribute toward this I feel that I have done my party good and my country good."

TERRE HAUTE, IND., Oct. 18.—A great ovation was accorded Mr. Bryan here. In the crowd he addressed were many miners.

A few minutes after Mr. Bryan left the speaker's stand at Linton, a section of the stand gave way, precipitating 200 people to the ground. The fall was but two feet, and no one was seriously injured.

BEDFORD, IND., Oct. 18.—The special train carrying William J. Bryan was more than two hours late arriving for the mass meeting tonight, which was the closing event of the program of the sixth day. The large audience, which listened for an hour and a half to his discussion of political issues, was attentive.

STILL TALKS OF CONSTITUTION

Parker Writes to Former Citizens of Ulster County Residing in New York.

HE RECEIVES MANY CALLERS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Judge Parker discussed the question of constitutional government in a letter read tonight at a meeting of citizens of Ulster county, N. Y., held at the headquarters of the Commercial Travelers league, 597 Broadway. There are more than 600 Ulster county citizens now living in this city and the attendance tonight was large. Judge Parker's letter in part was as follows:

The federal Constitution is a chart that sets forth the course the ship of state should sail to insure safe voyage. By it government is divided into three departments. Each department is to perform its proper and specified functions.

This is popular government in its most perfect form. So long as each department performs the functions, and only those, conferred upon it by the people through the Constitution, so long are we safe. Under Republican administration this rule has been disregarded. One of the branches of the national government has on occasion gone beyond its authority, and usurped functions withheld from it by the Constitution.

Therefore, this is in issue: Shall the ship of state sail by the people's chart, or at random?

In New Jersey the situation is reported to be far more complex than in any of the doubtful states. This was the judgment of former Senator James J. Smith, Jr., who called on Judge Parker and declared certain the election of Black for governor, and predicted that the Democratic electorial ticket will win also.

Edward Atkinson of Boston, Mass., discussed the Philippine island question with Judge Parker. Their conference was brief. A number of callers were received by Judge Parker late in the day. Among these were Col. Daniel S. Lamont, former secretary of war. Judson Harmon of Ohio, former attorney general, called. He has just returned from Europe and will enter into the campaign at once, speaking for the Democratic ticket in several states.

HOMELESS HUGHEY KEENAN DID NOT KNOW THE GAME

Hughey Keenan is a 16-year-old boy whose home is in Boston. He came here yesterday, hoping to find work, but last night saw him without the job or money to pay for lodging. Somebody directed him to Central station as a place where he would be allowed to sleep. He went in by the front door when nobody was looking and crawled behind the big door and went to sleep. There he was found a little later and locked up as a "vag."

WOMEN'S CLUBS FIGHTING DEATH

OPENING OF ANNUAL SESSION

Special Telegram From
Anna R. Stratton, Staff Correspondent.

LANCASTER, PA., Oct. 18.—There was no little excitement tonight in Lancaster, the brilliant reception which Miss Daisy E. Brooke Grubb, president of the Iris club, gave for the visiting club women, rivalling in interest the Republican demonstration and parade which filled the streets with red fire. Miss Grubb's reception is the opening social event of the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, and was conducted at her home in Lime street. There were nearly 600 guests. Receiving with the hostess were the officers of the federation and officers of the Iris club, while among the women who filled the house were representative women from all parts of the state.

The ninth annual meeting of the federation was opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church by the president, Miss Kate C. Macknight, who used on this occasion a handsome new gavel, the gift to the federation by Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig of the Woman's club of Pittsburgh. The gavel is made from wood taken from Independence hall in Philadelphia. Addresses of welcome were given by Miss Daisy E. Brooke Grubb, the president of the Iris club of Lancaster, on whose invitation the federation is meeting here this year, and by Chester W. Cummings, mayor of the city.

Civil service reform and a movement in the direction of an increase in teachers' salaries were urged by Miss MacKnight as special directions in which the federation shall use its influence during the coming year. The Pennsylvania federation has now a membership of 150 clubs, with an enrollment of 12,670 women. This is an increase of 13 clubs over the number reported a year ago. The secretary, Miss Mary Knox Garvin of Philadelphia, in correspondence with clubs and organizations throughout the state, ascertained that juvenile courts are held in 12 counties, with probation officers in 5. This work is done under the auspices and support of the clubs. Much time was given to the report of the health camps for consumptives on Mt. Alto, which was embodied in Mrs. Taylor Scarlet's report of the clubs of the eastern district, of which there are 56.

Dr. Rothrock, in charge of the forestry reservations on Mt. Alto, claims that but for the interest and support which the women's clubs of Pennsylvania had given him the consumptive camps would have had to be closed. Living there has been simplified to such an extent that with inexpensive buildings provided the patients can be kept at a cost of $3 a week for each individual. In 1903 there were 71 inmates, of whom 19 were discharged cured. The eastern clubs contributed $224 55 to this work, the Phoenixville club erecting a cottage.

The central district, whose report was presented by Mrs. Jonathan MacLanahan of Chambersburg, vice president, is the smallest of the three districts. It has 1,197 club women, as opposed to the 4,011 women reported in the western district. Mrs. Ida M. Houghton of Bradford, vice president of that district, also reported 70 clubs. Mrs. Houghton urged upon the convention the need of homes for convalescents discharged from overcrowded hospitals before they are really able to resume their place in the busy world. She spoke in a detailed manner of the work of the western club women, particularly those of Pittsburgh, who have secured two tenement house inspectors, under whose directions 8,200 houses have been inspected, 250 proving to be violating the law.

There is talk now of repealing the tenement house law because of the expense incurred to make the older houses conform to the provisions of that law. She spoke of the successful work of the summer playgrounds, to whose support all the clubs contribute. Not a single offender from the summer playgrounds has been brought before the juvenile court in Allegheny county.

Mrs. Houghton referred to the kitchen garden work as a saver of children from shiftlessness and the making of competent housewives. Tomorrow morning there will be a conference on the "Child and the State," among the speakers to be Mrs. Wilbur F. Rose of Philadelphia; Mrs. Ellis Lewis Campbell of Wayne, and Mrs. Florence Kelly of New York. The afternoon will be devoted to discussions on needed legislation, the juvenile court and state schools for truant and vagrant children. In the evening Mrs. Margaret Delland, the writer, will give a lecture and reading on "The Duty of Happiness."

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

SHARON, PA.—The Sharon Steel Hoop Company's mill has resumed operations after a shutdown on account of a scarcity of steel. About 800 men are affected.

WASHINGTON, PA.—The Washington plant of the Pittsburgh Window Glass Company resumed operations today, after a shutdown of many weeks. It is expected to have the factory running full by the last of the week.

SHARON, PA.—Christ Evangelical Lutheran church of South Sharon has extended a call to the Rev. M. Z. Undel of Fargo, and he will accept. The Rev. J. A. Frischkorn, who has been pastor, has resigned on account of failing health.

ERIE, PA.—Fred Hartman of Greene township has been digging for gold on his farm since last October, reports that the samples when analyzed in Boston showed $10 30 a ton in gold and $1 47 a ton in silver. He is giving away samples of the ore to excited neighbors.

BUTLER, PA.—In attempting to board a moving train at the Pittsburgh, Bessemer & Lake Erie station this morning William Orris, aged 40 years, a well-known oil man of Jefferson Center, was struck on the head. His skull was fractured and recovery is impossible. Mrs. Gustave Komochevitz stepped backward from a moving street car and was thrown on her head. She is now dying in the Butler County General hospital from concussion of the brain.

TWO ATTORNEYS ARE SHADOWED

ALDERMAN WAIVED HEARING

With all the hard work required in preparing cases against those who are charged with wrong-doing in Allegheny, Attorneys John C. Haymaker and John Marron are having some amusement to savor the routine of their daily task of considering graft charges and information. For the past week two of the North Side detectives have haunted the halls of the court house and have industriously followed the steps of the two attorneys. The latter were informed of this yesterday, and, just for fun, went to some trouble to dodge the sleuths. They used different doors each time they left the building, and for a time had the anxious disciples of Sherlock Holmes hotfooting to keep on the trail.

It is understood the detectives are stationed at the court house by Director Scandrett, so the identity of every witness summoned to the district attorney's office may be known to those in the North Side police department most particularly interested. The men are said not to relish the work, but dare not make any protest to their chief.

And Thieves Are Busy.

The presence of a number of the front office men in the Tenderloin every night for the past week has caused any amount of gossip, and there are many guesses as to what they are doing. Several women are credited with saying they have been warned to refuse to have anything to do with the prosecuting attorneys, and must deny what they have already told in the district attorney's office. None of those questioned would admit that anyone connected with the police department had given them any instructions, but it is understood that dire punishment is promised several women who have declared they will stand pat on the statements they have already made regarding the dealings they have had with the police.

While the police and detectives are busy nightly on their mysterious missions, the thieves who infest the First and Fourth wards are getting bold. James Murray, one of the thugs who held up and robbed F. R. Schmidt of St. Clair township in Lacock street about 9 o'clock Monday night, was held for court in $1,000 bail yesterday by Magistrate Samuel Abernathey. Mr. Schmidt was passing a pool room near Federal street. A sudden blow on the head sent him prostrate to the sidewalk, and in a jiffy his pockets were rifled and $45 taken. The victim set up an outcry and several hundred people were attracted to the corner of Federal and Lacock streets, but it was 15 minutes before an officer came along.

Man Arrested Was Identified.

Detective Johnson, who was in the neighborhood, took Schmidt to city hall, where Assistant Superintendent John Glenn heard his story. Johnson and England arrested Murray several hours later and Schmidt recognized him as one of the men who assaulted and robbed him.

Attorney John C. Haymaker yesterday said no informations had been made during the day and that no warrants would be issued for the arrest of anyone before this afternoon at the earliest.

Alderman Toole's office was crowded yesterday at the hour set for hearing the charges against Alderman Walter Wadsworth of Allegheny. "Lib" Stoner, the woman who is the chief witness against Wadsworth, was not present, but this was not necessary, as Wadsworth waived a hearing. Alderman Wadsworth came in, supporting himself with a cane. When Alderman Toole called the cases, the charges being extortion and malfeasance in office, Charles A. Locke, Wadsworth's attorney, conferred with Mr. Haymaker and then announced that Wadsworth waived a hearing. He was held for court in $500 on each charge. Wadsworth renewed his bail and departed.

ILL-TREATED WOMAN TAKES HER OWN LIFE

BROWNSVILLE, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Screams of children attracted neighbors to the home of Mrs. Tony Galeno, shortly after 6 o'clock this evening. Upon entering the house they found the woman lying dead on the floor, with a bullet wound in her breast and a revolver beside her. The woman had evidently shot herself in the presence of her three little children. Tony Galeno, the husband, is in the lockup here, having been arrested early in the afternoon, charged with cruelty to his wife.

WE couldn't sell cigars 30 to 50 per cent better in quality if we had to pay in-between profits to a lot of middlemen. So we buy and sell direct.

The manufacturers we buy of couldn't keep their cigars uniform year in and year out if they didn't know where every ounce of their tobacco came from. So they grow it themselves.

That's why it's impossible, outside of a United Store, to find such value as is represented in the

BETHEL TO LEAVE THE CONFERENCE

Unless Old Pastor Is Returned, Big Church Will Pull Away from Main Body.

A ROUSING MEETING HELD

Unless the Rev. I. S. Lee is returned as pastor of the Bethel A. M. E. church, Wylie avenue and Elm street, the congregation will withdraw from the Pittsburgh conference, elect the Rev. Mr. Lee as their pastor for four years and, at the end of that period, take the matter into the general conference and fight it out there.

That is the decision announced at a meeting held in the John Wesley A. M. E. church, Arthur street, last evening, by H. Chinn, chairman of the board of trustees of the Bethel church. The Bethel people are practically a unit in favor of the return of Mr. Lee. They turned out in great force to the meeting last night and came within an ace of being disappointed. The impression gained ground that it was to be a Lee meeting to indignate over the transfer of the reverend gentleman to the church at Wheeling, W. Va. Instead of that, it was to listen to an address from the Rev. R. D. Stinson of Atlanta, Ga., in behalf of a negro university he is head of in that city. But everybody thought it was to be a Lee meeting, and they packed old John Wesley church with indignation and enthusiasm. There seemed some hitch in the arrangements, and it was almost 9 o'clock before the services opened with "A Charge To Keep I Have."

Following this came a prayer and then the address of the Rev. Dr. Stinson. He spoke for almost an hour, when the Rev. Mr. Lee came in. Immediately the congregation broke out in applause and it was plain to be seen there were few if any others there than Lee people. Mr. Lee was called upon for an address and detailed something of his life. He told how he had been laboring for the church and that he stood ready always to obey the orders of his bishop. But, he said, he had hoped that he would be permitted to remain five years in Pittsburgh, as here he desired to educate his children.

When Mr. Lee ceased speaking Chairman Chinn of the trustees made his announcement. At a meeting of the trustees last evening a telegram was read from Bishop H. M. Turner of Atlanta, Ga., the senior bishop of the church, asking that the church should not withdraw from the denomination, but declare him, Turner, the bishop, and inform him regarding the trouble. At the meeting of the trustees it was unanimously voted that Bishop Turner should be recognized as the bishop of Bethel church. It was further decided to appeal for the return of the Rev. I. S. Lee as pastor, if the appeal is refused the church will withdraw from the conference.

Mr. Lee said the removal from this charge to Wheeling was part of a campaign which had been waged against him for 20 years. He had never supported the present bishop and voted against him when he was elected by the general conference. He thought this move was simply one to get even. He proposes to fight it out and settle the thing once for all.

A meeting has been called at Bethel church for this evening, but it is not likely to take place as Bishop Turner cannot get here from Georgia. The matter will be left to a council of bishops. It will consist of Bishop Turner, Bishop B. W. Lee of Wilberforce, O., Bishop B. W. Arnett of New York, and Bishop A. Grant of Indianapolis. It is thought that Bishop W. B. Derrick, the resident bishop, will be overruled and the restoration of the Rev. Mr. Lee to Bethel will be the outcome.

WABASH OFFICIALS TO CONFER ON LOCAL MATTERS

President Joseph Ramsey Arrived in the City Yesterday—Will Award Freight Depot Contract.

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash, arrived in Pittsburgh last evening to hold a conference with local officials regarding the erection of the freight depot and other construction work contemplated by the Wabash management. The conference will take place this morning, when it is expected the contract for the depot will be awarded to the American Bridge Company. It is thought the work will cost about $100,000.

President Ramsey came from St. Louis. Several days ago Vice President and General Manager J. W. Patterson of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad Company, went to St. Louis. While in the Fair city he conferred with President Ramsey and George Gould regarding local work. Nothing definite was decided upon but plans were discussed for entering McKeesport. It is certain that a connecting link will be built joining the Tube city and the Pittsburgh Terminal, which property was recently acquired by the Gould interests.

Mr. Patterson accompanied President Ramsey from St. Louis to Pittsburgh. At Rooks station some time was spent inspecting the work of erecting a big roundhouse. When seen last evening President Ramsey stated he was well pleased with the progress being made on the work.

President Ramsey took dinner at the Duquesne club, after which he left for Verona, where he spent the night with W. D. Holliday, assistant general freight agent of the Wabash.

"There have been no contracts for Pittsburgh work awarded recently," said Mr. Ramsey. "I expect the work of erecting the freight depot will be ordered after our conference tomorrow. I cannot say how, or whether or not we will enter Allegheny. That depends entirely upon circumstances. We expect to reach the McKeesport industries."

Mr. Ramsey spoke very highly of the cut-off between Mingo Junction and Jewett, which is to be put into operation November 5. He says this piece of railroad is equal to any in the country and fully reaches his expectations.

LARGE ODDS ON ROOSEVELT

Brokers Have Big Sums to Wager He Will Carry New York—Herrick Is Favored.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Charles H. Marshall, 2 Wall street, is commissioned to bet $4,000 or any part at the rate of 10 to 3½ on Roosevelt's election and $1,000 to $700 on Roosevelt carrying New York state. Wassermann Brothers are commissioned to bet $5,000 to $3,000 or any part that Roosevelt carries New York state.

Charles H. Marshall has an additional commission to bet $2,100 against $700 that Roosevelt will be elected president. Fred H. Brooks, 7 Wall street, today bet $3,000 to $1,000 that Roosevelt will be elected president and $1,000 to $800 that Herrick would carry the state of New York. He is also commissioned to bet $1,000 even money that Roosevelt will carry New York state by a plurality of 24,000.

A MOST WONDERFUL CITY.

Austrian Consul General Gives Unstinted Praise to Pittsburgh.

Adelbert Merle, recently appointed consul general for Austria in this city, has taken up his duties at 422 Sixth avenue. Mr. Merle, who has but recently come to America, said yesterday:

"To foreigners this country is a revelation. Pittsburgh is the most wonderful city I have ever visited. I never saw such workshops and mills nor such bustle and activity as is here displayed. My wonder at your enterprise never lessens."

His Gold Watch Was Lifted.

H. M. Ingoldsby of 307 Main street lost a valuable gold watch last night and thinks it was stolen from him. As he got off a Sharpsburg car to transfer at the forks of the roads in Penn avenue, somebody jostled him. He thought nothing of the incident until a few minutes later, when he missed the watch.

Policeman Fainted During Drill.

During the drill of the Third district policemen yesterday William E. Holmes, colored, of the East End station, fainted in the ranks. He was removed to his home, 5864 Monohalite street. His condition is said to be serious.

MAJOR DELMAR WINS GOLD CUP

Lou Dillon Was Out of Condition, but Was Sent in Just to Make a Race of It.

SWEET MARIE WAS A WINNER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 18.—C. K. G. Billings' Lou Dillon, the champion trotting mare, went down to defeat today before Major Delmar, owned by E. E. Smathers, in the third and last contest for the Memphis Gold cup, the feature race of the opening day of the fourth annual meeting of the Memphis Trotting association. After sustaining a terrific pace to the three-quarters pole in the first heat of the contest, it was apparent that the mare was in bad condition, and she was pulled up, Major Delmar winning in a jog.

Despite a critical examination by veterinary surgeons who pronounced the mare affected by an ailment known to horsemen as the "thumps," Lou Dillon was again brought out on the track by Mr. Billings and against the advice of the veterinarians, he announced that, as a matter of form, he would start the mare in the second heat. Major Delmar rounded the course in easy time, Lou Dillon following at a slow trot. Mr. Smathers, representing the New York Driving club, becomes the permanent owner of the cup.

The Diamond handicap was won in straight heats in easy fashion by Sweet Marie. The 2:01 pace furnished the most spirited contest of the day. Dan R., Gallagher and John M. each winning a heat. In the final trial, John M. won pulled up.

The track was in superb condition and ideal weather prevailed. Summaries:

WILL NOT PLAY W. U. P.

Wash.-Jeff. Has No Place for the Local Eleven.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The Washington and Jefferson football team had the first hard practice of the week at College park this afternoon. The varsity played wholly on the defensive today, the scrub team having the ball throughout the practice game. The defense was ragged in last Saturday's contest and the coaches are endeavoring to improve it. The announcement that Washington and Jefferson will play State college at Exposition park was received with satisfaction here. A member of the college athletic committee stated today that no game would be arranged between Washington and Jefferson and W. U. P. this year. W. U. P. has no right to expect a game after their conduct in past years, and the local schedule is filled, at any rate. W. and J. has already a hard schedule and no more hard games will be arranged.

AMATEUR FOOTBALL GAMES.

The Sheridan Indians go to McDonald next Saturday to play the Harkaways of that town.

The Bessemer Tigers want games with all 90- to 40-pound teams. Address Arch Reich, East Pittsburgh.

The Dallas A. C. on Monday night played a practice game with the Simon A. C. and was victorious 4 to 0.

Swissvale High school still has a few dates open. Write to N. O. Christy, manager, or call up 205-R Wilkins.

The Enrights would like to hear from all 30- and 35-pound teams. Address Bart Feeney, 908 West Lacock street, Allegheny.

The Smithvale Tigers would like to hear from all 35 to 40-pound teams. Address Albert Schmidt, Grand avenue, Allegheny.

The Yale Juniors would like to meet a good 20-pound team on Saturday, October 22. Address C. Wilson, 1110 Cabinet street, Allegheny.

Ben Avon Field club desires a game for Saturday at home. Call Bell telephone 98 J. Emsworth between 9 and 12 a. m. or 6 and 7 p. m.

Sewickley Y. M. C. A. challenge any first-class team for a game Saturday. Address or call up H. C. Bartholomew, Sewickley Y. M. C. A.

All 65-pound teams wishing games with the Coraopolis Tigers for Saturday, October 29, or any Saturday in November, write W. C. Helm, Coraopolis.

The Linwood A. C. of the East End still has open dates for all 85 and 90-pound teams for games address George Brandenstein, 1690 Lincoln avenue, East End.

Maplewood A. C. would like to hear from any 85-pound team for Saturday, October 22, also October 29. Call 1953 Court or address L. F. Kinley, 323 Fourth avenue, city.

The manager of the Devlins is requested to call 839 Court and ask for Wentworth. Devlins is scheduled to play Crescent second and Crescents wish to know if game is good.

The Seminoles of Allegheny have organized and desire games away from home. All 40 to 45-pound teams address H. C. Kneeland, 414 Sherman avenue, Allegheny, or call up Cedar 1194-J after 5:30 p. m.

Pastime Reserves will practice this evening at Central park. All players are to report at 7:30 in full uniform. All good 75-pound teams having open dates address W. J. McAllister, 2440 Bedford avenue, city.

Owing to cancellation, the Pequot 75-pound team is without a game for next Saturday. Any team with championship aspirations desiring a game on Pequot grounds can have same by addressing W. E. Gillespie, 507 Union station, city. The Pequots also have election day open for games on Pequot grounds.

A hot game is expected on Saturday when the Linwood A. C. will line up against the crack Brushton Mohawks at Brushton. All Linwood players are requested to report for practice Friday evening without fail and all those not reporting will be left out of the line-up Saturday. Fish and Davis of Flavels take notice.

Yesterday at Millvale Athletic park the Vermont and the Eckert teams came together in one of the prettiest contests put up by little teams this season. The Eckerts, although outplayed, put up a very plucky game, while the Vermonts, playing their first game, even surprised themselves by their fine work. Vermont won 26 to 0.

HUNTINGTON STAKES WERE WON BY AUDITOR

Was Warm Favorite for the Event, but Had to Do Some Fast Work to Win Out.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Auditor, backed from 6 to 1 to 3 to 1, today won the Huntington selling stakes, six furlongs at Jamaica. Et Tu Brute made the pace to the final eighth. Crimmins on Auditor, which had been trailing the field, then moved up and won, driving, by three-quarters of a length. Two favorites won. Summaries:

First race, six furlongs—Cairngorm, 110, Lyne, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, won; Sais, 104, Hildebrand, 9 to 2 and 8 to 5 second; Merry Lark, 98, Travers, 5 to 1 and 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 1-5.

Second race, selling, one mile and a sixteenth—Sidney C. Love, 108, Hildebrand, 6 to 5 and 1 to 2, won; Sais, 104, Burns, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Dimple, 98, Travers, 30 to 1 and 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:47 1-5.

Third race, one mile and a sixteenth—James F., 110, Wonderly, 7 to 1 and 8 to 5, won; Rapid Water, 126, Shaw, 1 to 2 and 1 to 5, second; Proceeds, 103, D. O'Connor, 20 to 1 and 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:48.

Fourth race, the Huntington stakes, selling, six furlongs—Auditor, 100, Crimins, 3 to 1 and even, won; Et Tu Brute, 105, Oliphant, 3 to 1 and even, second; Monet, 103, Travers, 12 to 5 and 7 to 10, third. Time, 1:13.

Fifth race, selling, six furlongs—Missing Link, 104, Schilling, 7 to 2 and 7 to 5, won; Viona, 103, Oliphant, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, second; Rudabeck, 105, Cochran, 7 to 1 and 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 4-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs—Arcott Bell, 109, Martin, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, won; Mill Bailey II., 112, Redfern, 4 to 1 and 8 to 5, second; Yeoman, 112, Hildebrand, 7 to 2 and 7 to 5, third. Time, 1:15.

MANY GOOD THINGS.

40-to-1 Shot Won the Feature Event on the Worth Track.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Long shots won three of the races at Worth today. Floral King was the only winning favorite, the other two events going to second and third choices. In the third race, the feature event, Lou Woods, at 40 to 1, won by a neck from Scortic, at 12 to 1. Clausus, at 10 to 1, was third, a length behind Scortic. Caraf, the favorite, was beaten off. Weather warm; track fast. Summary:

First race, 6 furlongs—Green Gown, 105½, Morrison, 9 to 1, won; Harpoon, 108, Robbins, 40 to 1, second; Pancreatic, 100, Hoffman, 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 3-5.

Second race, 5½ furlongs—Tom Mabin, 122, Troxler, 16 to 1, won; Flaunt, 119, Nicol, 9 to 2, second; The Musketeer, 122, Helgesen, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:09.

Third race, 1⅛ miles—Lou Woods, 98, Johnson, 40 to 1, won; Scortic, 98, Watson, 12 to 1, second; Clausus, 104, Morrison, 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:55.

Fourth race, 1 mile—Floral King, 98, Nicol, 7 to 10 won; Brancas, 110, Dominick, 7 to 2, second; Triumvir, 99, Johnson, 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:39 3-5.

Fifth race, 5 furlongs—Subtle, 100, Robbins, 16 to 5, won; The Belle, 110, Seamster, 4 to 1, second; Monte, 108, Nicol, 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:01.

Sixth race, 1⅛ miles—Glenwood, 101, Foy, 6 to 1, won; Jingler, 98, Shaver, 3 to 1, second; Reckoner, 98, Hoffman, 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:55 2-5.

BROWN'S HORSES WON.

While Owner Lay in Sick Bed His Colors Were In Front.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Notable features of the second day's racing at the Jamaica course today was the double triumph of horses running in the name and colors of Capt. S. S. Brown. He lies on a sick bed recuperating from an operation, and at the close of the afternoon, when word was conveyed to him of the dual success of his "Cherry and Blue."

The more important victories of the two was when Auditor won the Huntington stakes, selling allowances, at six furlongs. Wholly unexpected was Capt. Brown's second victory of the afternoon, when Knot Belle came from behind the pacemaker, Bill Bailey II., who had plenty of early speed, and won by a small margin. She had opened at 3½ to 1, and rapidly went back in the betting until she reached 15 to 1, which was the closing figure.

WARRANT FOR WALCOTT.

Prize-Fighter Charged With Manslaughter He Is Unable to Leave the Hospital.

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—A municipal court warrant was granted today for the arrest of Joe Walcott on a charge of manslaughter. Walcott was not able to be taken from the hospital today. With his powerful right hand, with which he won fortune and fame, shattered and useless, Walcott lay on a cot in the City hospital, careless of his own pain and injury and moaning in grief for his friend Nelson Hall, whom he accidentally shot to death last night.

The wife of the victim was confined to her bed today. In a statement to your correspondent she fully exonerated Walcott.

COLLEGE GOLF PLAYERS.

Yale and Harvard Teams Take Lead on First Day.

HAMILTON, MASS., Oct. 18.—The annual inter-collegiate golf championship began today at the Myopia Hunt club, with the first round of team matches. Harvard met and defeated the University of Pennsylvania, 5½ to 0, while Yale disposed of Princeton by a score of 5½ to 1½. The winners will meet tomorrow for the championship.

The play today was for 36 holes, 18 in the morning and 18 in the afternoon, an agreed system of scoring being used. The surprise of the day was the defeat of Frank O. Reinhart of Princeton by Max Behr, the leader of the Yale team. Reinhart was two down in the morning and five down in the afternoon.

BACK TO THE FARM.

Rube Waddell Returns With as Many Trunks as a Prima Donna.

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—George Edward ("Rube") Waddell, the great baseball pitcher, accompanied by his wife and with bird dog and shotgun and 12 trunks and valises, arrived in Butler today, and after dinner secured a spring wagon to take him and his possessions to his father's home at Piano.

Rube is to play guard on the Butler football team and next week will entertain a hunting party of professional ball tossers at Piano.

One More Victim of Football.

ERIE, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Charles Shreva, aged 12 years, died at his home in Union City yesterday from injuries received in being kicked in the head in a football game.

The Oakland board of trade has decided to give a banquet November 17. The decision was reached at a meeting last night. A committee on speakers and other arrangements was appointed.

Slippery Rock Normal Beaten.

SLIPPERY ROCK, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The strong Westminster Reserves defeated the Slippery Rock normal here today 10 to 0 on a touchdown and goal from field. The Reserves were much heavier than the Normals, but the locals held them for downs repeatedly, and but for fumbles would have scored two touchdowns and won.

OPENED DOOR OF HER HOME TO RECEIVE DEATH WOUND

Young Farmer Under Arrest Pending Investigation Into Girl's Shooting.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 18.—May Nickler, the 18-year-old daughter of Benjamin Nickler, was fatally wounded by a pistol shot at her home in Normalville, a mountain town, 10 miles east of here, last evening. Her alleged assailant, William Rose, a farmer, is in the Fayette county jail pending investigation.

Yesterday afternoon the girl was left alone while the others went to Connellsville. The girl says she heard a knock at the kitchen door. She opened it, and a man she believes to be William Rose, fired at her. She was found by her uncle at night, after his return from Connellsville. Dr. J. G. Pratt, who examined the wound, found that the bullet had entered the breast an inch above the heart and had lodged in the left lung.

Owner Wanted for an Automobile.

The Oakland police have an automobile which they are trying to get rid of. The machine, which bears the number "285," was found, evidently deserted, at Forbes and Atwood streets about midnight Monday. All efforts to locate the owner yesterday were without success.

CECIL ALLEY WIDENING WAITS ON HENRY PHIPPS

Director Bigelow Will Not Have Ordinance Passed Until Property Owners Sign Agreement.

Director Bigelow said yesterday that while the ordinance for the widening of Cecil place, between Liberty and Penn avenues, would be introduced at tonight's meeting of common council, the ordinance would not be passed until the affected property owners signed an agreement to pay enough benefits to equal the amount of damages which will be allowed the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the appropriation of 30 feet of its property in the east side of the alley.

The director said his experience with the Hamilton avenue opening had taught him that the best plan was to get the property owners to sign before any step toward the improvement was taken. One of the property owners whose signature is wanted is Henry Phipps and Director Bigelow said he would have to wait until Mr. Phipps came to Pittsburgh to get his signature. He did not know when Mr. Phipps would come to Pittsburgh. In the meantime the ordinance will lie in the public works committee.

Hospital Society Organized.

LATROBE, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—At a large mass-meeting held last evening for the purpose of ascertaining the public sentiment regarding the proposed hospital for Latrobe sufficient funds were pledged to warrant an organization to be known as the Latrobe Hospital association. Committees will be appointed to secure a building and fittings. The physicians of the town will give free service in addition to cash contributions.

Imposter Posing as a Labor Leader.

During the past few months labor organizations have been suffering from imposters. Scarcely a week passes but what some person pleads poverty and succeeds in swindling money from the unions. A case on the South Side differs somewhat from the usual run. A man is representing himself as a collector for the molders and machinists unions. These unions have no collectors soliciting and have so notified the police.

COACHES WORK HARD AT YALE

OTHER TEAMS AT WORK

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 18.—Despite summer heat Yale's football squad was given another terrific "two halves" of scrimmage practice today with catching of punts and specialty work before and between the halves. Former Captain "Brink" Thorne joined the coaching staff, devoting most of his time to the halfbacks and also to Shevlin, who, unhappily, came in for another scolding. The big end rush persists in tackling high and in trying to put men down by arm strength, instead of diving to make the tackle sure. Because of his undoubted superiority when he shall have rounded into form, however, the coaches spent more time on Shevlin than on any other three men.

The varsity scored once in each half today on simple tactics, but in defense there was much to be desired. The scrubs, by using the revolving attack that strikes between tackle and end, riped up the regulars for good gains but could not sustain it to a touchdown. In the second half the varsity in four rushes from mid-field, after taking the ball on a fumble by the scrubs, rushed the ball to a touchdown, the actual running being by Turner twice, Shevlin and Stevenson once each.

That Yale's coaches have at last wakened up to realize that "fancy football" may win a game for Yale as well as for others was seen in the practice by Bowman today of placement kicking. His work was not brilliant. Bloomer said today that he will not return next year to be a candidate for the captaincy and Coach Mitchell settled all doubt in his own case by saying that he will not play football this year.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—A hot, sultry afternoon did not induce Coach Warner to let up today on the hard work that he is giving the Cornell varsity in preparation for their game with Princeton a week from next Saturday. The varsity, intact with the exception of Cook, at left tackle, who was the only absentee, was lined up against the scrubs, the second team being given the ball on the varsity's five-yard line and the regulars ordered to protect their goal. All orders were of no avail. The scrubs pushed over for a touchdown and to the surprise of even Coach Warner repeated the operation five times in succession.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Penn's football team was given its last fierce scrimmage practice prior to the Columbia game with Swarthmore at Swarthmore. Beginning tomorrow there will be secret practice at Franklin field and, while Coach Williams will give his team some snappy practice, still it is not expected to be as vigorous as the play today.

Penn showed some improvement today, but the team couldn't satisfy the coaches. Swarthmore put up a strong defensive game and the red and blue team only got in one touchdown by play from the field, that being a 30-yard run around the end by Reynolds. Drake got another touchdown, the result of a blocked kick near the goal line. Corson dropped a goal from field from the 20-yard line.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—It was the second eleven's day in the daily practice of the Harvard university squad on Soldiers' field this afternoon. The scrubs scored twice, while the varsity scored but once. The work of the varsity was ragged and poor throughout; it could not head the second eleven once they got inside the 25-yard line. But the practice was full of sensational features in spite of the unsatisfactory work.

On the first kick-off Captain Hurley ran from the varsity's 10-yard line for a touchdown behind good interference, in which Hugh Kernan did some excellent work. The second's first touchdown was made by steady rushing, while the second was made when Pope gathered in a fumble and ran around the end. Walter Randall, captain of the baseball nine and a varsity sub halfback last year, joined the squad today. James O'Connell, a former sub-tackle, was also out. Parkinson played at center on the varsity today, and Brill was back in the scrimmage, playing at left tackle.

COLLEGE JUNIORS VICTORS.

Defeated South Side High School Reserves by Fast Play.

The Pittsburgh College Juniors were again victorious yesterday afternoon, when they defeated the South Side High School Reserves 12 to 0 in a well-played game on the latter's gridiron. The contest was a good one from start to finish, both sides hotly contesting for every inch of ground. The Juniors, however, had the better of the argument at every period of the game, their team work on the offensive and defensive being almost perfect and their plays being run off without a hitch. The High school lads made a steady stand, but the collegians' fine team work was a little too much for them. Lineup:

BRADDOCK TEAM WON.

Defeated Swissvale High School by a Large Score.

The Braddock High school football team won a well-played game from Swissvale H. S. yesterday afternoon, the final score being 49 to 0. All of B. H. S.'s backs were good ground gainers, breaking through Swissvale's line time and again. The first touchdown was made in three downs. Score and lineup:

B. H. S.—49.		Swissvale H. S.—0.
Hamilton-James	L. E.	Crane
McCully	L. T.	Watkins

EVERYTHING IS READY FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

State and Wash.-Jeff. Teams Will Arrive Here Saturday Morning—Both in Fine Trim.

Manager Grubbs of W. & J. and C. E. Aull, who represents State college, will meet in this city city this afternoon and make the final arrangements for the big football game which will be played at Exposition park next Saturday. Under the contract signed by the two teams Monday night the field privileges are to be limited to the newspaper representatives, officials of the game and substitutes. The object of this provision is to protect spectators who prefer to watch the game from behind the ropes. A large crowd on the side line would obstruct their view.

It has been decided to reserve the entire grand stand and the coupon tickets which are shipped from Philadelphia last night will be here today. Manager Grubbs will take a block of tickets to Washington and the others will be placed on sale at Pratt's tomorrow morning. While here tomorrow, Manager Grubbs will also confer with the Allegheny police officials and arrange for ample protection to teams and spectators Saturday.

Manager Smith of State College returned to Bellefonte to prepare for the trip. The State team will probably arrive here Friday night. Its headquarters have not been selected. The W. & J. eleven and subs will not come until early Saturday morning. The players will remain at the hotel Duquesne as usual until time to go to Exposition park.

C. E. Aull defended W. U. P. last night for allowing the annual game between State and W. & J. to be played here. "The permission proves that W. U. P. is going to keep its promises," said he. "State agreed last spring to give W. U. P. the Thanksgiving day game here. At that time few persons believed that Coach Mosse would succeed in developing a strong team in one season as he seems to have done. In consideration of our agreeing to come here for the holiday, Coach Mosse assured Coach Golden that he would not stand in the way of a State-W. & J. game in this city. This promise was kept faithfully and in the end I believe W. U. P. will be the gainer."

The players of the W. U. P. team indulged in light signal practice yesterday afternoon and for the balance of the week there will be secret practice. A large number of students will accompany the team to Beaver Falls on Saturday, going over the P. & L. E. in a special car.

WILL FIGHT IN ENGLAND.

Young Corbett and Jabez White Have Been Matched for Big Side Bet.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—As a result of several weeks of negotiations Young Corbett and Jabez White, the English lightweight, have been matched. The pugilists have agreed to battle in London about the first of the year for a purse and a large side bet. The fighters will meet at 130 pounds and Charley White will be the referee. Charley Mitchell, the former English heavyweight champion, acted for Jabez White and will back him heavily in the coming fight.

When the match between Young Corbett and Jabez White was first discussed the former wanted the English pugilist to meet him in this country. Charley Mitchell, the latter's representative, refused, claiming that the bout could not be held here without a chance of it being held up at the last moment.

In London the affair can be conducted without interference, and this was the point which caused the matchmakers to decide upon England as the battle ground. It is not known here what effect this will have on the proposed fight with Battling Nelson, or whether it will take place before or after the trip to England.

WOMEN PLAY FOR CUP.

Miss Carol Cochran Captured Prize by Good Play.

The women of the Edgeworth club had another delightful afternoon on the links yesterday. The event was an 18-hole medal play competition for a subscription cup. It was won by Miss Carol Cochran, who, after the contest, served tea in the clubhouse. The cards returned were:

Miss Carol Cochran	102	12	90
Mrs. G. E. McCague	114	15	99
Miss Bertha Taylor	100	0	100
Mrs. W. N. Kerr	109	6	103
Mrs. F. C. Ewart	111	7	104
Mrs. O. D. Thompson	107	0	107
Mrs. G. P. Rose	130	18	112
Miss Elizabeth Wardrop	128	10	113

Withdrew—Mrs. E. L. Allen, Mrs. F. E. Rutan, Mrs. W. A. Luce and Mrs. T. H. W. Smith. There will be a similar competition a week from next Thursday at the club.

Sophs and Freshmen Will Meet.

The Pittsburgh college sophomore team will play the W. U. P. freshmen this afternoon on the bluff. The sophs will be decidedly weakened by the absence of Gray from fullback, who was injured in last Saturday's game with McDonald. It will no doubt be a very hard contest, but the collegians are confident of victory. Sophs will line up as follows: L. E. Rankin, L. T. Baum, L. G. McGrath, C. Yellig, Troxall, R. T. Laux, R. E. Cready, L. B. Dowling, L. H. Murphy, R. H. Nolian, F. B. Keating.

Every Style of Fall Coats for Women, Misses and Children.

There is not a mode which fashion favors this season that cannot be found in the immense assembly of women's, misses' and children's coats on our second floor. Here is a style-exposition planned with a most lavish hand.

Such enormous stocks and so wide a selection can only be found in one store of Western Pennsylvania—and that is here. Every woman naturally desires to make the best possible choice in buying a coat and when so large a gathering is presented at such uniformly attractive prices—then choosing is easy and satisfactory. You never saw such amazing values in stylish coats as right here and just now.

Most stores mark at extravagant profits at the beginning of the season, just because goods are new and everybody wants them, but not so with us. These coat values illustrate how low our prices are just when they will do you the most good. We are not trying to see how much we can get for these coats, but how good a coat we can give for your money.

We ask you to compare the styles—note the workmanship—consider the prices—and then you will realize that our coat stock stands supreme and this is THE place to buy.

Coats in all lengths—coats that are shower proof—coats that are fur lined and coats that show every trend of the prevailing fashions and when you come to pay for them, you will find that you have saved money by buying here.

LARKIN TO HOLD UP NEW PAYROLL

Ordinance Passed by Select Council Creating New Filtration Positions Is Defective.

MAYOR HAYS HAS SIGNED

Mayor Hays signed 99 bills, ordinances and resolutions yesterday which were passed by select council Monday. Among the most important of these measures was one illegally drawn. It provides for the employment of 21 additional men in the bureau of filtration, entailing an additional yearly expense to the bureau of $21,740. Controller Larkin will not pay the salaries under this ordinance because of a technical defect in the measure, and councils will have to pass an entirely new ordinance to correct the mistake, having failed to make the proper amendment before the present ordinance was passed.

The ordinance provides for the following additional employes: One principal division engineer, not to exceed $225 per month; one first assistant engineer, not to exceed $150 per month; four draughtsmen, not to exceed $100 a month; four transitmen, not to exceed $85 per month; four levelmen, not to exceed $75 a month; four rodmen, not to exceed $80 a month; two clerks, not to exceed $75 a month; one blue printer, not to exceed $40 a month.

It will be noticed that the word "each" has been omitted after each class of employes, and in paying these employes the controller will be unable to determine whether four draughtsmen shall receive $100 a month between them or each shall receive $100 a month. The natural inference is that the intention of the person who prepared the ordinance was that each draughtsman should receive $100 a month. The controller, however, requires that ordinances creating positions and providing for salaries shall be specific and leave nothing to be inferred. He will take no action until after Director Bigelow has appointed the 21 new men, and when their payroll for the filtration bureau is received by him he will refuse to approve it and hold up these salaries until councils rectify their mistake. The same thing applies to the transitmen, levelmen, rodmen and clerks.

The ordinance providing for the employment of additional men in the bureau of water to install meters has not yet passed select council because it is in the unfinished business of that branch, which was not reached Monday, although it passed common council in July. The filtration ordinance only passed common council at the last meeting of that body and was messaged to select council Monday and put through on the same day, because it came up ahead of the meter ordinance in the order of business.

THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O. Oct. 18.—The stage of the river at 6 o'clock this evening was four feet and stationary. Weather clear and cooler. Today's departures were: Katie Mac, Portsmouth, and Lizzie Bay, Louisville. The funeral of the late Capt. Thomas S. Royse, who died in the Old Men's home last night, will take place at 10 a. m. from the home on Thursday. The awards for the construction of the boat and the Columbia relief boat have been awarded to the Sheridan Kirkup Company of Madison, Ind. The work on the construction will be commenced at an early date and finished within five years.

STEUBENVILLE—River three feet one inch. Weather clear and warm.

PARKERSBURG—River three feet and rising. Weather clear and hot. The Bessie Smith left at noon for Wheeling.

WHEELING—River three feet and stationary. Weather cloudy and warmer. Down: H. K. Bedford, noon, Parkersburg. The owners of the T. N. Barnsdall and Leroy have concluded a deal by which they exchange the boats and the Barnsdall will enter the daily Wheeling-Clarington trade.

POINT PLEASANT—River 1 foot five inches and falling. Weather clear and pleasant.

GREENSBORO—River six feet and stationary. Weather fair and warm. Columbia down Wednesday, Woodward up.

OIL CITY—River one foot six inches and falling. Weather clear and warm.

At 9 o'clock last night the marks on the gauge at the Davis Island dam indicated a stage of three feet and the river was stationary.

HODGES INSPECTS WORK.

Seemingly Well Pleased With Bear-Trap Dams in Local Rivers.

Major F. H. Hodges of the office of the chief engineer of the United States war department arrived in this city yesterday morning and spent the day with Major W. L. Sibert inspecting the dams in the Ohio and at Herr's Island. Major Hodges is particularly interested in beartrap dams and studied them and their workings carefully with a view to recommending them in further river improvements. He was well pleased with the dams he inspected here and left for Washington again last evening. The report that Major Hodges is here to investigate the charges made against Major Sibert by the Union Bridge company is incorrect as no investigation is to be made. The secretary of war simply announced that he could ignore the charges and that was the end of it. The bridge company is allowed until December1, to raise its bridge, but it is more than probable that it will ask for another extension of time.

Capt. William H. Stafford has represented Pittsburgh harbor with a copy of "The Western Pilot," published in 1849. It gives maps and a description of the rivers from Pittsburgh to New Orleans. With the exception of new dams and dikes, the Ohio river presents much the same water for the pilot it did in 1849, but the Mississippi shows many changes. The books is to be bound and kept in the Harbor library.

The Braddock went to the Sixth pool yesterday with six empty flats in tow.

The excursion boat Beauty has made her last trip for the season and is tied up at the wharf above the Smithfield street bridge.

The R. L. Aubrey is on the Manchester docks. When she is taken off the Mayflower will take her place.

The deal for the steamer Leroy, owned by the Clarington packet company, has been completed, as has that for the purchase of the steamer Barnsdall. The Barnsdall is to run in the local trade in the future and is to be fitted for the excursion trade for next summer. The Leroy will come to this city in her regular trade but, in place of running to Clarington, will go on through to Marietta.

Helen Keller Day at Fair.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—Helen Keller day, in honor of Miss Helen Adams Keller of Boston, who though born deaf, dumb and blind, has acquired national fame through her success in acquiring a remarkable education, and the only person in whose honor the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company has designated a special day, was celebrated at the world's fair grounds today.

WILL NOT HANDLE UNFAIR MATERIAL

Tile Layers' Union Declares War on Eastern Firms, Delaying Work on Many Buildings.

EFFECTS CONTRACTORS HERE

The tile work on hundreds of buildings throughout the country is being delayed because the Tile Layers' union refuses to handle material it claims unfair. The order from the executive officials of the union reached Pittsburgh yesterday, and several men were called off buildings.

The trouble started a month ago when a Washington (D. C.) marble firm was declared unfair, due to a misunderstanding between the employes and employer. A tile manufacturing company of Perth Amboy, N. J., was notified not to sell any material to the Washington firm, but paid no attention to the request, and was placed in the unfair list. Since that time the union has been endeavoring to secure a settlement, but the employers say they violated no contract and will not make any concessions.

The Perth Amboy concern is one of the largest in the country and delivers the material in nearly every city, and the union has ordered all its members to refuse to handle the material.

This order is embarrassing several local firms. They have contracts under way, the material for which has been ordered or is already delivered. They cannot cancel the orders or return the delivered material. Consequently, the work on the buildings will be delayed until the trouble is adjusted.

There were several small strikes yesterday, affecting from two to a dozen men. Business Agent Daniel Gildernew of the bricklayers, declared several jobs unfair and withdrew his men. Business Agent Kosatsch of the masons had similar trouble and ordered several of his men to lay down their tools. The plasterers had trouble with a contractor in a downtown department store and stopped work.

The Builders' Exchange league has taken up the dispute with the tile workers. It was decided at the last meeting that all scales to be signed the first of the year embody the first eight cardinal principles set down by the National Building Trades employers' association, which was formed in Chicago about 18 months ago.

PROF. MAYER GOT A MEDAL FROM HIS CLEVER MUSICIANS

The first free band concert of the present season at Braddock, under the auspices of the trustees of the Carnegie Free Library of that place, given by the Carnegie Free Library band, had several interesting features last evening. Prof. William L. Mayer, director and organizer of the band, was presented with a beautiful gold medal from the members of the band by Harry J. Baird, manager of the Carnegie club. The band was organized and the concerts are given through the patronage of Thomas Morrison of this city, a cousin of Andrew Carnegie.

Miss Cecilia Loftus.

Comedy will reign at the Nixon next week, where Cecilia Loftus will make her debut in Pittsburgh as a star, appearing in "The Serio-Comic Governess," a four-act modern comedy by Israel Zangwill. Admirers of Miss Loftus in former days, when she was in reality a vaudeville artiste, will be gratified to learn that during the progress of the play she gives some of her best known imitations of great players, notably Ellen Terry, Ada Rehan and Bernhardt.

Mr. Pipp.

Charley Grapewin, as the festive Mr. Pipp in the musical comedy, "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp," is the attraction at the Duquesne theater next week, when this droll comedian will be seen at the head of his own company of 50 people. The plot is as fickle as it is funny, and with Grapewin in his drunken scene and the many specialties which he introduces in the play, from a standpoint of uniqueness, surpasses anything of its kind.

Missionary Society Elects Officers.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—The American Christian Missionary society of the Christian church today elected these officers: President, E. L. Powell, Louisville; vice presidents, A. C. Smithers, Los Angeles, W. H. McLain, St. Louis, and C. C. Kindred, Chicago; secretary, J. F. Gormley, Portland, Ore.; treasurer, C. A. Neare, Cincinnati. The next meeting will be held at San Francisco.

SOCIETY

BEWITCHINGLY dainty gowns, beautiful music and superb floral decorations characterized the wedding of Miss Lois Fleming Miller and Cameron Beach Waterman of Detroit as one of the most brilliant and representative of the season. The marriage was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, the Rev. Dr. Robert Waddington Grange, rector of the church, officiating. The bride, who is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Miller, entered the church on the arm of her father, preceded by the ushers, Eben Byers of Allegheny, Lawrence Butler of Detroit, Dudley Blossom and Henry Curtiss of Cleveland, Alexander Cameron of Brooklyn and George Graves of New York; the maid of honor, Miss Ruth Miller, and the bridesmaids, Miss Gertrude Childs and Miss Louise Kay of this city, Miss Minnette Clarke of Port Hope, Canada, Miss Ernestine Tappey of Detroit, Miss Ysabel Bonnell of Youngstown, and Miss Mathilde Hammil of Trenton, N. J.

The bridal robe was an exquisite creation of soft white crepe de chine with trimmings of rose point and duchesse lace. A transparent yoke of lace was finished with a soft bertha of the same and the shirred sleeves had long lace cuffs. A panel of the lace was arranged down the front of the skirt, which was fashioned with a full court train. Orange blossoms fastened the tulle veil which fell to the end of the train, and the bridal bouquet was a huge cluster of white orchids showered with lilies of the valley. The bride wore a pearl and diamond pin, the gift of the bridegroom, and a pearl and diamond necklace, Mrs. Miller's wedding gift. Miss Miller, the maid of honor, was gowned in turquoise blue chiffon. The bodice was patterned after the draped surplice style so much in vogue at present, and the skirt was gathered full at the waist line. Delicate lace was arranged in bolero effect, above which was a thin yoke of the same, while around the bottom of the skirt were two deep ruffles of lace. The elbow sleeves were shirred their full length in the middle and the finishing note was given the toilette by a smart hat of white lace with ties of soft blue ribbon and couches of the same color in the ribbon trimming, which was combined with Prince of Wales plumes at the front.

The bridesmaids were all gowned alike in heliotrope chiffon made after Miss Miller's gown, and their hats were trimmed with heliotrope instead of blue. Quite a note of distinction was given by the heliotrope chiffon muffs they carried. The muffs were large and soft, with clusters of orchids in their center. Miss Miller carried white gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Seldom if ever has the Church of the Ascension presented a more beautiful appearance. At the sides the windows were banked with ferns, and over the pillars clambered southern smilax, while up the center aisle were wicker standards of heliotrope chrysanthemums, just matching the bridesmaids' gowns. Huge white chrysanthemums were massed at both sides of the chancel amid the thick banking of palms and Cibodian ferns. High at the back of the chancel was draped a delicate vine in arch effect. The decorations at the house were equally beautiful. Pink chrysanthemums were used on the bridal table placed upstairs, while in the dining room were yellow orchids. Immense heliotrope chrysanthemums contrasted with the coloring in the drawing room and dark red asters were tastefully arranged in the library. Autumn foliage formed a network up the side of the staircase, at the foot of which was a very large cluster of white chrysanthemums.

At the reception at the Miller home following the ceremony Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Waterman, mother of the bridegroom, received with the young couple. Mrs. Miller's gown was superbly fashioned in Louis XVI. style of pink brocaded satin and rich lace. Among the wedding gifts, which filled an upper room in the house, was a handsome silver tea service from Mrs. Waterman. The out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Davenport Waterman; Mrs. George Lothrop and Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Tappey of Detroit and Miss Laura Barnum of New York. After their wedding trip Mr. Waterman and his bride will be at home in Detroit, having announced days at home after November 1.

Martin-Rohrer.

An interesting home wedding last evening was that of Miss Gertrude Martin, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Martin, and Frederick Findley Rohrer, which took place at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in North Highland avenue. The bride's father performed the ceremony, the attendants including Mrs. William Cooper Bond, a sister of the bride, as matron of honor; Miss Margaret Martin, another sister, and Miss Eleanor Rohrer, a sister of the bridegroom, as maids; little Miss Mary Kirkpatrick Harris as flower girl; Allen Kirkpatrick, Jr., as best man; Jay Frank Rohrer and Dr. John Lachlan Martin, brothers of the bridal couple, as ushers. A gown of white crepe meteor and point lace was worn by the bride, her tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried white roses and lilies of the valley. The ceremony was performed in the hall before the immense stone fireplace which was almost hidden beneath masses of ferns and palms. Only the immediate relatives and most intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, but a large reception followed later in the evening. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Rohrer will be at home in Hampton street, Wilkinsburg. The bridegroom is connected with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company in East Pittsburgh. His father, F. C. Rohrer of Harrisburg, and Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Harris of New Castle were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Armstrong of Lang avenue, Homewood, over the wedding.

Gross-Campbell.

Miss Hannah Criswell Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Z. Gross of Harrisburg, Pa., and John Campbell, formerly of Pittsburgh, superintendent of the hanging and furnace department of the Central Iron and Steel Works of Harrisburg, were married at 6:30 o'clock last evening in the Pine street, Harrisburg, Presbyterian church, by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. George S. Chambers. Both young people are well known in the social circles of Harrisburg, and their wedding was attended by a large circle of friends, including several Pittsburghers. Miss Gross was attended by Miss Anne McCormick of Harrisburg, as maid of honor, and Miss Elise Haldeman, Miss Marie Chamberlain and Miss Julia Bialkie of Harrisburg and Miss Annie Campbell of Pittsburgh as bridesmaids. Mr. Campbell's best man was his brother, Charles Campbell of Pittsburgh. The ushers were Alfred Campbell, Dick Campbell and Frank Campbell of Pittsburgh, also brothers of the bridegroom; Henry McCormick Gross, a brother of the bride, and Mayor Vance C. McCormick of Harrisburg. The ceremony was followed by a small reception at the home of the bride. After a wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will be at home to their friends in Harrisburg. The members of the bridal party were entertained at a dinner last night at the Country club.

Sautter-Jones.

A pretty wedding took place last evening in the English Lutheran church of Sharpsburg, when Miss Katheryn Sautter, daughter of Charles G. Sautter, was married to Albert D. Jones of Etna. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Main, pastor of the church. The maid of honor was Miss Leah Sautter, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Nellie Donahue of Brushton, Miss Lyda Kelly of Pittsburgh, Miss Jean Loudon of Etna. Little May Weston, a niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. The ushers were Richard Thompson, Charles F. Elszler and Joseph Calvert of Etna, and William F. Cunningham of Sharpsburg. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, after which Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a wedding trip to St. Louis. They will be at home in Etna.

Of Interest in Club Circles.

The women of the Lawrenceville New Century club are making arrangements to hold a meeting in memory of Miss H. Elizabeth Corey, who died during the summer. Miss Corey founded the club and for three years was its president. The club celebrated its fifth anniversary yesterday, the members observing president's day in the rooms of the Young Women's Christian association in Fortieth street. Mrs. J. J. Covert, the president, presided.

A special meeting of the Women's Press club has been called for October 25 at the home of Mrs. Anthony Smith, Jr., in Ellwood street. Mrs. C. I. Wade, who leaves shortly for a lengthy sojourn in California, will be the guest of honor. Mrs. Wade will give a short talk on "Early Journalism in Pittsburgh."

Sawert-Seaton.

St. Andrew's Evangelical Lutheran church, in Center avenue, was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, when Miss Lydia Cathern Elizabeth Sawert became the wife of Dr. Leander Miller Seaton. The bride was given away by her father, Frank William Sawert, and was attended by Miss Nellie Sawert and Miss Clara Seaton as maids of honor and Miss Elizabeth McKenna, Miss Mary Hays, Miss Laura Hammer and Miss Delia Nieman as bridesmaids. The ceremony, at 8 o'clock, was followed by a small reception at the home of the bride in South St. Clair street.

Will Wed Today.

The wedding of Miss Florence Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Crawford, and Elgin Alexander Hill will take place this evening at the bride's home in Rippey street. Miss Clara Evaline Crawford will be her sister's maid of honor, and two smaller sisters, Miss Rebekah Irene Crawford and Miss Sarah Grace Crawford will serve as flower girls. George F. Alexander will be best man and the ushers will include Richard W. Martin and Robert K. McConnell. The Rev. H. H. Martin, pastor of the Seventh United Presbyterian church, will perform the ceremony.

To Study Civil Service Reform.

The Woman's club of Ben Avon met yesterday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. F. A. Schmucker. "What Queen Victoria Did for Women" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. Nelson Ferguson. A review of current literature was given by Miss Louise Knox, and current events were discussed by Mrs. W. H. S. Thomson. In response to a letter from the state federation of women's clubs it was decided to devote one meeting this season to the subject of civil service reform.

Burbeck-Clark.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The marriage of Miss Lucy Adaline Burbeck, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Burbeck, and King C. Clark of Pittsburgh was celebrated last evening at the home of the bride's parents in First street.

Miss Martha Englehardt of St. Johnsville was maid of honor and the best man was Kenneth Clark, brother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will reside in Wellsville, O. Among the guests from out of town were Mrs. Cyrus Clark of Pittsburgh.

Hoyt-Ross.

The wedding of Miss Helen Hoyt, granddaughter of Mrs. Catherine Hoyt of Selby avenue, St. Paul, Minn., and William L. Ross of this city took place last evening at the bride's home. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Maurice D. Edwards, pastor of the Dayton Avenue Presbyterian church of St. Paul. There were no attendants. After December 1 Mr. Ross and his bride will be at home in Pittsburgh.

Smalley-Hughes.

Arthur Hughes, son of Thomas Hughes of Sheraden, and Miss Lottie Smalley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smalley of Allegheny, were quietly married last evening at the home of the Rev. J. S. Hutson, pastor of the Beth Eden Baptist church, in the presence of the immediate families. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will make their home with the bride's parents, in Superior street, Allegheny.

Morning Wedding at Wilkinsburg.

The marriage of Miss Margie Blossom Britner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Britner of Swissvale, to George Littler, of the same town took place yesterday morning in the Trinity Reformed church, Wilkinsburg, the Rev. Paul S. Leinbach officiating. The church was handsomely decorated. Mr. and Mrs. Littler left for a tour south, and on their return will live in Schley avenue, Swissvale.

Rehearsed the Wedding.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Mary Frances Bracken of this city and Walter King Cooley of Mt. Vernon took place last evening and was followed by a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Stoney, Jr., brother-in-law and sister of the bride-elect. Miss Bracken's gifts to her attendants were dainty pins and Mr. Cooley presented his best man with cuff buttons. The wedding will take place this evening at Mr. and Mrs. Stoney's home in South Negley avenue.

Quiet Wedding This Evening.

A quiet home wedding this evening will be that of Miss Gertrude Rapp Baum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Baum of Rebecca street, East End, to Dr. Howard Arthurs. The Rev. Robert Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Dr. William P. Shrom, pastor of the Fourth church. The only attendants will be Miss Katherine Baum and George Mohn.

Christy-Goodwin Nuptials.

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—In the presence of friends and relatives, Miss Jean E. Christy was married this morning to Guy W. Goodwin at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah M. Christy. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Archibald R. Robinson. The groom is a son of William J. Goodwin.

All-Day Hospital Sewing.

Mrs. Theodore Stonerod, president of the Ladies Association of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday association, has sent out a notice of the all-day sewing that organization will hold at the free dispensary building tomorrow. All members of the association are urged to attend early and take a luncheon with them.

Dinner in New Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Paul gave a dinner last evening in the new Oakmont Country club for their daughter, Miss Alice Knox Paul, and her fiance, Clarence Van Dyke Tiers, whose wedding will take place in St. Thomas' church, Oakmont, this evening. The dinner followed the rehearsal for the wedding.

Ferguson-McMurray.

The wedding of Miss Flora Ferguson, third daughter of Mrs. Sarah Ferguson of Hamilton, Ont., and George E. McMurray of the West End took place last evening at the residence of the Rev. Mr. McClelland, pastor of the Mt. Washington Presbyterian church. Cards announce Tuesdays in December as at-home days.

Celebrated Their Golden Wedding.

NEW CASTLE, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Prof. and Mrs. W. J. Kirker of this city last night celebrated the golden wedding anniversary of their marriage. They are the parents of 17 children, of whom 11 are living. All but one were present at the golden wedding.

Autumnal Ball in Bellevue.

At the Bellevue club last night the autumnal ball was given by the entertainment committee of the club. About 150 guests were present. The dancing was followed by a banquet. There were cards, a shuffle-board and Manhattan pool for those who did not dance.

CONFUSED BY STREET CARS.

Bellevue Council Asks the Railways Company to Change Its Signs.

Because of confusion arising from a change in the schedule of street cars on the Bellevue and Avalon line, Bellevue council last night requested the Pittsburgh Railways Company to mark the cars "Bellevue and Avalon." Formerly "Bellevue" and "Avalon" cars were run alternately, the former going as far as the line between the two boroughs. By an order, which went into effect Monday, all cars go to the end of the line. These are marked "Avalon."

Councilman D. W. Hubley, who offered the motion, said a party of women had stood at Carnegie hall, Allegheny, for nearly an hour yesterday waiting for a Bellevue car, and had allowed several Avalon cars to pass, not knowing that they passed through Bellevue.

AGENTS.

IF A 2-CENT STAMP WILL SAVE YOU HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS AND YEARS OF SUFFERING AND ANNOYANCE,

wouldn't it be a pretty good investment? If you are a sufferer from Catarrh or Deafness, send a 2c stamp to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio, and they will mail you a sample of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm, which has been proven by thousands to be the only immediate specific cure for all forms of Catarrh and its kindred affliction, deafness. Easily applied, gives instant relief and you'll thank us for the advice. For sale by druggists. If not, a full-sized jar will be sent prepaid on receipt of 50c. But send for the sample first. That'll prove the claims of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm.

"The sample you sent me did me a world of good. After using it I bought a jar of the balm in the drug store near our house and I now have my catarrh cured at last. My friends, to whom I recommended the balm and who are now using it, are all pleased with it."

WANTED.

Always be sure to mention that you saw this adv. in The Gazette.

Agents

AGENTS—Wanted in Pittsburgh and natural gas towns to sell the famous Williom gas light burner; it excels all other high-power burners in brilliancy, durability and economy; makes fully 300-candle power light with one small regular sized 10-cent mantle; last indefinitely. The new Williom No. 5, just out, is the KING OF LIGHTS for residences and stores; can be used on high or low pressure; either ARTIFICIAL OR NATURAL GAS. Its illuminating power is three times greater than that of the ordinary burner; any mantle or any style globe or chimney can be used. It is a light that never fails. It is the only DUST PROOF light in existence. The air holes are enclosed by a perforated shield which excludes all lint and dust from the burner. It is the easiest regulated of all gas lights. The Williom side screw regulator is the simplest and best adjustable gas check ever devised. The flame can be regulated from the highest to the lowest point of consumption, thus saving the consumer 25 or 30 per cent on his lighting bills. People who use the Williom "No. 5" have the satisfaction of knowing that every atom of gas they pay for is turned into light. We are offering special inducements to agents; the best of the season just starting enabling them to make $5 to $15 a day.

BULLS RETAIN CONTROL OF NEW YORK MARKET

Trading Less Active and Prices Were Irregular, but the Close Was Firm—Crucible Preferred Lower—Coal Preferred Higher.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The dealings in the New York stock market yesterday were about 400,000 shares smaller than on Monday, but they were still of enormous volume and were attended by considerable excitement. The market was feverish and prices irregular, but there was evidence of manipulation for higher prices, and at the close the bulls were still in control. London prices for American securities were about at the New York parity, and foreigners were sellers at the opening. The feeling abroad seemed to be somewhat depressed by the reports of Japanese reverses, and in the London market Japanese bonds broke 1½ per cent. This incident, however, was lost sight of in Wall street, and cannot be said to have had any influence upon the course of the market.

At one time during the day a score of stocks, representative of both extremes of the market, advanced to the highest prices of the year. Among these were St. Paul, Northwest, Delaware & Hudson, Consolidated Gas, Reading, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Missouri Pacific, Wabash preferred, the Erie issues, Iowa Central, Texas Pacific, American Ice preferred, Republic Iron & Steel preferred and the U. S. Leather issues. Some of these stocks have been neglected in this movement, and their activity and strength merely reflected operations on the theory that in a bull market all stocks are entitled to rise.

Professional traders were inclined to work for a reaction during the early part of the day, and this attitude, together with the foreign selling, caused some recession in prices during the first hour. The declining tendency was checked, however, by renewed strength in the Harriman stocks and St. Paul, and the easy manner in which Steel preferred recovered to within a small fraction of the highest of the year. There were several periods of irregularity during the afternoon, but later in the day the whole list became strong, and final prices showed net gains. Steel common closed unchanged for the day, the preferred stock and the bonds were ¼ per cent lower, and other industrial securities were only fractionally changed. Leather common closed 2⅛ per cent higher for the day, the preferred 2 per cent higher and Sugar 1⅝ per cent higher. Iowa Central averaged 2 per cent higher, St. Paul 1⅞ and the Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading and the Erie closed at fractional gains.

Accompanying the renewed strength in the former leaders there was a report that a deal was being arranged whereby Union Pacific would acquire control of St. Paul by paying $200 a share for the latter, payable in bonds, the deal being similar to that by which Burlington was acquired in 1901. The Erie advanced on the theory that this system would be utilized for an eastern outlet for the proposed combination.

Wall street was inclined to lay considerable stress upon the address of Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip before the bankers' convention at St. Louis yesterday. Mr. Vanderlip is a vice president of the National City bank of New York. Rightly or wrongly, he has been credited with being the mouthpiece of this great Standard Oil institution. Two years ago he addressed a bankers' association at Wilmington, and his remarks on that occasion were taken as a warning of the reaction which soon followed in the stock market. It is inferred that Mr. Vanderlip's remarks on the present situation, which were very optimistic, had been submitted for approval to the financiers of the great institution which he represents. This inference may be unfounded, but it is the one taken by Wall street, which several days ago had an intimation of the general tenor of his remarks.

The call loan market remained easy and unchanged, and the feeling in the east is very confident of a continuation of present monetary conditions.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange there was a falling off in the dealings, but the business was better distributed. The market was irregular, but at the close losses and gains were evenly divided. Late in the afternoon Crucible Steel preferred, which had sold at 42½, became weak, and efforts to sell caused a quick decline to 40⅞, the market closing at the decline. The common stock sold off to 6¾, but was in good demand at the decline. U. S. Steel common and preferred closed only slightly lower. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was again pressed for sale in the early dealings, but quickly recovered and advanced to 72⅞. In the final dealings it reacted to and closed at 72, a net gain of a dollar a share. The common stock rallied to 17. National Fire Proofing common declined to and closed at 8¼. The preferred was quoted ex-dividend at 29½, which was equivalent to a net gain for the day of ¾, dividend on. Manufacturers Light and Heat declined from 39⅜ to 38¾. Pittsburgh Plate Glass was strong, selling at 125, and Union Switch and Signal common rallied $2 to 72. Air Brake sold unchanged at 133. Electric was very strong and at one time rallied to 85½, closing near the top.

SECOND AVENUE SALE AT PROFIT

Hartje Brothers Sell 240 to Max Friedman for $17,500 More Than They Paid.

RESIDENCE DEAL NEAR PARK

A record-breaking deal from the standpoint of profit was the sale yesterday of 240 Second avenue for $27,500, or exactly $17,500 more than was paid for the lot four years ago. Hartje Brothers were the sellers, and the purchaser was Max Friedman, who takes the property for an investment. The lot measures 40x80 feet on the north side of the avenue, a short distance below Wood street and directly opposite the new warehouse of Weaver, Costello & Co. An old one-story, iron-covered shed, used as a paper storehouse, is the only improvement. This sale is indicative of the rapid rise in property near this corner since 1901, and figures at the rate of $687 50 a front foot, or $8 60 a square foot. It is reported that the new owner will build a four or five-story warehouse on the site.

Through the Commonwealth Real Estate Company Frederic G. Kay has sold to a retired business man one of his new houses on the south side of Northumberland avenue, between Forbes and Murdoch streets, Twenty-second ward, for $18,000. The residence is a modern stone house of 15 rooms on 50x140 feet. The finish is hardwood, and in addition to the usual modern improvements, the kitchen floor and walls are tiled, something which is rarely found in houses of this price. Two tile bath rooms are provided on the second floor, and a big billiard room on the third floor. The property is near the Murdoch entrance to Schenley park, making it especially desirable from the point of location.

New Agents and New Prices.

Two announcements concerning the Bellefield dwellings at Center and Bellefield avenues and Dithridge street are of more than passing interest. One is that the owners, F. T. F. Lorejoy and R. C. Hall, have appointed Samuel W. Black & Co. additional agents for the property, which was previously handled exclusively by the Home Trust Company. The other is that the rentals, which were first fixed at $2,500 a year, have been reduced to $166 a month. The latter announcement should aid very materially in filling up the dwellings, which is without question the most elaborate apartments in the city. The houses are sumptuously arranged, and are provided with every convenience known to the builders' art. It is in the service provided that the tenants of the dwellings will have the greatest advantage. From suto storage to window cleaning and janitor service nothing has been omitted for the comfort and convenience of the dwellers. The dwellings are only five minutes' walk from Fifth avenue and the Shadyside station, and are easily reached by all the leading East End car lines.

It may be remarked as a curious fact in connection with this building that Pittsburgh people are not yet educated up to the point of paying house rents proportionate to the cost of the buildings. In New York, Philadelphia and Washington it is nothing for a man to pay from $5,000 a year up for a home. But the number of $3,000 residential leases in Pittsburgh can be counted easily on the fingers of one hand. Instead of paying high rents Pittsburghers are more accustomed to buying high-class residence properties on which the interest and taxes often amount to more than this sum and which are many times sadly lacking in many of the conveniences provided in the latest type of the apartment hotel.

MANY LINES OF PRODUCE OUT OF LOCAL MARKET

Liberty Street Dealers Report No Stock in Many Kinds of Garden Stuff.

The local concession on flour was dropped again yesterday and the price is now back to what it has been for several weeks, $6 50 and $6 55 a barrel. It is not likely that any more concessions will be granted until the wheat market has showed a decided tendency to get back from the present high figures.

In all other lines of groceries business is excellent. Dealers are a little afraid to buy flour, fearing the bottom may drop out of it unexpectedly. Only enough to meet immediate demands is being purchased and no stock is being carried. The millers are reported to be running short on wheat, and this may have a tendency to move the price up still higher.

In fruits and produce business is extremely good and prices in all lines are firm. Potatoes at the store have shaded off to 55c and 60c a bushel, but remain the same at the track. Grapes are off a cent, but the price is expected to go back again in a day or two, although some dealers claim it is now about time for fruit to hit the low record. Business this week shows a great improvement and all the dealers along the street are in an excellent humor. The receipts of fruit and produce yesterday are reported as follows:

Apples, 5 cars, making 60; cabbage, 4 cars, making 21; grapes, 5 cars, making 48; pears, 7 cars, making 30; potatoes, 10 cars, making 65; sweet potatoes, 1 car, making 18; turnips, 1 car, making 7; miscellaneous, 2 cars, making 22.

HAY AND GRAIN RECEIPTS

Receipts of hay, grain and feed at the several railroad yards yesterday were as follows: Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 3 cars corn, 5 cars hay, 2 cars feed, 3 cars oats; Baltimore & Ohio, 5 cars oats, 11 cars hay, 1 car straw, 2 cars feed; Pennsylvania lines, 9 cars corn, 1 car corn and oats, 16 cars hay, 14 cars oats, 1 car straw, 12 cars bran.

All lines in the hay and grain market held firm yesterday. Corn is in as good demand as ever. Best hay is strong at full quotations. Poor hay or stained stock is not being taken and will not likely be until late in the winter. Rye holds up well in sympathy with wheat. The supplies in all lines is just about equal to the demand.

IMPROVED DEMAND HELPS THE PRICES OF WHEAT

Poor Grading of Newly Marketed Spring Product Another Powerful Influence.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Improved demand for cash wheat in all domestic grain markets was largely the cause of an advance of 1½@2c in speculative wheat prices here today. Poor grading of newly-marketed spring wheat was another powerful influence. At the close December corn was up ⅝@¾c and oats a shade. Provisions show a gain of 10c to 15c.

The strength of the wheat market developed after a weak opening. Under the influence of heavy northwestern receipts and lower prices at Liverpool, initial quotations showed a considerable decline, December being down ½@⅝c at $1 11¼@1 11⅜. May was off ½@⅝c to ¾@⅞c at $1 10½@1 10⅝. The obstacles to the upward progress of values, however, were soon overcome, as upon analysis of the depressing factors the bearish significance was alleged to be of small account. In the first place many traders seemed to believe that the market at present is governed largely by the existing domestic situation, the action of foreign grain centers having apparently little effect. The increased receipts in the northwest did not appear so extremely bearish when it was seen that in the Duluth arrivals there were 97 cars from Oregon, which made the actual northwestern spring wheat receipts at that point smaller than those of the preceding year. There was also claimed to be abundant evidence in the inspection returns from Minneapolis and Duluth that the spring wheat crop was noticeably poor as regards its quality. These factors gave the bull crowd the necessary leverage with which to hoist prices to a high level. From the rap of the gong until the last minute of trading there was an exceptionally good demand for the December delivery. As a result the market developed strength all within the last 15 minutes, when a slight recession occurred on profit-taking. The brisk demand for December caused active covering of May, and this month also showed a good gain, although the advance was not so sharp as in the nearby option. Elements that entered decisively into the situation later in the day were the strength of cash wheat in all markets and reports of damage by Hessian flies to winter wheat in Missouri. The high point for the day on December was reached at $1 14⅝, and on May at $1 12¾. December closed at $1 14¾@1 14⅝. Final quotations on May were at $1 12⅝@1 12⅝. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 45,300 bushels. The world's visible supply, as shown by Bradstreets, increased 7,600,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,328,000 bushels, compared with 1,354,300 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 1,158 cars, against 1,240 cars last week and 851 cars a year ago.

After a weak opening, resulting from easier cables, the corn market rallied on predictions of wet weather for tomorrow and on the upturn in wheat. Decreased primary receipts were an additional bull factor. December opened ¼@⅜c lower to ⅝@¾c lower at 47⅝@47¾c, sold between 47⅛@48⅜c and closed at 48¼c. Local receipts were 131 cars, none of contract grade.

The oats market was influenced almost exclusively by the action of other grains. Sentiment was weak early, but a firmer tone developed later in the day. A good cash demand had a beneficial effect on options trading. December opened ⅜@¼c off, sold ½@⅝c lower at 27¼@28c, sold up to 28⅝@28½c and closed at 28¼c. Local receipts were 224 cars.

PUBLIC SERVICE MAY BE TAXED

COAL LAND DEALS ATTACKED

Municipalities may tax public service corporations as a police measure, but may not use it as subterfuge merely to secure revenue. This is the decision of Judge W. D. Porter of the superior court in an opinion received here yesterday in the case of the borough of Kittanning vs. the Kittanning Consolidated Natural Gas Company. Objection was made to a tax on the pipes of the company, but the Armstrong county court found for the borough and on appeal was taken. Judge Porter says:

"To say that the police power of a city or borough over streets does not extend beneath the surface would be contrary to sound principle and be justified by no decision to which our attention has been called. Except as restricted by the act under which corporations derive their powers, the police power of a borough or city extends to such occupancy and use of the streets, whether upon or beneath the surface, as in its nature requires or justifies supervision at the hands of the municipality in order to safeguard the public in their rightful use of the same streets. Its power to make reasonable police regulations is independent of and not merely incidental to the power to grant or withhold consent to the use of the streets by the corporation."

On the question of the amount collected Judge Porter says the form in which the charge is imposed or the name by which it is designated does not conclusively determine the character of the charge. If in reality an original tax under the guise of a police regulation and imposed for revenue only the municipality must show some express legislation authority to impose it. The courts are not bound to uphold an ordinance adopted ostensibly as a police measure but used as a mere subterfuge to raise revenue.

Covert Waited Too Long.

In dismissing J. H. Covert's appeal in the Wabash avenue (Allegheny) case Judge Porter says: Covert waited until the work was completed, filed no exceptions to the report of the viewers and now attempts to escape any share of the cost of the improvement. The court could find no suggestion of bad faith in the awarding of the contract.

The supreme court heard 14 cases, in all of which W. H. Stoney, J. C. Kirk and E. D. Carter were the appellants and J. S. Waddle, Abram Bowman, A. S. Templeton, A. McCreery Della J. McCreery, Fulton Habbison, Solomon Dunmire, John Dunlap and W. E. Barckley were the appellees. In 1901-02 John McClaughey leased from different persons some 60,000 acres of coal land in Indiana county, which he transferred to the appellants in these cases. The appellees claim that McClaughey exceeded his authority, and the Indiana court sustained this view, the appeals following. Another case from Indiana county, growing out of a coal land option, was that of J. H. Weaver vs. Charles Gilfilth, appellant.

Three cases from Greene county were argued. They were Mary E. Huss, appellant, vs. W. H. Jacobs and others, an action in ejectment over a coal land sale; F. F. Iams vs. A. E. Fax and others, appellant, an action on a foreign attachment; L. C. Titus, appellant, vs. Edwin Bindley and others, an action over coal and mineral rights.

An unusual suit comes from Lawrence county. H. F. Dean slipped on an icy street in New Castle and was injured. He sued the city and recovered $3,000. The city in turn sued the owners, claiming that the ice came from a rain water conductor that did not have a proper outlet on the sidewalk. In the court below it was shown that the city had been notified of the dangerous condition of the street, and it lost again.

The case of Louis Crocraft vs. the Bessemer Limestone Company, appellant, Lawrence county, is an action for permanent damages. The suit of the Citizens' Natural Gas Company for use vs. the Waynesburg Natural Gas Company, Greene county, is a dispute over a balance is settling up a consolidation.

Settled With the Wabash.

In the suit of Sarah Gamble and others against the Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company, a verdict was agreed to by which the plaintiffs are awarded $37,500, $35,000 being for the property and $2,500 to the life tenant.

In the suit of W. J. Howick against Andrew Waenter, an action to recover $890 alleged to be due on a check given by the defendant and on which he stopped payment, an affidavit of defense was filed. Waenter says he gave the check as hand money in the purchase of a hotel, but discovered later that the value of the property was misrepresented.

In the estate of John Reese, deceased, Attorney L. F. Stone filed a petition in orphans court asking to be allowed $1,004.22, alleged to be due him on a balance for professional services.

In the equity suit of the United Presbyterian board of publication against William T. Shannon & Son the defendants have filed answer denying that great quantities of smoke are emitted from their chimney. They say it is 18 to feet in height and is as high as it can be built.

The motion to discharge the preliminary injunction in the suit of Frank A. Howard against the borough of Swissvale and others was dismissed by Judge Shafer yesterday. The defendants set up that the act was exempting a municipal function and not legislative. The court says in part: "However this case may be considered, we are of the opinion that the adoption of a particular system of lighting and the making of a contract to carry it out for a term of years in the future must be considered a legislative act and not one merely ministerial, and the want of publication and recording is therefore fatal to the contract made under it."

Judge Shafer handed down an opinion in the suit of John D. Golmer against Joseph Bienberger, an action to restrain the defendant from building in an alley in Allegheny. The court is of the opinion that the defendant cannot open or maintain an area way in the alley.

Defense Was Not Strong Enough.

In the suit of John Blackadore and others against the American Finance and Audit Company, Judge Shafer made absolute a rule for judgment for want of sufficient affidavit of defense. The action was brought to recover $200 hand money paid on a real estate deal.

A bill in equity was filed by Elizabeth Williams against Caroline deB. Duncan, involving property in Osborne valued at about $6,000. A decree of accounting is asked.

The following wills have been probated: Milo T. Miller, late of Allegheny county, leaves an unestimated estate to members of his family. Joseph Steele, late of Braddock, leaves a house to Jessie Brisco and directs that the residue of a $3,200 estate be divided among his other children. Charles F. Siegwarth, late of Pittsburgh, leaves an unestimated estate to his widow. Anna M. Maugler, late of Allegheny, leaves a $5,200 estate to her husband. Andrew J. Leightler, Jr., late of Baldwin township, leaves a $900 estate to his mother. George T. Bieth, late of Allegheny, leaves a $5,500 estate to his widow.

In the United States district court yesterday the grand jury returned a true bill against James H. Ekas, formerly a clerk in the National bank of Tarentum. Ekas is charged with embezzling $4,300 of the bank's funds and making false entries in the books.

Charged With Naturalization Frauds.

The other bills returned were: Frank Bosco, swearing falsely in an affidavit made under the law relating to the naturalization of aliens and aiding and abetting another to obtain a certificate of citizenship by fraud; Elmer C. Shutt, postal employe, destroying and delaying a letter, opening it and secreting and embezzling it; Pierre Fracchi, having in his possession and passing counterfeit money; Gaetano Gitondi, obtaining certificate of citizenship by fraud; Samuel Williamson, embezzlement of money order funds, and George Davis, tearing down a letter box.

Alfred Sotow was convicted of counterfeiting $1 silver certificates. He was alleged to have made the money at his room in Rebecca street, Wilkinsburg. James F. Loeffler was acquitted of forging a signature to a money order.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed by the Bank of Holland of Holland, N. Y., against A. F. Walther, John J. Burke and C. R. Lanham, partners in the Walther-Burke Construction Company of Pittsburgh. The petitioner declares $1,250 on a note, and alleges that the construction company committed an act in bankruptcy by transferring some of its property while insolvent.

J. Henry Jahn was convicted of a charge of forgery, made by John J. Miller of Allegheny, but recommended to the mercy of the court. Miller alleged Jahn forged a deed, thereby securing property belonging to him and his wife.

John A. Hawkins was convicted of buying scrap iron from minors. The metal was alleged to have been stolen. He was sent to jail for 10 days.

The following executions were issued: C. R. Notman vs. Samuel J. Mehaffey, $33 52; C. J. Berrord vs. Benjamin F. Wells, $23 83; William Knorr vs. Mrs. Mary Koon, $624.

ERIE MINISTER NAMED FOR EPISCOPAL BISHOP

Divorce Resolution of House of Bishops is Sidetracked by Deputies.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—The house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal general convention today nominated the Rev. Logan H. Roots of Arkansas for bishop of Hankow, China; the Rev. Frank S. Spaulding of Erie, Pa., for bishop of Salt Lake, and the Rev. A. W. Knight of Atlanta, Ga., for bishop of Cuba. The nominations will have to be ratified by the house of deputies to become effective.

The divorce issue again came before the convention today. The house of bishops sent a message to the deputies, informing them that the bishops had voted to forbid the remarriage of any divorced persons, but when the matter was laid before the deputies on the question of concurrence the Rev. Drs. Lewis Parks and W. D. Huntington, both of New York, immediately set the parliamentary machinery in motion to defeat or at least sidetrack the bishops' resolution. The matter was referred to the committee on canons. Another resolution was similarly referred.

A joint commission recommended that all dioceses and missionary districts be grouped into seven provinces, each province to have authority to legislate on matters which do not conflict with the general convention. Each province is to elect a primate to preside over it. The report will be acted upon later.

The house of deputies today decided to refer a proposition to elect a negro bishop for the southern states to the next convention.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

A Pleasant, Simple, but Safe and Effectual Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played-out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, this producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of the stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

CITY OF PITTSBURGH DELINQUENT TAX LIENS

Pursuant to an act of general assembly of the state of Pennsylvania, providing when, how, upon what property, and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements, etc., approved June 4, 1901, writs of scire facias having been issued out of the Court of Common Pleas No. 1 of Allegheny county, at the instance of the City of Pittsburgh, in the following cases of delinquent taxes, requiring the defendants named therein to file affidavits of defense, or, in default, judgment to be entered. Now, notice is hereby given to the defendants hereinafter named, that unless affidavits of defense be filed to the said claims in the prothonotary's office of Allegheny county within fifteen (15) days after October 19th, 1904, judgments may be entered and the property described in the liens sold to recover the amount of the said claim.

It is just a common cold, people say, there's no danger in that. Admitting their statement, then there are uncommon colds, colds which are dangerous; for many a fatal sickness begins with a cold. If we could tell the common cold from the uncommon we could feel quite safe. But we can't. The uncommon variety is rarely recognized until it has fastened its hold on the lungs, and there are symptoms of consumption.

At the first symptoms the careful person will heed the warning by taking a mild laxative; some vegetable pill that will not disturb the system or cause griping. About the best is "Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets." If the cold starts with a cough, and it persists then some local treatment for this condition should be taken. A well known alterative extract, which has been highly recommended by thousands of users, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic compound is composed of an extract of roots and herbs and has a soothing effect upon the mucous membrane, allays the irritation and at the same time works in the proper and reasonable way, at the seat of the trouble—the stagnated or poisoned blood.

Dr. Pierce's 1000-page illustrated book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. For 31 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. 1008 pages. It was formerly sold for $1.50 per copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
